$17,949 In ADC Arrears Brings Year In Jail

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A man owing what the highest arranger in Berrien court history—$17,949—was sentenced this week to the maximum jail sentence he could receive. Harold J. Bundy, of M-51, Dowagiac, was one of four dads sentenced to jail for falling behind in their child support payments. He got one year in jail for the $17,949 arrearage for four children on ADC.

Byrns said he was not sure of the highest arrearage, according to Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, but Bundy's put him in "the top five."

Since the original support order was made in March, 1968, Bundy has made only 10 payments. Pastrick said, with the last coming in January, 1971. Bundy last June was sentenced to 10 months in jail by Judge William S. White, but was released in December when he found employment. Pastrick noted even though Bundy found work, he still did not pay any support. In sentencing Bundy to the year's jail time, Byrns also revoked Bundy's probation, on which White had placed him.

Held in contempt of court and sentenced to jail by White, Pastrick reported, were:

James Bradley, of 1821 East Britain avenue, Benton township, 90 days in jail for $4,186 arrears for two children on ADC. He was also placed on two years probation and ordered to execute a wage assignment of $34 weekly support plus $6 weekly towards the arrearage.

Gerald Kozlowski, of Grand Rapids, 30 days in jail for $540 arrears for one ADC child. He was placed on one year probation and told to execute a wage assignment of $10 weekly support and $10 each week towards the arrearage. Pastrick said Kozlowski has made one payment in one year.

Alonso Atkins, of 681 East Vineyard, Benton Harbor, received concurrent 10-day jail sentences and two years probation for $240 arrears for one child on ADC in one case, and $1,694 arrears for another ADC child in a separate case. He was also told to sign a wage assignment of $10 weekly support and $2 weekly towards the arrearage on the first case, and $14 weekly support plus $5 each week on the arrearage in the latter case.

Quit Or Be Fired, City Manager Told At South Haven!

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Four members of the South Haven city council, including Mayor Richard Lewis, have called on City Manager Albert Pierce to resign or be fired.

Pierce was delivered the written ultimatum yesterday afternoon by Mayor Lewis on behalf of himself and aldermen Ronald Kozlik, Joseph Seiler and Robert Warren.

The four signatures represent a majority of the council. Lewis said he offered the council's other three aldermen, Norvan Books, Matthew Goerg and Wilbur Ingham, an opportunity to sign the letter, but they declined.

The letter reportedly accuses the controversial Pierce of playing politics with the aldermen and public.

Pierce is charged with working councilmen against each other and abusing his position.

Pierce has been given until next Monday night's council meeting to submit his resignation, Lewis indicated yesterday that he and the aldermen supporting the action stand ready to fire Pierce should he refuse to resign.

"We had hoped to be able to have a resignation with dignity, but someone started spreading rumors about our decision making it impossible for us to wait with an announcement for the public next Monday," said Lewis.

The mayor refused to discuss specific details as to why Pierce was being ousted, saying they were contained in the letter and it was up to Pierce to decide if he wanted the public to know.

Pierce was not available for comment last night or today.

If Pierce decides to resign he would remain on the city payroll until May 31, according to Lewis.

Pierce was the key issue in the city's general election last fall as a coalition of candidates including former mayor Elizabeth Davis formed by improving the administration of the city.

Only one of the coalition candidates was elected and he, second ward alderman Rex Lineberry, resigned last month, saying he was not able to work with Pierce.

Lewis maintained a low profile during the campaign on the administration issue, saying he would not deal in personalities.

Lewis was also mayor back in the late 60s and early 70s when Pierce first became city manager. During that term the question of Pierce's employment came before council and it was decided by a 4-3 vote in executive session to keep him on.

Two of the aldermen favoring Pierce's ouster have been on the council a short time. Kozlik assumed office in January after defeating Mrs. Davis last November while Seiler was appointed to fill Lineberry's term last month. Warren is in his fifth year as an alderman with Pierce as manager.

The teller, Anne Marie Julianella, 23, of Mount Clemens, reported she was handed a note demanding money and warning of a bomb in the bank. She handed over some money but also tripped an alarm. A police chase followed, the money was dumped out of the window of a fleeing car with most of the $1,800 lost recovered, and police took the alleged thief into custody.

Proxmire Boosted Wife's Tour Firm With Capitol Rooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, an unrelenting critic of government waste and improprieties, boosted his wife's tour business by reserving congressional reception rooms for her customers.

Proxmire reserved rooms for her tours "about 30 times over the past five years," but abandoned the practice six months ago following complaints from a rival tour guide, the senator's administrative assistant, Howard Shuman, said Wednesday.

Ellen Proxmire has run her private "Washington Whirl-Around" tour business since 1967. She estimated last year that her group shows Washington's sights to 5,000 tourists a year at prices ranging from $8 to $22 per person a day.

Mrs. Proxmire called the matter "a tempest in a teapot." She said Wednesday she did not feel she received special advantages. A partner, Barbara Boggs, said she has also reserved rooms on Capitol Hill through her mother-in-law, Rep. Lindy Boggs, D-La.

Proxmire, a Democrat from Wisconsin, was unavailable for comment.

Proxmire presents monthly "Golden Fleece" awards for what he deems "the biggest, most ridiculous or most ironic example of government spending or waste." Recently he has helped disclose lists of Pentagon officials who were entertained by defense contractors.

Shuman denied there was any impropriety in Proxmire's reserving rooms for his wife's tour groups.

Mrs. Proxmire said, "Those rooms are available to any association that requests them. It's done all the time."

But a rival tour guide complained to Senate and House officials that she is at a disadvantage in running her business.

Candis O. Ray charged that other tour guides have trouble getting congressional rooms.

"The rest of us may as well go out of business. I can't compete with all that congressional glitter. I don't have a chance with a senator's wife," she said in an interview Wednesday.

Only congressmen can reserve the reception rooms. Users are not charged for the room but they must purchase food or drink from the congressional restaurants.

Mrs. Proxmire said Mrs. Ray has a "vendetta" against her and hopes "that I will fold my professional tent and steal away."

Joan Mondale, wife of Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota, has also conducted tours for "Washington Whirl-Around."

Last March 2, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, reserved a room for a luncheon run by "Washington Whirl-Around" at which his wife, Bethune, was the featured speaker. The tour group included 200 painting and decorating contractors.

Another Washington tour guide, Charlotte Williams of Sunshine International, said her firm obtained a house visit last Dec. 8.

"It's possible to get the use of a room in one of the buildings on Capitol Hill if you get hold of the congressman in whose district the trade organization is located," she said.

The Senate Rules Committee is investigating Mrs. Ray's complaint, which she lodged originally with the Senate Ethics Committee. She also wrote the House speaker and the House Administration Committee.

Soccer Fan Is Beheaded

ST. ETIENNE, France (AP) — A crowd of wildly jubilant fans mobbed a plane bringing their soccer team home early today, and a propeller cut off the head of Joseph Bernard, 32-year-old father of three.

The St. Etienne team was returning from Holland after qualifying for the finals of the European Cup. It is the first time in 17 years a French team has made the finals.

There was much drinking as the crowd waited for the arrival of the team. Tables, chairs and windows in the terminal were broken, and carpets were torn.

When the Fokker Friendship plane landed, the crowd poured onto the runway and surged around the plane.

"We heard a bump," said Roger Rocher, the president of the soccer club. "Everyone understood there had been an accident. We pulled the curtains closed, and the players were terribly sad."

"Our return should have been a very beautiful occasion, and this accident spoiled it."

Test For Swine Flu In Berrien Death

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Physicians at Berrien General hospital are conducting tests to determine if "swine flu" contributed to the death of a Berrien Springs woman, according to a spokesman at Southwestern Medical clinic at Berrien General hospital.

Mrs. Paul (Majorie A.) Schmidt, 38, of Route 1, Hinchman road, Berrien Springs, died Monday in Berrien General hospital of what the spokesman described as "a severe, overwhelming pneumonia."

The spokesman said physicians are currently conducting the tests to determine if swine flu could be the cause of the pneumonia.

There have been no reported cases of swine flu in southwestern Michigan, according to Joan Eberly, director of nurses at the Berrien County health department. Mrs. Eberly said it would take about two weeks to complete tests to determine if swine flu contributed to the death of Mrs. Schmidt.

Health authorities from across the nation have expressed fear that the swine flu could reach the same epidemic proportions it did when the influenza strain caused the death of thousands shortly after World War I. President Ford has proposed a campaign to immunize every American against the swine flu.

Tardy Tax Filers Can Get Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the millions of Americans who may be sweating to meet tonight's midnight deadline to file their tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service has a gift: more time.

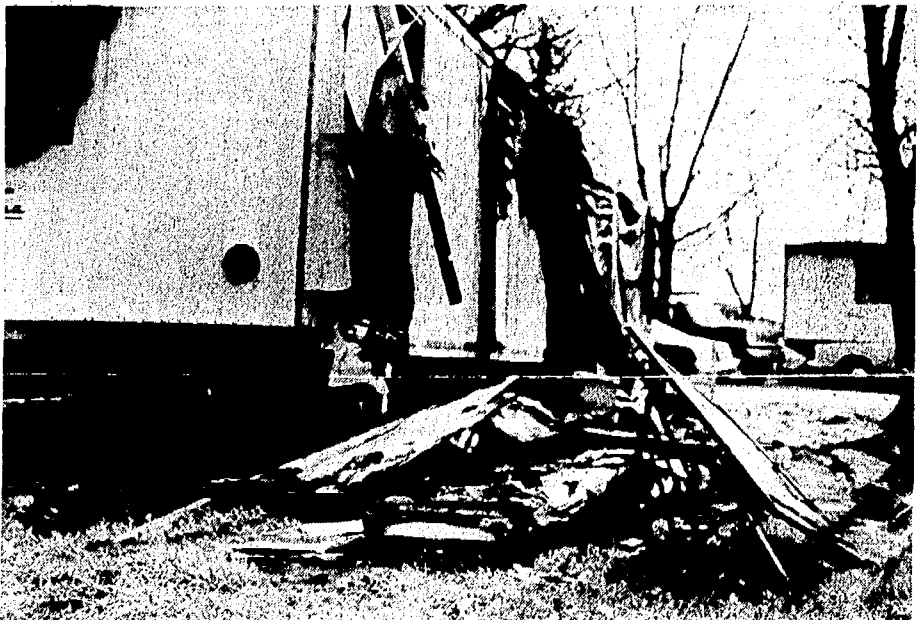

Taxpayers are entitled to an automatic two-month filing extension if they fill out Form 4868 and mail it before midnight with payment in full for the estimated amount of taxes due. The complete paperwork on Form 1040 can wait until June 15.

And if the IRS owes you a refund, you can ignore tonight's deadline altogether. There is no penalty for late filers who do not owe money. The IRS does not even require you to file Form 4868.

But if you make a mistake and end up owing money, the tax collectors add 7 per cent interest to your bill. If you are off by more than 10 per cent, there is also a late-payment penalty of 5 per cent a month.

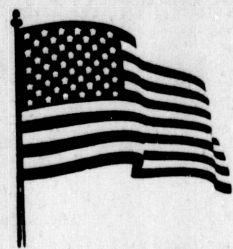

The IRS said Wednesday returns were running behind last year's rate, when taxpayers had government rebate checks of up to $200 each to look forward to.

Through last Friday, the IRS had received 39.4 million of the $6.4 million returns it expects this year. That means more than 27 million taxpayers, or 31.3 per cent, were going down to the wire. At the same time last year, all but 23.7 per cent of returns had been filed.

BABY DIES IN FIRE: Sammy V. Rodriguez, three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo C. Rodriguez, died when fire flashed through family's trailer home in Douglas Trailer park at Douglas around noon yesterday. Firemen had to cut hole in rear of trailer to get to room where baby was in crib. Charred remains of crib and other articles are seen in foreground. Mrs. Evelyn Rodriguez, baby's mother, said she left baby alone in trailer to get basket of clothes from park's laundry room about 200 feet away when fire erupted. Sgt. William Giles of Douglas police said Mrs. Rodriguez estimated she was away from trailer three to four minutes. Firemen said fire may have started in kitchen area, but no cause was determined. Older brother was at school when fire broke out and father was at work. (Tom Renner photo)

AIP Disavows Candidate For Cass Sheriff

By LARRY MACINTYRE
Staff Writer

CASSOPOLIS — The state chairman of the American Independent party has said in a letter to the Cass county clerk that "individuals of questionable character" are not to be on the November election ballot under the party's label.

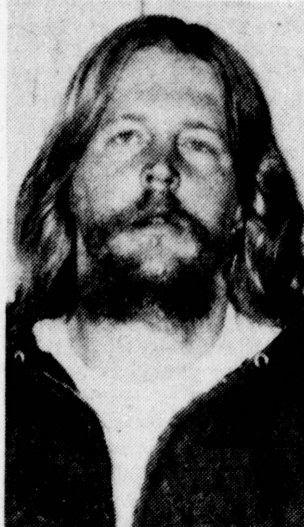

Mrs. Josephine Chapman of Belleville, Mich., in a letter to Cass County Clerk Kenneth Poe, said there is no recognized county organization of the American Independent party of Michigan in Cass county.

She mentioned no names in her letter to Poe, but said in a telephone conversation with the Herald-Palladium today that her letter means that at the present time no one in the county is authorized by the party's state committee to use the American Independent party label.

She said she sent her letter to Poe after reading a Herald-Palladium story reporting that Terry LeMunyon of Cassopolis intends to run for sheriff as an AIP candidate.

LeMunyon, 27, is under a federal indictment for the alleged illegal manufacturing of mash and has been arraigned on state felony and misdemeanor charges alleging possession of marijuana.

He announced his candidacy for sheriff under the AIP party earlier this month. A LeMunyon friend, Arthur Myers, 28, rural Cassopolis, has also announced he is an AIP candidate for county commissioner from the county's seventh district.

Poe this morning said that he can only put on the November ballot those candidates who have been certified by the respective party's state central committee.

Mrs. Chapman, in her telephone conversation, said that Terry LeMunyon is not recognized by the party's state central committee as an AIP candidate.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Attracting More Drones And Fewer Producers

Michigan's Legislature seems hell-bent on driving out productive citizens and replacing them with drones.

At least, that's the way the lawmakers are spending the heavy tax revenues collected from the producers who haven't already fled.

It takes just two areas of spending to illustrate how dangerous the Legislature's priorities are to Michigan's future.

Michigan now ranks 16th from the bottom of the 50 states in the percentage of tax revenue allocated to higher education, both in percentage of its collected tax revenue and in its appropriations per student.

Michigan's welfare recipients, however, are right at the top of the heap when it comes to cash payouts. The exact position varies; at least one local official says the ADC pay is highest in all 50 states; some state officials say it's only second or third highest.

For purposes of comparison, Michigan ranks about seventh when it comes to tax collecting.

Whether first, second or third highest, Michigan's generous welfare benefits are bringing a scourge of bastardy and dole to the state.

Late last month, this newspaper reported Department of Health figures that paint the picture. The number of illegitimate births in Benton Harbor rose from 260 in 1971 to 407 in 1974—a three-year jump of 56.5 per cent.

Almost 54 per cent of the illegitimate children born in Benton Harbor were at least the second child born to their mother.

And get this—only 44 per cent of the mothers giving birth to illegitimate children in Benton Harbor were natives of Michigan!

Does anyone doubt that being No. 1 in welfare handouts makes a community No. 1 in welfare residents?

The Benton Harbor picture is being replayed in many other "inner cities" throughout the state, as well as some rural areas. Benton Harbor figures are used because they're right to the point and available.

Wherever the collection of ADC families with concomitant illegitimacy occurs, there is trouble. Crime goes up; school accomplishment goes down.

Not only do welfare costs soar, but so do the costs for police protection, public health, ordinance enforcement and special education.

As late as 1966-67, according to the State Colleges and Universities Presidents' Council, "Michigan ranked seventh in the nation in the amount of state appropriations per resident allotted higher education."

"This year, Michigan ranks 26th among the 50 states—about one dollar above the national average."

Does anyone doubt that the number of academic achievers produced in and attracted to the state will be diminished?

And does anyone contend that with more drones and fewer achievers the state will be a better place?

Four Months Of Work For The Government

If it seems the tax burden gets a little heavier each year, perhaps it is. Tax Foundation, a research organization specializing in tax matters, figures the average taxpayer this year will have to work until May 1 just to pay his local, state and federal tax bills.

It is the foundation's way of demonstrating the other side to the "benefits" government bestows upon its subjects. Last year the foundation figured the cutoff date when the taxpayer stops working for government and begins for himself was April 30.

So it is true that for the average taxpayer, at least, the burden has become heavier in the last year. Because federal taxes were reduced slightly within the last year, the blame for an increasing burden now falls on local and state taxing bodies.

Not figured in the foundation's computations is that not-so-hidden tax—inflation—which may not be spelled out in any tax tables but takes its slice of the pie just the same. Taxpayers this year would settle for bringing the tax of inflation under control. It is the one tax which depletes earnings without creating a thing.

End Of The Line For U.S. Convertibles

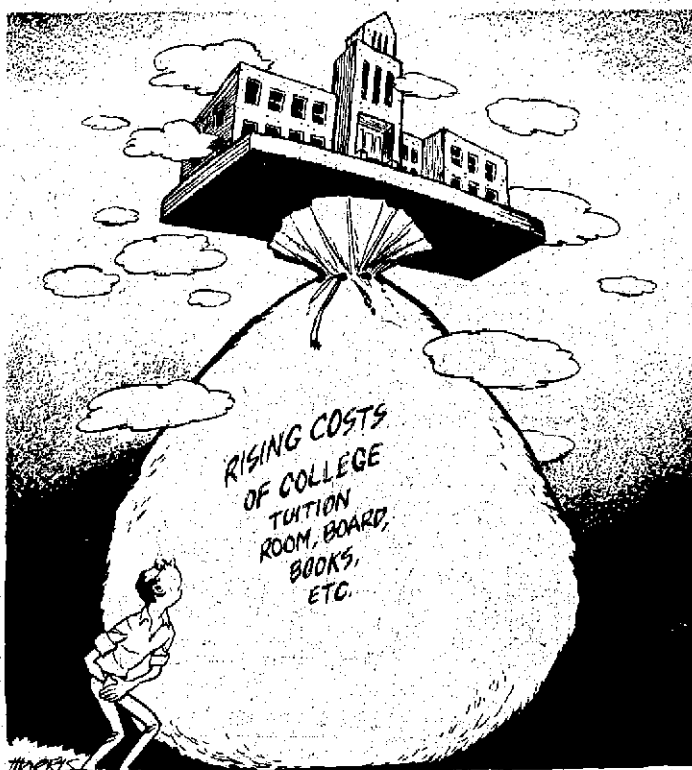

The American convertible car, which had been in failing health recently, will expire later this month. It was born before the turn of the century, reached maturity in the 1920s and, before its decline in the 1960s, enjoyed wide popularity throughout this country and abroad.

The end was foreshadowed last year when ABS Industries of Ashland, Ohio, decided to stop manufacture of automobile convertible top mechanisms. Since ABS — once known as the Ashland Bow Socket Co. — was the last remaining manufacturer of the gadgets that allow convertible tops to move up and down, the decision to halt production all but forced General Motors to stop making the last American convertible — a Cadillac Eldorado model.

GM announced last fall that the final 1976 Eldorado convertible will roll off the assembly line in Detroit sometime this month. Sagging sales over the last 15 years, the introduction of air conditioning on a widespread basis and other factors caused American Motors to end convertible production in 1968. Chrysler in 1971, Ford in 1973 and GM — on all cars other than Cadillac — last year.

GM will make 14,000 1976 model Cadillac convertibles, an increase of 5,000 over the number produced in 1975. The final 200 cars will be painted red, white and blue to commemorate the nation's 200th birthday. The average retail price for the last American-made convertibles is around $12,300, which some purchasers may consider high. But buyers have been crowding Cadillac showrooms across the country since GM ran an advertisement last fall announcing the demise of the American-built convertible. As a result, all 14,000 cars were snapped up by February. The only thing left for convertible seekers is a used car or a foreign or custom-built one.

Weapons Grow Obsolete Quickly

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The pace of scientific discovery is so great today in the Soviet Union and United States that a goodly share of the megabuck weapons now on the drawing boards here and in Moscow will be obsolete or well on the way to it before they're in the hands of troops in useful numbers.

Witness the costly antiballistic missile systems developed by both countries. And now being abandoned. The new families of Russian weapons, used by the Egyptians in the most recent Arab-Israeli battles, raised questions as to the survivability of the present generation of tanks and some types of planes.

Because even the simplest of the new weapons systems are now so costly — running in the multibillions each — national defense inevitably will be an increasing burden on the economies of both countries. Increasingly costly weapons systems will have to be replaced with increasing frequency to keep parity or rough equivalence, or whatever term seems useful in describing approximate equality between the United States and the USSR.

This will be true whether the strategic arms limitation talks are successful or not.

For there is no way SALT or any other treaty can stop scientific advance. Gains in some lines can be slowed by bans — say on open or concealed testing. But these restrictions will be compensated for by more intensive work in areas where no effective ban exists. And since the avenues open to science are almost infinite, treaty makers can not touch all bases or close all doors effectively.

New breakthroughs in the understanding of underwater characteristics and the promise of eventual vastly improved ability for underwater surveillance give warning that the virtual invulnerability to detection now enjoyed by Polaris and the upcoming Trident submarines and their Russian counterparts will most certainly be broken.

Parallel breakthroughs in intercontinental missile accuracy threaten the survivability of static U.S. Minutemen and similar Soviet systems, regardless of how much effort is expended in hardening targets.

If present research is successful, long-range, drones programmed to recognize certain typical ship characteristics and to attack on sight without human intervention, may eventually destroy the effectiveness of some major types of surface naval task forces.

Pentagon studies are already under way on missiles which will fire automatically without human intervention upon sensing or "seeing" specific targets they have been programmed to recognize. The targets could be incoming missiles, tanks or airplanes, or ships, troop concentrations or whatever proves feasible to build into the missile system. Drones which could accommodate such super smart missiles are the subject of a great deal of work here, and presumably in the Soviet Union.

As is well known, there is hope, and some promise, that lasers can be made effective in space for the transmission of power and as weapons. And studies are under way on the use of lasers for launching military payloads into space.

Now none of these revolutions will come overnight. But in the Soviet Union and here, these or comparable advances are coming much more quickly than planners expected.

Whichever nation, the Soviet Union or the United States, discovers a way to effectively shorten the time between discovery of a revolutionary new weapon and its introduction into military service, and whichever times the building of new weapons with least cost to civilian economic development will have an advantage impossible to measure.

Why Capital Punishment?

The Supreme Court has now turned again to the subject of capital punishment, and there are a number of odd features about the way the whole matter is being handled.

For one thing, based on their past performance, every chance appears to exist that eight of the Justices will divide evenly on the question. That would leave the tie-breaking vote in the hands of the newest Justice, John Paul Stevens.

This is surely a strange way for a supposedly "self governing" people to determine an important question. Once again, a profound matter of society policy will be left to judicial opinion or even whim rather than, submitted to the "deliberate sense" of the people operating through their elected representatives. It may all depend on what Justice Stevens thinks the 17th century phrase "cruel and unusual punishment" actually means.

Another important point has gone widely unnoticed. Like most contemporary advocates of capital punishment, Solicitor General Robert Bork — a brilliant man — has depended in his arguments before the Court on the "deterrence" claim. Execution may deter other murders.

But deterrence, it ought to be noticed, has nothing to do with justice. Justice has to do with whether the criminal deserves the punishment in question. Deterrence tends to break the nexus between crime and punishment, a nexus that depends upon the idea of "just deserts."

After all, suppose a man were actually innocent but was widely believed to have committed a murder. After being convicted by a jury, he is then hanged. That would have just as much deterrent effect as hanging a man who actually had committed the crime. But it would clearly be unjust.

If you ignore the idea of justice, you could deter crime through horrible torture of criminals. You could wipe out entire categories of social types, arguing that crime would be statistically reduced. The idea of justice is the only principled barrier to that kind of thing: the actually innocent do not "deserve" to be punished.

The late C.S. Lewis made these points beautifully in his essay, "The Humanitarian Theory of Punishment," contained in his collection "God in the Dock: Essays on Theology and Ethics."

"I urge a return to the traditional or Retributive theory not solely, nor even primarily, in the interests of society, but in the interest of the criminal."

"According to Humanitarian Theory, to punish a man because he deserves it, and as much as he deserves, is mere revenge, and, therefore, barbarous and immoral. It is maintained that the only legitimate motives for punishing are the desire to deter others by example or to mend the criminal... My contention is that this doctrine, merciful though it appears, really means that each of us, from the moment he breaks the law, is deprived of the rights of a human being."

"The reason is this: The Humanitarian theory removes from punishment the concept of Desert. But the concept of Desert is the only connecting link between punishment and justice... When we cease to consider what the criminal deserves and consider only what will cure him or deter others, we have tacitly removed him from the sphere of justice altogether; instead of a person, a subject of rights, we now have a mere object, a patient, a 'case.'"

But I've also read "Heller Skeller." The atmosphere of unrelieved evil among the Mansonites is so thick you can cut it.

Some crimes clearly deserve execution. It is the just punishment.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Attracting More Drones And Fewer Producers

Michigan's Legislature seems hell-bent on driving out productive citizens and replacing them with drones.

At least, that's the way the lawmakers are spending the heavy tax revenues collected from the producers who haven't already fled.

It takes just two areas of spending to illustrate how dangerous the Legislature's priorities are to Michigan's future.

Michigan now ranks 16th from the bottom of the 50 states in the percentage of tax revenue allocated to higher education, both in percentage of its collected tax revenue and in its appropriations per student.

Michigan's welfare recipients, however, are right at the top of the heap when it comes to cash payouts. The exact position varies: at least one local official says the ADC pay is highest in all 50 states; some state officials say it's only second or third highest.

For purposes of comparison, Michigan ranks about seventh when it comes to tax collecting.

Whether first, second or third highest, Michigan's generous welfare benefits are bringing a scourge of bastardy and dole to the state.

Late last month, this newspaper reported Department of Health figures that paint the picture. The number of illegitimate births in Benton Harbor rose from 260 in 1971 to 407 in 1974—a three-year jump of 56.5 per cent.

Almost 54 per cent of the illegitimate children born in Benton Harbor were at least the second child born to their mother.

And get this—only 44 per cent of the mothers giving birth to illegitimate children in Benton Harbor were natives of Michigan!

Does anyone doubt that being No. 1 in welfare handouts makes a community No. 1 in welfare residents?

The Benton Harbor picture is being replayed in many other "inner cities" throughout the state, as well as some rural areas. Benton Harbor figures are used because they're right to the point and available.

Wherever the collection of ADC families with concomitant illegitimacy occurs, there is trouble. Crime goes up; school accomplishment goes down.

Not only do welfare costs soar, but so do the costs for police protection, public health, ordinance enforcement and special education.

As late as 1966-67, according to the State Colleges and Universities Presidents' Council, "Michigan ranked seventh in the nation in the amount of state appropriations per resident allotted higher education."

"This year, Michigan ranks 26th among the 50 states—about one dollar above the national average."

Does anyone doubt that the number of academic achievers produced in and attracted to the state will be diminished?

And does anyone contend that with more drones and fewer achievers the state will be a better place?

August Brogno, general manager of the St. Joseph Division of Whirlpool Corporation, said City Manager James Peoples neglected to mention the crime rate when Peoples said the city has many more policemen than others of comparable size.

Williamson said Benton Harbor has more crime than all the 15 other cities in Benton Harbor's Michigan Municipal League category.

Joseph, and Albert (Jay) Carter, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Carter, 409 North Mechanic road, Berrien Springs.

The scholarships are presented to sons and daughters of St. Joseph Division employees on the basis of scholastic record and leadership abilities. Scholarship winners were awarded $5,000 for the first time this year. Prior to this year the award was $4,000. The $5,000 awards are at the rate of $1,250 annually for four years of college.

Also new to the scholarship program this year is two additional $500 scholarship awards for the two runners-up to the two major awards. Named runnersup were Cindy Weber, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weber, Route 4, Benton Harbor, and Joseph Krejci, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krejci, 1842 West John Beers road, Stevensville.

The two $5,000 scholarship winners this year bring the total number of grants presented by the St. Joseph Division to 36 since the Whirlpool Foundation began the program in 1952. The scholarships provide $1,250 for each year of a consecutive four-year college degree program.

Miss Noah, a senior at St. Joseph high school, has a grade point average of 3.96 and ranks first in her class of 361. She is president of the National Honor Society, secretary of the student council, and plans to study environmental engineering at the University of Michigan. Her father is employed as supervisor of process engineering.

A senior at Berrien Springs high school, Carter attained a grade point average of 3.976 and ranks first in his class of 106. He was president of his junior class, Der Deutsch Verein, and the Science and Math club. He plans to study pharmacology at the University of Michigan. His father is employed as a production foreman. Miss Weber, plans to study chemistry at Michigan State university. She attained a grade point average of 3.88 and ranks first in her class of 97 at Watervliet high school. Her father is a welder heat treat operator at Whirlpool.

Krejci has a grade point average of 3.77 at Lakeshore high school and ranks fifth in his class of 226. He plans to study engineering or business at the University of Michigan. His father is employed as vendor coordinator at Whirlpool.

Now The Meaning Is Clear

A typographical garble in the last paragraph of an Associated Press story on cities using federal funds to hire back laid-off workers made the meaning unclear. The story was on page 12 in yesterday's Herald-Palladium. The correct text is: "The new rules limit the number of laid-off city workers who can be rehired to whatever percentage they account for in the total unemployed population of a particular city."

St. Joe Bike License Sale Set

The St. Joseph police department will sell bicycle licenses to students at four elementary schools next week. Police representatives will be present at Washington school on Tuesday at 9 a.m., at Trinity Lutheran Wednesday at 9 a.m., at Jefferson school Thursday at 9 a.m. and at Lincoln school Thursday at 1 p.m. They will also sell licenses to Lincoln kindergarten students Friday at 9 a.m. Each school will send home forms with students the day before the licenses are to be sold. The forms should be filled out and returned with the $1 license fee.

Shepherd: I Remain A Clean Slater

Benton Harbor City Commissioner Charles Shepherd has issued a statement denying what he says is a rumor that he has joined the recall committee. Shepherd says he is still a member of the "Clean Slate" headed by Mayor Charles F. Joseph. Shepherd, Joseph and three other city commissioners are up for a recall election May 18. The election was scheduled after the recall committee, headed by Maurice Bishop, filed petitions.

Text of Shepherd's statement to the "Citizens of Benton Harbor":

I am commissioner of the city of Benton Harbor, elected by the people of the second ward to represent them. I am not a person who has to be in the drivers seat or else I will take my little red wagon and go home, like at least one of the members of the recall committee.

Since I have been a sworn member of the Benton Harbor commission I have missed one commission meeting, 4-12-76, and the very next day rumor began in the community that I had joined the recall committee. So before the rumor spreads too far I would like to take this opportunity to reaffirm my position as a member of the Clean Slate.

The Clean Slate ran together as a team. The Clean Slate won the election as a team. The Clean Slate put together a platform of thirteen points as a team, and one of those points was to clean up city government, and that is exactly what I am going to do as a member of the Clean Slate.

Every thing that I have voted for or against, was a step in that direction. Working for the city of Benton Harbor is like working for any firm or factory, either you perform or they get someone else who will.

As for Maurice Bishop's anger when I offered the motion on 12-29-75 to not to renew the contract of former city manager Charles Morrison, it has been a mystery to me. Seeing that Charles Morrison was a witness against Maurice Bishop when he was charged for assaulting fire chief Gaidle.

I was hoodwinked by Bishop in 1971 in believing that he was for justice when the riot was at Benton Harbor High School. After Maurice Bishop was arrested and sentenced for a charge stemming from another riot in 1968 of resisting arrest, the citizens of Benton Harbor and Benton Township put their nickels, dimes, quarters and dollars together and paid his fine of over $500.00. How do I know? I signed the check, after which Maurice Bishop faded into the background to be seen no more.

So I ask Mr. and Mrs. Citizen to check the record of those members of the recall committee against those of the members of the Clean Slate. Mayor Joseph for example who has been criticized for being behind in his bills, when he should have been praised because any man who has been exposed to the people that he has through the county and still face the possibility of suit because of debts has to be honest.

I myself, who don't own any property or business other than the home that my family and I have lived in since 1973, have paid between $2,500.00 and $3,000.00 in taxes then someone like Maurice Bishop who has eight pieces of income property, a pest control business, stands before the city commission and tells them that he pays more taxes a year than all of us put together and for the same period of time that I have paid nearly $3,000.00 in taxes he is over $6,000.00 in the rear should indicate how much truth is in

BH Police-Fire Layoffs Stalled A Couple Weeks

Layoffs of 25 Benton Harbor policemen and firemen have been delayed for at least two weeks to conform with proper layoff procedure, City Manager James Peebles Jr. announced today. Peebles said new layoff notices were prepared yesterday and should have been sent out last night to 14 patrolmen and 11 firefighters who are being laid off because of budget cuts.

Under provisions of the city's contract with both policemen and firemen, two-week notice must be given to all employees who are to be laid off, Peebles said.

Peebles explained that layoff notices originally were sent to seven patrolmen and four firefighters who are regular city employees and paid with city funds, but not to seven policemen and seven firemen who are paid with federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds.

According to contracts with both the policemen and firemen, he said, city-paid employees can not be laid off before CETA-paid employees, who have less seniority.

Peebles said layoff notices were not sent to CETA-paid patrolmen and firemen earlier because he had intended to reclassify them into other city jobs outside the police and fire departments instead of laying them off.

He said this procedure conforms to the Department of Labor's Federal Register and was approved unofficially by a regional Department of Labor representative in Chicago but was rejected April 6 by the Berrien county CETA board's public service employment subcommittee.

"I still may go back and appeal that decision to the regional Department of Labor office," Peebles said. "According to the Federal Register, it appears these employees can be reclassified."

Peebles said he had not yet seen a grievance that has been filed by the Benton Harbor Patrolmen's association, according to Det. Darryl Williamson, president of the association.

Williamson said the three-point grievance contended:

1. Two-week notice of layoffs was not properly given.

2. The city was not adhering to contract layoff procedures in laying off city-paid patrolmen before CETA-paid patrolmen.

3. The city can lay off employees only because of lack of work or lack of money and that this was not demonstrated.

Under civil service procedure, the grievance is filed with the captain, then goes to the chief of police, city personnel office and finally to the city manager, Williamson said.

Chief of Police Andrew Rodez said he had seen the grievance and passed it on to the personnel office without action on his part because the question of layoffs for budgetary reasons was outside his responsibility.

NEWEST ADDITION TO MEDICAL TEAM

Local Man Is Physician Assistant

By ARLYS DERRICK

Women's Editor

And

MARYANNE BUTT

Staff Writer

Sometimes Wayne Augustyniak's patients forget and call him doctor.

It's understandable that they forget because Augustyniak who is a physician assistant, makes rounds at hospitals, uses specialized diagnostic procedures, sees patients at the clinic where he works, and even makes house calls for routine medical tasks — all under a doctor's supervision.

Dr. R.T. Costello, urologist at Cedarwood medical center in St. Joseph, is his supervising physician.

The physician assistant (PA) is the newest addition to primary (general) health care in Michigan.

According to Mary E. Hawthorne, PhD, program director for Western Michigan University, a 1975 survey conducted by the Governor's Advisory Commission on physician assistants, revealed that there were 60 PAs employed in the state with 52 working with doctors of medicine (MDs) and eight with doctors of osteopathy (DOs).

Annually an average of about 22 persons are being graduated from 18 baccalaureate degree programs geographically dispersed throughout the United States and approved by the American Medical Association.

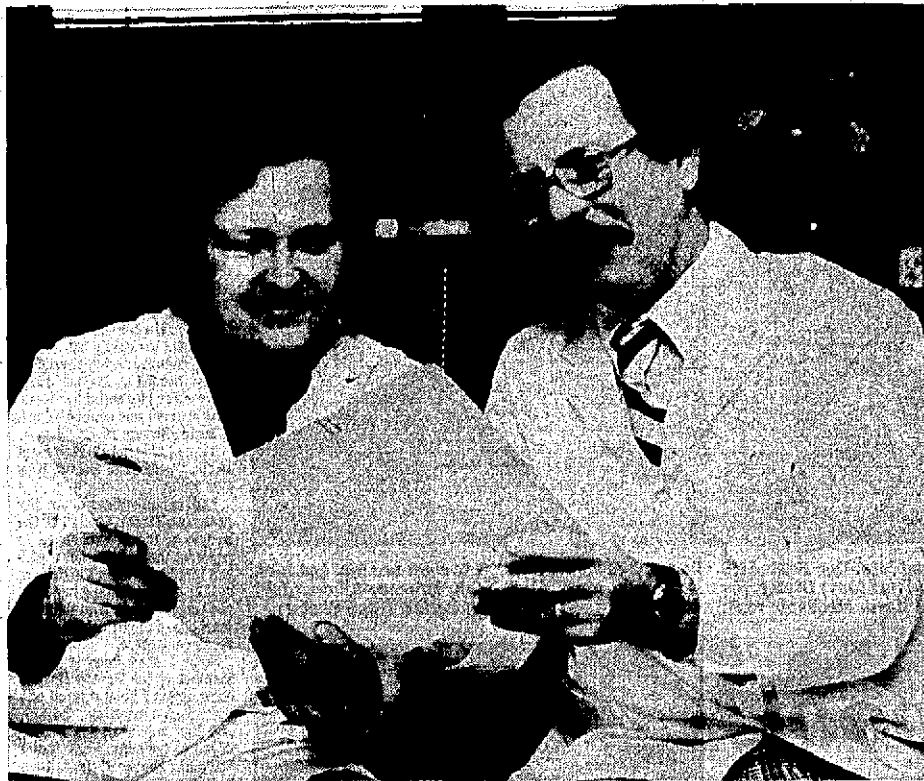

By law, they cannot practice independently. The PA job is designed to free doctors from routine, time-consuming but necessary medical tasks such as examinations, so they can concentrate on patients' problems requiring their specific skills.

Augustyniak, who is the first and, so far, the only practicing PA in the twin cities, received his bachelor's degree in medical science at Western in its relatively new program.

Mercy and Memorial hospitals in the twin cities where Augustyniak practices, are only now in the process of working out definitions and forming criteria for the physician assistant.

Augustyniak says that before applying to the 24-month program at WMU, an applicant must have a minimum of one year (2,000 hours) of experience in health care.

A second prerequisite is completion of a minimum of 60 hours of college credit (or the equivalent), which includes meeting WMU's general studies requirements. The university also demonstrates interest and capability in basic science courses, particularly biology and chemistry.

Augustyniak more than meets these qualifications. He is a graduate of Bloomington high school and attended Western Michigan for one year in general studies. He later became a licensed practical nurse and then a registered nurse, receiving his training for both at Lake Michigan college.

From 1966 to 1969 he worked as an orderly at South Haven Community hospital. He was an LPN and a graduate nurse at Memorial hospital in St. Joseph, from 1969 to 1973, and from 1973 to 1974, was employed as a registered nurse at the South Haven hospital.

He graduated from the physician assistant program at WMU in August, 1975, and has been at Cedarwood since September. He has also passed the certification exam for PAs.

Augustyniak says he feels persons in the medical profession in the area have accepted him well. He says it is easier because he had worked with many of them in the past — had he started in a strange community it might have been different.

As for as any problems concerning the PA, Augustyniak says there "none (that can't be handled)."

He says he likes all of his duties as a PA — the object is to keep busy and he's doing that. The more exposure he has in different areas of medicine, he feels, the more he learns. His favorite aspects of the job are surgery and patient contact.

Augustyniak and his wife, Linda, live in Ingar Shores. They have two sons.

Dr. Costello says "Wayne is an extension of me."

He points out that physician assistants who have had more extensive medical training than nurses, "allow the doctor to see more patients more fully. The

DR. MARY HAWTHORNE

PA performs the routine medical tasks and therefore the doctor has more time to spend with each patient. In areas where there is a shortage of depending upon the future of training programs in medicine, there will be a demand for more PAs. The number will be related to the need and with the present physician shortage, that number could increase in the future. Presently, there are only approximately 1,800 certified PAs in this country.

The concept is believed to be an outgrowth of national civil rights legislation in the early '60s which, among other things, declared that every American is entitled to adequate health care.

Also, paramedical specialists coming out of the military, found their tax-funded training going to waste in civilian life despite the need for health care in many areas.

Duke University in North Carolina began the first civilian PA training program in 1965. It still allows its PAs more freedom, permitting them to operate alone in satellite centers although under supervision of a doctor in a central location.

In 1970, the Michigan State Medical Society, following a five-year study, approved a pilot program to train PAs. Legislation established programs at Western Michigan university and later at Mercy college in Detroit.

Dr. Hawthorne who heads the WMU program, emphasizes that the physician assistant has a different role than the nurse.

"I like to think," she said, "that the PA provides an alternate upper level career pattern for nurses (both male and female) who have been primarily prepared for bedside nursing care — it's not an 'either or' situation."

After some years of bedside nursing, she said, many nurses find they want to change or advance their medical career into such fields as administration, education, the military, or public health nursing, and the physician assistant provides such an alternative.

She also pointed out that the Michigan Legislature is currently considering legislation rewriting the medical practice act to recognize the physician assistant profession, setting education standards for PAs and assuring safe public care.

Dr. Hawthorne says, "We, in this country, have to recognize that if we are going to meet the increased demands for health care, we must find new ways to provide that care."

"Such health care delivery teams are like a football team with the doctor as quarterback. Each member of the team has his own role and responsibility for delivering the best in health care delivery."

NEWEST ADDITION TO MEDICAL TEAM

Local Man Is Physician Assistant

By ARLYS DERRICK
Women's EditorAnd
MARYANNE BUTT
Staff Writer

Sometimes Wayne Augustyniak's patients forget and call him doctor.

It's understandable that they forget because Augustyniak who is a physician assistant, makes rounds at hospitals, uses specialized diagnostic procedures, sees patients at the clinic where he works, and even makes house calls for routine medical tasks — all under a doctor's supervision.

Dr. R.T. Costello, urologist at Cedarwood medical center in St. Joseph, is his supervising physician.

The physician assistant (PA) is the newest addition to primary (general) health care in Michigan.

According to Mary E. Hawthorne, PhD, program director for Western Michigan University, a 1975 survey conducted by the Governor's Advisory commission on physician assistants, revealed that there were 60 PAs employed in the state with 52 working with doctors of medicine (MDs) and eight with doctors of osteopathy (DOs).

Annually an average of about 22 persons are being graduated from 19 baccalaureate degree programs geographically dispersed throughout the United States and approved by the American Medical Association.

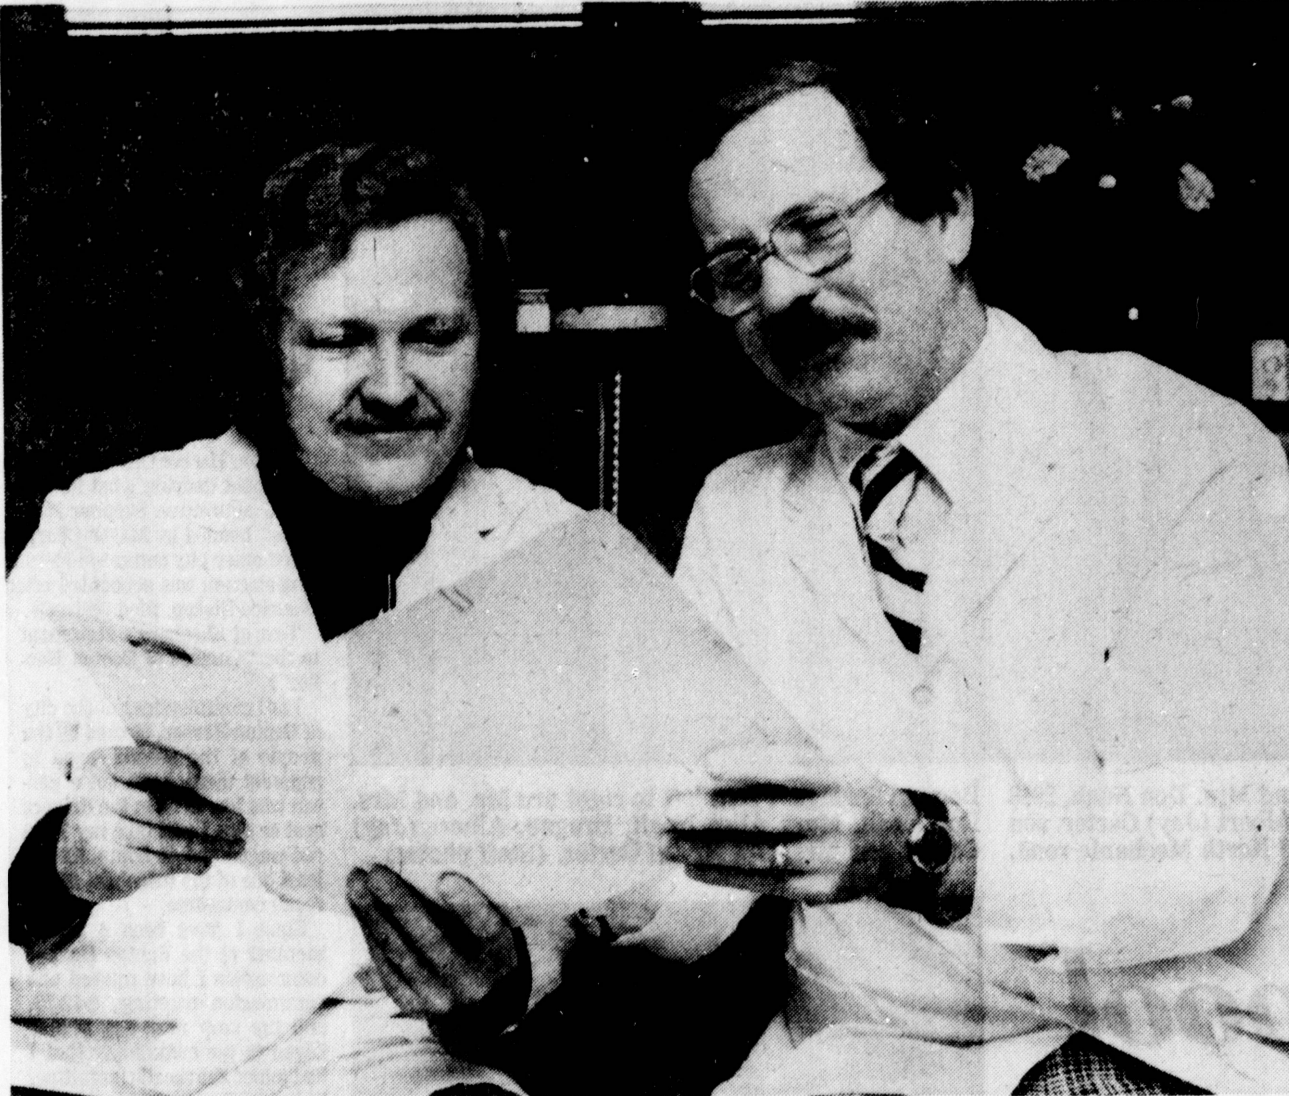

By law, they cannot practice independently. The PA job is designed to free doctors from routine, time-consuming but necessary medical tasks such as examinations, so they can concentrate on patients' problems requiring their specific skills.

Augustyniak, who is the first and, so far, the only practicing PA in the twin cities, received his bachelor's degree in medical science at Western in its relatively new program.

Mercy and Memorial hospitals in the twin cities where Augustyniak practices, are only now in the process of forming job definition and working criteria for the physician assistant.

Augustyniak says that before applying to the 24-month program at WMU, an applicant must have a minimum of one year (2,000 hours) of experience in health care.

A second prerequisite is completion of a minimum of 60 hours of college credit (or the equivalent), which includes meeting WMU's general studies requirements. The university recommends that the applicant also demonstrate interest and capability in basic science courses, particularly biology and chemistry.

Augustyniak more than meets these qualifications. He is a graduate of Bloomingdale high school and attended Western Michigan for one year in general studies. He later became a licensed practical nurse and then a registered nurse, receiving his training for both at Lake Michigan college.

From 1966 to 1969 he worked as an orderly at South Haven Community hospital. He was an LPN and a graduate nurse at Memorial hospital in St. Joseph, from 1969 to 1973, and from 1973 to 1974, was employed as a registered nurse at the South Haven hospital.

He graduated from the physician assistant program at WMU in August, 1975, and has been at Cedarwood since September. He has also passed the certification exam for PAs.

Augustyniak says he feels persons in the medical profession in the area have accepted him well. He says it is easier because he had worked with many of them in the past — had he started in a strange community it might have been different.

As far as any problems concerning the PA, Augustyniak says there "none that can't be handled."

He says he likes all of his duties as a PA — the object is to keep busy and he's doing that. The more exposure he has in different areas of medicine, he feels, the more he learns. His favorite aspects of the job are surgery and patient contact.

Augustyniak and his wife, Linda, live in Hagar Shores. They have two sons.

Dr. Costello says "Wayne is an extension of me."

He points out that physician assistants who have had more extensive medical training than nurses, "allow the doctor to see more patients more fully. The

DR. MARY HAWTHORNE

PA performs the routine medical tasks and therefore the doctor has more time to spend with each patient. In areas where there is a shortage of physicians, PAs allow doctors to effectively take on more patients."

Although the WMU program prepares its students to assist primary care physicians, Dr. Costello says there are specialty PA programs available but he prefers Augustyniak's general PA background which is broader than a specialist's. He feels that as the supervising physician, he can teach Augustyniak the specialty of urology.

Dr. Costello also says he thinks area physicians have almost totally accepted the PA. In fact, he pointed out, several are considering getting a PA for themselves.

Patient acceptance of PA has been excellent, according to Dr. Costello, who says "they love it." The fact that Augustyniak is a physician's assistant, not a doctor, is explained to every patient.

The doctor says that having a PA in his office has been successful and he believes, depending upon the future of training programs in medicine, there will be a demand for more PAs. The number will be related to the need and with the present physician shortage, that number could increase in the future. Presently, there are only approximately 1,800 certified PAs in this country.

The concept is believed to be an outgrowth of national civil rights legislation in the early '60s which, among other things, declared that every American is entitled to adequate health care.

Also, paramedical specialists coming out of the military, found their tax-funded training going to waste in civilian life despite the need for health care in many areas.

Duke university in North Carolina began the first civilian PA training program in 1965. It still allows its PAs more freedom, permitting them to operate alone in satellite centers although under supervision of a doctor in a central location.

In 1970, the Michigan State Medical Society, following a five-year study, approved a pilot program to train PAs. Legislation established programs at Western Michigan university and later at Mercy college in Detroit.

Dr. Hawthorne who heads the WMU program, emphasizes that the physician assistant has a different role than the nurse. "I like to think," she said, "that the PA provides an alternate upper level career pattern for nurses (both male and female) who have been primarily prepared for bedside nursing care — it's not an 'either or' situation."

After some years of bedside nursing, she said, many nurses find they want to change or advance their medical career into such fields as administration, education, the military, or public health nursing, and the physician assistant provides such an alternative.

She also pointed out that the Michigan Legislature is currently considering legislation rewriting the medical practice act to recognize the physician assistant profession, setting education standards for PAs and assuring safe public care.

Dr. Hawthorne says, "We, in this country, have to recognize that if we are going to meet the increased demands for health care, we must find new ways to provide that care."

"Such health care delivery teams are like a football team with the doctor as quarterback. Each member of the team has his own role and responsibility for delivering the best in health care delivery."

Easter Customs

That lady in the Easter bonnet with all the frills upon it in Irving Berlin's great song, "Easter Parade" perhaps didn't know it, but she was continuing a custom rooted in antiquity.

Centuries ago the New Year officially began in spring, and people marked the occasion by donning new clothes.

A research expert says the wearing of new garments to signify a new beginning was soon followed by superstitions about the custom. "Wearing new clothes led to the idea of parading in them," the researcher says. "In America, folklore has it that good luck can be ensured for the year by wearing three new things on Easter Day."

Easter parades occur in almost every city and town in America but perhaps the most famous — and the subject of that 1948 song and movie — is on Fifth avenue in New York City. It dates back to the mid-19th century, according to the researcher. Originally, it was confined to high society, with the wealthy walking or riding in their carriages down Broadway after morning church services. The parade later moved to Fifth avenue and now often includes jeweled and costumed pets as well as people.

Easter parades are not the only customs with pre-Christian roots. Two of Easter's most enduring and universal symbols, the bunny and the egg, also date back to pagan times.

Both the hare and the egg were symbols of Eostre, the goddess of spring, who incidentally lent her name to the occasion. Over the years the hare has become a rabbit but the egg, the age-old emblem of birth and rebirth, hasn't changed.

"The Easter bunny was brought to America by German immigrants in the 18th century, according to the researcher. These Pennsylvanian Germans spread out to Virginia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, New York and Canada and took their customs with them.

Immigrants also brought such traditional Easter games as the egg hunt and egg roll with them from Europe. One of the explanations for egg rolling, Hopkins says, is that it was first done in imitation of rolling the stone away from Christ's tomb.

A more recent custom at Easter is the sending of cards. It is estimated that this Easter some 137 million cards will be exchanged.

Easter (April 18 this year) can fall as early as March 22 and as late as April 25 — a span of 35 days. According to the researcher, it won't occur in March again until 1978. The date of Easter's celebration was the subject of heated controversy between Eastern and Western branches of the early church. Emperor Constantine finally resolved the arguments at the Council of Nicea in A.D. 325. It was decided then that Easter should fall on Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox.

Living graciously within your home is not so much an art as it is the application of intelligent planning. Today the old methods of trial and error, hit or miss, just won't work. Don't scatter furniture around a room and hope it works; generally it doesn't. Putting a room together is something like painting a picture. You decide, first of all, the scene you want to reproduce. Then you decide on a color scheme. Then you paint the walls, add the furniture, and complete the arrangement harmoniously with well-chosen accessories. It turns out that there is nothing mysterious or tricky about room arrangement. A little planning ahead goes a long way!

Season Opens Sunday

Symphony Sponsors Quartet

The first concert of the 1976-77 season of the Twin Cities Symphony will be a performance by the International String Quartet, artists-in-residence at Indiana university at South Bend.

The concert will be held at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, April 18, at St. Joseph high school auditorium.

This first concert of the season is being offered as an inducement to purchase 1976-77 season tickets for the symphony and those who have tickets for next season will be admitted free to the concert.

Tickets will be available at the door.

The program will feature works of Schubert, Ravel and Brahms.

According to Mrs. Jerome (Suzanne) Warren, president of the Twin Cities Symphonic society, one of the last works Schubert wrote was the "Quartet No. 12 in C Minor," subtitled, "Quartettsatz." Although relatively short, it is one of Schubert's most tuneful works.

Ravel had been composing for several years, Mrs. Warren says, but it was not until the performance of his "Quartet in F Major" that both the critics and the public realized that he was an exceedingly talented musician. The "Quartet No. 2 in A Minor" by Johannes Brahms was written shortly after the "First Quartet." More melodious and poetic than the first, it features a sensitive dialog between the first violin and cello and concludes with expected Brahmsian vigor, Mrs. Warren says.

The International String Quartet was founded in 1974 at Indiana university.

Its members come from three countries. Chihiro Kudo, first violin, and his wife, Machie Kudo, second violin, are from Japan. James van Valkenburg is an American and plays the viola. Lutz Katz, cello, is from Germany.

This summer the quartet will be on its first concert tour of Europe and will perform in Germany, Belgium, Spain, Greece, Austria and France.

According to Mrs. Warren, president of the Twin Cities Symphonic Society, the board of directors of the symphony feels privileged to be able to offer such a concert to begin its 1976-77 season.

Season Opens Sunday

Symphony Sponsors Quartet

The first concert of the 1976-77 season of the Twin Cities Symphony will be a performance by the International String Quartet, artists-in-residence at Indiana university at South Bend.

The concert will be held at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, April 18, at St. Joseph high school auditorium.

This first concert of the season is being offered as an inducement to purchase 1976-77 season tickets for the symphony and those who have tickets for next season will be admitted free to the concert.

Tickets will be available at the door.

The program will feature works of Schubert, Ravel and Brahms.

According to Mrs. Jerome (Suzanne) Warren, president of the Twin Cities Symphonic society, one of the last works Schubert wrote was the "Quartet No. 12 in C Minor," subtitled, "Quartettssatz." Although relatively short, it is one of Schubert's most tuneful works.

Ravel had been composing for several years, Mrs. Warren says, but it was not until the performance of his "Quartet in F Major" that both the critics and the public realized that he was an exceedingly talented musician. The "Quartet No. 2 in A Minor" by Johannes Brahms was written shortly after the "First Quartet." More melodious and poetic than the first, it features a sensitive dialog between the first violin and cello and concludes with expected Brahmsian vigor, Mrs. Warren says.

The International String Quartet was founded in 1974 at Indiana university.

Its members come from three countries. Chihito Kudo, first violin, and his wife, Machie Kudo, second violin, are from Japan. James van Valkenburg is an American and plays the viola. Lutz Katz, cello, is from Germany.

This summer the quartet will be on its first concert tour of Europe and will perform in Germany, Belgium, Spain, Greece, Austria and France.

According to Mrs. Warren, president of the Twin Cities Symphonic Society, the board of directors of the symphony feels privileged to be able to offer such a concert to begin its 1976-77 season.

Easter Customs

That lady in the Easter bonnet with all the frills upon it in Irving Berlin's great song, "easter Parade" perhaps didn't know it, but she was continuing a custom rooted in antiquity.

Centuries ago the New Year officially began in spring, and people marked the occasion by donning new clothes.

A research expert says the wearing of new garments to signify a new beginning was soon followed by superstitions about the custom. "Wearing new clothes led to the idea of parading in them," the researcher says. "In America, folklore has it that good luck can be ensured for the year by wearing three new things on Easter Day."

Easter parades occur in almost every city and town in America but perhaps the most famous — and the subject of that 1948 song and movie — is on Fifth avenue in New York City. It dates back to the mid-19th century, according to the researcher. Originally, it was confined to high society, with the wealthy walking or riding in their carriages down Broadway after morning church services. The parade later moved to Fifth avenue and now often includes jeweled and costumed pets as well as people.

Easter parades are not the only customs with pre-Christian roots. Two of Easter's most enduring and universal symbols, the bunny and the egg, also date back to pagan times.

Both the hare and the egg were symbols of Eostre, the goddess of spring, who incidentally lent her name to the occasion. Over the years the hare has become a rabbit but the egg, the age-old emblem of birth and rebirth, hasn't changed.

"The Easter bunny was brought to America by German immigrants in the 18th century, according to the researcher. These Pennsylvania Germans spread out to Virginia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, New York and Canada and took their customs with them.

Immigrants also brought such traditional Easter games as the egg hunt and egg roll with them from Europe. One of the explanations for egg rolling, Hopkins says, is that it was first done in imitation of rolling the stone away from Christ's tomb.

A more recent custom at Easter is the sending of cards. It is estimated that this Easter some 137 million cards will be exchanged.

Easter (April 18 this year) can fall as early as March 22 and as late as April 25 — a span of 35 days. According to the researcher, it won't occur in March again until 1978. The date of Easter's celebration was the subject of heated controversy between Eastern and Western branches of the early church. Emperor Constantine finally resolved the arguments at the Council of Nicea in A.D. 325. It was decided then that Easter should fall on Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox.

Living gracefully within your home is not so much an art as it is the application of intelligent planning. Today the old methods of trial and error, hit or miss, just won't work. Don't scatter furniture around a room and hope it works; generally it doesn't. Putting a room together is something like painting a picture. You decide, first of all, the scene you want to reproduce. Then you decide on a color scheme. Then you paint the walls, add the furniture, and complete the arrangement harmoniously with well-chosen accessories. It turns out that there is nothing mysterious or tricky about room arrangement. A little planning ahead goes a long way!

Begin realizing your plans by shopping at WALTERS PAINT & WALLPAPER, 313 Main St., St. Joseph. Open 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mon. - Sat. 8-1. Call 983-2871. Bedspreads by Bloomcraft (featuring Gloria Vanderbilt designs), Kirsch, Waverly and Deshey. We do custom spreads to match fabrics. Custom draperies.

HELPFUL HINT:

Before decorating, measure each room, noting doors and windows, etc., then make a floor plan, sketching in the furniture you wish to use.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Sign In Sky Worries Her

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday, as my mother and I walked down the street (we live in Hollywood, Fla.), we encountered several people looking skyward and grinning. We glanced up and saw a plane carrying a huge banner that read, "I love you, Jim. Get a divorce."

My mother laughed and said, "Isn't it crazy what some people will do to attract attention! It's probably an advertisement," but I didn't think it was very funny. My husband's name is Jim and he has been awfully cool these last few months. That was no ad, Ann. Someone was trying to tell somebody something.

I finally tracked down the name of the company that owns the plane. It is enclosed. Will you please find out who paid for that message? I can't risk going to them directly, and I am — Worried Stiff.

Dear W.S.: Sorry, dear. I don't do spy work. Keep your eyes peeled for evidence on the home front and take it from there.

Hang Loose

Dear Ann Landers: I have started to write to you many times but somehow my letters never reached the mailbox. When I read the one from the girl who was madly in love at 14, I knew I had to love this one. I, too, was in love at 14. From the 8th grade through the 12th, I was just plain ape over the guy. I dated a few others but never gave myself a chance to like any of them. I wouldn't listen when friends told me I was being used.

I figured Mr. Dreamboat loved me best because every time he'd have a fight with his latest heart-throb he'd come back to me and we'd pick up where we left off. Now I realize I was a donkey and he was a heel.

At 18, I "woke up and smelled the coffee," as you say. I met a great guy who had everything Mr. Dreamboat had — plus integrity and character. Twice last month I ran into Mr. D.B. and it was like I'd never known him. So please, Ann, tell the 14-year-old that if she's smart she'll hang loose and get the crazy idea out of her head that there's only one guy in the world for her. — Ask Me, I Know

Dear Your Well said. But no one listens until she's ready.

It's Do, Do, Do

Dear Ann Landers: The nerve of that woman attacking you because you said, "DO" the dishes. Then she went on to make fun of you because you came from Iowa!

Tell the loudmouth that the whole bit started the day the bride said "I do." From that moment forward, she agreed to DO the dishes, DO the laundry, DO the diapers, and DO just about every other damned thing that needed doing — including being nice to his mother and the rest of his stuck-up relatives. — For You All The Way

Dear For Me: Thanks for the

ANN LANDERS

lift. I needed that.

Knock On Wood

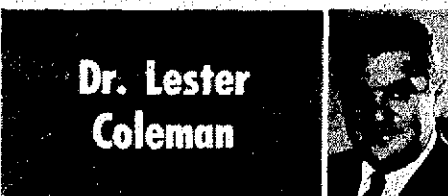

Dear Ann Landers: My husband passed away in 1972. A very fine man who lost his wife two years ago has been quite attentive. I never thought I'd care to marry again, but he's giving me second thoughts.

Mr. X is self-employed (doesn't need my money), nice looking, and my married children think he's wonderful. The only problem: he is ridiculously superstitious. Does this mean he's a little wacky, or slightly ignorant? — No Offense Meant

Dear N.O.M.: Many bright (and stable) people are superstitious. The gentleman sounds like a promising "introspect." Knock on wood, honey.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 50 cents in coin to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My husband is a highly nervous person. When a special problem arises of the office, I and my three children bear the brunt of it. His doctor has given him drugs to quiet his nerves, but he refuses to take them because he is sure that he will be "hooked" on them.

Mrs. B.P.N., Maine

Dear Mrs. N.: Doctors are familiar with the excesses that patients offer for not taking drugs.

"I don't believe in drugs," "I have to fight this without the help of drugs," "I don't want to be dependent on drugs." These are some of the familiar comments.

It is sometimes impossible to free some people from such fixed thoughts. Many believe that it is a sign of weakness to take any drug that is prescribed for them.

This occurs more frequently when tranquilizing drugs are suggested. People like your husband actually believe that they are being stigmatized by the suggestion that they "quiet down" from their physical and emotional tensions.

Tranquilizers have a profound and important effect in relieving tensions, excessive anxiety and multiple pressures. These drugs represent a tremendous advance in the treatment of mild, moderate and even severe psychoneurotic states. Frequently they are used for a short time, until the patient can modify his tension-producing problems.

To take a tranquilizing drug is no more a reflection on a person's ego structure than is his acceptance of an antibiotic for an infection.

Your husband may be correct in believing that the tranquilizing pill is not the total answer to his emotional problem. It may be necessary for him to have the guidance of a psychologist or psychiatrist to reorient his patterns of living. Until this is done, I hope he can be assured that taking these tranquilizing drugs can be a contribution to him and help him over his difficult times.

I have a painful spur on my left heel. Does this mean I will eventually develop arthritis?

Mr. S.A., Ohio

Dear Mr. A.: Let me reassure you that spurs of the heel are not a form of arthritis.

These painful spurs are deposits of calcium in the muscles and tendons that are attached to the heels. They can be extremely painful and interfere with walking activity. They are thought to be due to some repeated irritation or injury.

It is possible to protect these spurs from further injury by covering them with sponge rubber pads. In many instances, surgery is the simple and most effective way to treat spurs. After surgery, it is important to be certain that the same irritating pressures in this area are eradicated.

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Attend Nurse Conference

Eight nurses from the southwestern Michigan area were among school nurses from throughout the state who met March 25-27 in Bay City for the annual conference of the Michigan Association of School Nurses, a department of the Michigan Education Association.

Area nurses who attended include Mildred Dellon and Dottie Stacey, Benton Harbor; Margaret Van Anrooy, Esther Kutz and Joanne Karns, St. Joseph; Bonnie Pauslan, Berrien Springs; Marion Sandquist, New Buffalo, and Edith Tuitman, River Valley.

Theme of the workshop was "Interaction: School Nurses and Health Agencies." A health education fair and film festival was held with 25 health organizations or agencies from Michigan and other states. These organizations sent representatives with their latest films, pamphlets and health education materials.

Another 17 organizations sent materials on health education and services to be distributed. The fair was designed to provide the nurses with an opportunity to obtain the latest materials for health education and in-service program ideas which can be implemented back in their schools.

Other topics covered by speakers included professional rights and responsibilities of school nurses, the role of the school nurse in child abuse and neglect, the future of school health, the importance of early detection of kidney disease in school-aged children and the necessity of venereal disease education.

Old man Z who used to appear in the auction bridge columns played dummy's king of hearts. East discarded to 10 of clubs and Z remarked, "I believe R.J. Foster thought of this hand back around 1922. It is a ruff and discard hand to end all such."

Then Z overtook dummy's king of hearts with his ace, cashed two trumps and both minor suits aces. His next play was a low heart. West had to win the trick and play another heart.

Z discarded a club from his hand and a diamond from dummy. West had to lead another heart. Z chuckled dummy's last low diamond, puffed in his own hand and claimed the balance of the tricks and his contract. West had been forced to give Z a double discard first and a ruff and a discard next.

With any normal line of play the defense would collect three tricks and set the contract.

Ask the Jacobys

Several readers have asked us to describe the negative double. It was invented by Alvin Roth about 20 years ago and is a double of an overall for takeout.

Here is an example. South opens one diamond. West bids one spade. North holds: ♠ 3 2 ♥ K 10 7 6 ♦ J 3 2 ♣ K 10 8 5.

He doubles to ask partner to bid.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Sign In Sky Worries Her

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday, as my mother and I walked down the street (we live in Hollywood, Fla.), we encountered several people looking skyward and grinning. We glanced up and saw a plane carrying a huge banner that read, "I love you, Jim. Get a divorce."

My mother laughed and said, "Isn't it crazy what some people will do to attract attention? It's probably an advertisement." I managed a weak chuckle, but didn't think it was very funny.

My husband's name is Jim and he has been awfully cool these last few months. That was no ad. Ann. Someone was trying to tell somebody something.

I finally tracked down the name of the company that owns the plane. It is enclosed. Will you please find out who paid for that message? I can't risk going to them directly, and I am — Worried Stiff

Dear W.S.: Sorry, dear. I don't do spy work. Keep your eyes peeled for evidence on the home front and take it from there.

Hang Loose

Dear Ann Landers: I have started to write to you many times but somehow my letters never reached the mailbox. When I read the one from the girl who was madly in love at 14, I knew I had to mail this one.

I, too, was in love at 14. From the 8th grade through the 12th, I was just plain ape over the guy. I dated a few others but never gave myself a chance to like any of them. I wouldn't listen when friends told me I was being used.

I figured Mr. Dreamboat loved me best because every time he'd have a fight with his latest heart-throb he'd come back to me and we'd pick up where we left off. Now I realize I was a donkey and he was a heel.

At 18, I "woke up and smelled the coffee," as you say. I met a great guy who had everything Mr. Dreamboat had — plus integrity and character. Twice last month I ran into Mr. D.B. and it was like I'd never known him. So please, Ann, tell the 14-year-old that if she's smart she'll hang loose and get the crazy idea out of her head that there's only one guy in the world for her. — Ask Me, I Know

Dear You: Well said. But no one listens until she's ready.

It's Do, Do, Do

Dear Ann Landers: The nerve of that woman attacking you because you said "DO" the dishes. Then she went on to make fun of you because you came from Iowa!

Tell the loudmouth that the whole bit started the day the bride said "I do." From that moment forward, she agreed to DO the dishes, DO the laundry, DO the diapers, and do just about every other damned thing that needed doing — including being nice to his mother and the rest of his stuck-up relatives. — For You All The Way lift. I needed that.

ANN LANDERS

Knock On Wood

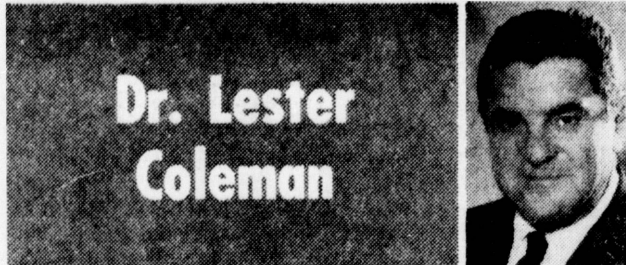

Dear Ann Landers: My husband passed away in 1972. A very fine man who lost his wife two years ago has been quite attentive. I never thought I'd care to marry again, but he's giving me second thoughts.

Mr. X is self-employed (doesn't need my money), nice looking, and my married children think he's wonderful. The only problem: he is ridiculously superstitious. Does this mean he's a little wacky, or slightly ignorant? — No Offense Meant

Dear N.O.M.: Many bright (and stable) people are superstitious. The gentleman sounds like a promising "prospect." Knock on wood, honey.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 50 cents in coin to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My husband is a highly nervous person. When a special problem arises at the office, I and my three children bear the brunt of it. His doctor has given him drugs to quiet his nerves, but he refuses to take them because he is sure that he will be "hooked" on them.

Mrs. B.P.N., Maine

Dear Mrs. N.: Doctors are familiar with the excuses that patients offer for not taking drugs.

"I don't believe in drugs," "I have to fight this without the help of drugs," "I don't want to be dependent on drugs." These are some of the familiar comments.

It is sometimes impossible to free some people from such fixed thoughts. Many believe that it is a sign of weakness to take any drug that is prescribed for them.

This occurs more frequently when tranquilizing drugs are suggested. People like your husband actually believe that they are stigmatized by the suggestion that they "quiet down" from their physical and emotional tensions.

Tranquilizers have a profound and important effect in relieving tensions, excessive anxiety and multiple pressures. These drugs represent a tremendous advance in the treatment of mild, moderate and even severe psychoneurotic states. Frequently they are used for a short time, until the patient can modify his tension-producing problems.

To take a tranquilizing drug is no more a reflection on a person's ego structure than is his acceptance of an antibiotic for an infection.

Your husband may be correct in believing that the tranquilizing pill is not the total answer to his emotional problem. It may be necessary for him to have the guidance of a psychologist or psychiatrist to re-orient his patterns of living. Until this is done, I hope he can be assured that taking these tranquilizing drugs can be a contribution to him and help him over his difficult times.

I have a painful spur on my left heel. Does this mean I will eventually develop arthritis?

Mr. S.A., Ohio

Dear Mr. A.: Let me reassure you that spurs of the heel are not a form of arthritis.

These painful spurs are deposits of calcium in the muscles and tendons that are attached to the heels. They can be extremely painful and interfere with walking activity. They are thought to be due to some repeated irritation or injury.

It is possible to protect these spurs from further injury by covering them with sponge rubber pads. In many instances, surgery is the simple and most effective way to treat spurs. After surgery, it is important to be certain that the same irritating pressures in this area are eradicated.

Attend Nurse Conference

Eight nurses from the southwestern Michigan area were among school nurses from throughout the state who met March 25-27 in Bay City for the annual conference of the Michigan Association of School Nurses, a department of the Michigan Education Association.

Area nurses who attended include Mildred DeHorn and Dottie Stacey, Benton Harbor; Margaret Van Anrooy, Esther Kutz and Joanne Karns, St. Joseph; Bonnie Paustian, Berrien Springs; Marion Sandquist, New Buffalo, and Edith Tuitman, River Valley.

Theme of the workshop was "Interaction: School Nurses and Health Agencies." A health education fair and film festival was held with 25 health organizations or agencies from Michigan and other states. These organizations sent representatives with their latest films, pamphlets and health education materials.

Another 17 organizations sent materials on health education and services to be distributed.

The fair was designed to provide the nurses with an opportunity to obtain the latest materials for health education and in-service program ideas which can be implemented back in their schools.

Other topics covered by speakers included professional rights and responsibilities of school nurses, the role of the school nurse in child abuse and neglect, the future of school health, the importance of early detection of kidney disease in school-aged children and the necessity of venereal disease education.

Old man Z who used to appear in the auction bridge columns played dummy's king of hearts. East discarded to 10 of clubs and Z remarked, "I believe R.F. Foster thought of this hand back around 1922. It is a ruff and discard hand to end all such."

Then Z overlooked dummy's king of hearts with his ace, cashed two trumps and both minor suit aces. His next play was a low heart. West had to win the trick and play another heart.

Z discarded a club from his hand and a diamond from dummy. West had to lead another heart. Z chuckled dummy's last low diamond, ruffed in his own hand and claimed the balance of the tricks and his contract. West had been forced to give Z a double discard first and a ruff and a discard next.

With any normal line of play the defense would collect three tricks and set the contract.

Milliken Anti-Deficit Plan Suffers Setback

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Despite a setback Wednesday, Senate leaders say there will be little problem finding the necessary votes to approve a key portion of Gov. William Milliken's plan for averting a projected budget deficit.

The Senate failed by seven votes to give immediate effect to a bill extending the current fiscal year until Sept. 30. Milliken proposed the extension in order to pick up more than $100 million for the current fiscal year.

The defeat was seen as a rebuff to the governor, both from members of his own party who are critical of recent methods used to balance the budget and from Democrats engaged in the annual political fight over the budget.

The extra money, although not an outright gain, would help the current cash problem because there would be only one school aid payment during the three-month period. Such payments are made every two months.

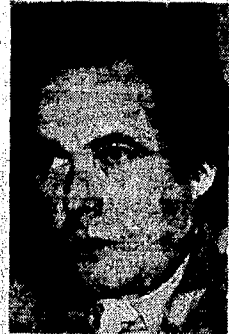

The defeated motion was renewed and put off until April 28, after the Easter recess which began today. Sen. Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, and Sen. Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw, appropriations committee chairman, said they were confident of approval the second time around.

Without immediate effect, legislation takes effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns at the end of the year — too late to solve the current fiscal problems.

The extension is a key part of Milliken's plan to avert a projected $280 million deficit for the current fiscal year. The legislature already has approved cutbacks of $124 million and borrowing $18 million from the state Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund. A proposal to borrow $50 million from the Veterans Trust Fund is pending.

The House apparently had completed approval of the extension Tuesday but the bill had to return to the Senate for a vote on immediate effect.

The Senate vote was 18-11. A two-thirds majority, or 26 votes, are required.

Voting against the proposal were a combination of Republicans who felt it is shoddy budgeting and liberal Democrats who are upset with the governor for what they believe are inadequate budget proposals for the next fiscal year. The Democrats also do not like Milliken's refusal to support tax increases to meet what they consider the state's needs.

"There's no way for you to manufacture money," said Sen. Henry DeMasso, R-Battle Creek, a critic of the bill. Sen. Richard Allen R-Alma, called it "a sham on the people."

"Everybody urges us to pass it and then says it's a bad bill," commented Sen. John Otterbacher, D-Grand Rapids. "I don't want to take the governor off the hook."

Otterbacher said Milliken had put the poor and elderly on the hook with his budget cutbacks "in the name of fiscal responsibility."

Supporters of the bill said the legislature had little alternative but to approve it. They argued another $100 million-plus budget cut would cripple necessary state services.

"Superstar" a super production at Tin Tree

By NORMA VAN ALLEN

A NOTE ABOUT THE REVIEWER: Norma Van Allen is a former Chicagoan who holds a master's degree in Theatre from the University of Illinois and has been on the faculty of the college of Journalism and Communications of the University of Florida. She was a feature writer for the Fort Lauderdale News and Sun-Sentinel (Fla.) and is currently a correspondent for the New Buffalo Times (Mich.).

NEW BUFFALO—Jesus Christ was a "Superstar" at the Tin Tree's opening of that musical Friday—and so were Judas and Mary Magdalene and Peter.

But it's Jon Putzke's production that deserves the plaudits.

The timing, the lighting, the singing are superb.

The Tin Tree, for those of you who haven't been there lately, is no longer a tent. It's a charming, warm, theatre-in-the-round, in the square, or in the "quadrangle"—however it's needed to mount the play, the production, the musical that's currently on the boards.

April's offering, Jesus Christ Superstar, uses a corner of the house plus the stage and all aisles for a remarkably dramatic effect.

The malmed, the ill, the tainted creep down the aisles, singing, mocking, pleading, offering their mangled limbs for healing under blue lights. Chilling. A moving lithograph by Hieronymus Bosch.

Caiaphas, and Annas become red-and-black-livered messengers of the devil as they bribe Judas.

The fogging under crackling, flashing lights leaves one stunned. It seems only Jesus does not despair.

From the Roman guards in purple tank tops and jeans to the inhabitants of heaven, barefoot, in white duck pants or beautiful, in white short-skirts and white kid boots, costuming is simple, clean and clear.

So is the meaning.

This "rock-musical" hasn't aged a day in the hands of Jon and Marg Putzke.

Marg—musical director and pianist supreme—keeps the feel, the timing, the beat and the key all in control.

Must be magic.

Terry Ferry is on flute and Russ Folino on drums. Elizabeth Van Meer manipulates a magnificent electric keyboard. Added since opening night are Brad Landry on electric bass and Harold Staples on acoustic guitar.

(It seems Brad and Harold had a prior professional engagement last Friday. Not so tomorrow night, or thereafter on weekends in April).

Listen carefully to that final mournful flute solo that ends the play. You won't want to get up and leave either.

Opening night audience didn't, not for a long time.

And on opening night Jesus was marvelous, but Judas stole the show. He's Jay Wellman, a Chicago night club singer who has now become a bona fide actor in musical theatre.

Somewhat one could sense his strength.

His characterization grew as the musical and dramatic ideas developed.

Then: "My time is almost through. I've little left to do...After all I've tried for, three years seems like thirty."

So sang Jesus in a mellow, moving voice—Stephen Carter—appealing, young. Younger than the role he played. Sensuous singing, a first-class professional.

He's a tenor from Lansing, with quite a surprising vocal range and the sustained confidence that will make him a good actor.

He illuminated his role.

Mary Magdalene gave her role a different interpretation than this reviewer has seen before. Her's was a young and tender rendition of "everything's all right...try not to worry tonight."

Katha Kissman—who has a lovely voice—plays Mary Magdalene. She sings what is probably the most widely-known solo recording from the musical—I Don't Know How To Love Him—in a haunting style.

Peter's requiem is handsomely handled by John Richards. He's an appealing young singer and a burgeoning young actor.

King Herod's dance should not be missed. It's bawdy and beautiful. Jon G. Matthews does it.

Pontius Pilate prances, pronounces, pontificates, and pleads—a commanding stage presence. And that's Jon Putzke, himself.

The cast, the company, the performance rate accolades.

One could wish a baby grand piano were in the pit and that, perhaps, a few more mikes were strung about the rafters to aid the young but eager voices.

But one doesn't need any better staging, production numbers, choral singing, dancing or leads.

It's a good show.

It will be playing Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through April. Curtain time on Friday is 8:30. Two shows are scheduled on Saturday, 7 and 9:30 p.m. Sunday curtain time is 5 p.m.

Milliken Anti-Deficit Plan Suffers Setback

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Despite a setback Wednesday, Senate leaders say there will be little problem finding the necessary votes to approve a key portion of Gov. William Milliken's plan for averting a projected budget deficit.

The Senate failed by seven votes to give immediate effect to a bill extending the current fiscal year until Sept. 30. Milliken proposed the extension in order to pick up more than $100 million for the current fiscal year.

The defeat was seen as a rebuff to the governor, both from members of his own party who are critical of recent methods used to balance the budget and from Democrats engaged in the annual political fight over the budget.

The extra money, although not an outright gain, would help the current cash problem because there would be only one school aid payment during the three-month period. Such payments are made every two months.

The defeated motion was renewed and put off until April 28, after the Easter recess which began today. Sen. Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, and Sen. Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw, appropriations committee chairman, said they were confident of approval the second time around.

Without immediate effect, legislation takes effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns at the end of the year — too late to solve the current fiscal problems.

The extension is a key part of Milliken's plan to avert a projected $280 million deficit for the current fiscal year. The legislature already has approved cutbacks of $124 million and borrowing $18 million from the state Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund. A proposal to borrow $50 million from the Veterans Trust Fund is pending.

The House apparently had completed approval of the extension Tuesday but the bill had to return to the Senate for a vote on immediate effect.

The Senate vote was 19-11. A two-thirds majority, or 26 votes, are required.

Voting against the proposal were a combination of Republicans who felt it was shoddy budgeting and liberal Democrats who are upset with the governor for what they believe are inadequate budget proposals for the next fiscal year. The Democrats also do not like Milliken's refusal to support tax increases to meet what they consider the state's needs.

"There's no way for you to manufacture money," said Sen. Henry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, a critic of the bill. Sen. Richard Allen R-Alma, called it "a sham on the people."

"Everybody urges us to pass it and then says it's a bad bill," commented Sen. John Otterbacher, D-Grand Rapids. "I don't want to take the governor off the hook."

Otterbacher said Milliken had put the poor and elderly on the hook with his budget cutbacks "in the name of fiscal responsibility."

Supporters of the bill said the legislature had little alternative but to approve it. They argued another $100 million-plus budget cut would cripple necessary state services.

'PET ROCK': Boston Police Commissioner Robert di Grazia criticized most of the nation's police chiefs for behaving like "pet rocks unable to move, grow, change or innovate." His remarks were in a speech prepared for a conference of law enforcement officials and scholars, sponsored by the Police Foundation, a private organization, in Washington Wednesday. (AP Wirephoto)

"Superstar" a super production at Tin Tree

By NORMA VAN ALLEN

A NOTE ABOUT THE REVIEWER: Norma Van Allen is a former Chicagoan who holds a master's degree in Theatre from the University of Illinois and has been on the faculty of the college of Journalism and Communications of the University of Florida. She was a feature writer for the Fort Lauderdale News and Sun-Sentinel (Fla.) and is currently a correspondent for the New Buffalo Times (Mich.).

NEW BUFFALO-Jesus Christ was a "Superstar" at the Tin Tree's opening of that musical Friday—and so were Judas and Mary Magdalene and Peter.

But it's Jon Putzke's production that deserves the plaudits.

The timing, the lighting, the singing are superb.

The Tin Tree, for those of you who haven't been there lately, is no longer a tent. It's a charming, warm, theatre-in-the-round, in the square, or in the "quadrangle"—however it's needed to mount the play, the production, the musical that's currently on the boards.

April's offering, Jesus Christ Superstar, uses a corner of the house plus the stage and all aisles for a remarkably dramatic effect.

The maimed, the ill, the tainted creep down the aisles, singing, mocking, pleading, offering their mangled limbs for healing under blue lights. Chilling. A moving lithograph by Hieronymus Bosch.

Caiphas and Annas become red-and-black-livered messengers of the devil as they bribe Judas.

The flogging under crackling, flashing lights leaves one stunned. It seems only Jesus does not despair.

From the Roman guards in purple tank tops and jeans to the inhabitants of heaven, barefoot, in white duck pants or beautiful, in white short-shorts and white kid boots, costuming is simple, clean and clear.

So is the meaning.

This "rock-musical" hasn't aged a day in the hands of Jon and Marg Putzke.

Marg—musical director and pianist supreme—keeps the feel, the timing, the beat and the key all in control.

Must be magic.

To keep the mood and help set the pace she has a few more excellent instrumentalists in the Pit:

Terry Ferry is on flute and Russ Folino on drums. Elizabeth Van Meer manipulates a magnificent electric keyboard. Added since opening night are Brad Landry on electric bass and Harold Staples on acoustic guitar.

(It seems Brad and Harold had a prior professional engagement last Friday. Not so tomorrow night, or thereafter on weekends in April).

Listen carefully to that final mournful flute solo that ends the play. You won't want to get up and leave either.

Opening night audience didn't, not for a long time.

And on opening night Jesus was marvelous, but Judas stole the show. He's Jay Wellman, a Chicago night club singer who has now become a bona fide actor in musical theatre.

Somehow one could sense his strength.

His characterization grew as the musical and dramatic ideas developed.

Then: "My time is almost through. I've little left to do...After all I've tried for, three years seems like thirty."

So sang Jesus in a mellow, moving voice—Stephen Carter—appealing, young. Younger than the role he played. Sensuous singing, a first-class professional.

He's a tenor from Lansing, with quite a surprising vocal range and the sustained confidence that will make him a good actor.

He illuminated his role.

Mary Magdalene gave her role a different interpretation than this reviewer has seen before. Her's was a young and tender rendition of "everything's all right...try not to worry tonight."

Katha Kissman—who has a lovely voice—plays Mary Magdalene. She sings what is probably the most widely-known solo recording from the musical—I Don't Know How To Love Him—in a haunting style.

Peter's renunciation is handsomely handled by John Richards. He's an appealing young singer and a burgeoning young actor.

King Herod's dance should not be missed. It's bawdy and beautiful. Jon G. Matthews does it.

Pontius Pilate prances, pronounces, pontificates, and pleads—a commanding stage presence. And that's Jon Putzke, himself.

The cast, the company, the performance rate accolades.

One could wish a baby grand piano were in the pit and that, perhaps, a few more mikes were strung about the rafters to aid the young but eager voices.

But one doesn't need any better staging, production numbers, choral singing, dancing or leads.

It's a good show.

It will be playing Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through April. Curtain time on Friday is 8:30. Two shows are scheduled on Saturday, 7 and 9:30 p.m. Sunday curtain time is 5 p.m.

Senate School Aid Bill Delayed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has approved spending bills for the 1976-77 fiscal year totaling some $442 million, but the biggest measure, which would fund Michigan schools, will sit until after Easter vacation.

The bills passed, to fund the departments of Mental Health, Public Health and Corrections, were together $44 million above Gov. William Milliken's recommendations.

All three bills passed with the minimum 20 votes needed as Senate Republicans continued their attack on the spending levels approved in the Democratic-controlled appropriations committee. It took two roll calls to pass the bills after Democrats turned down GOP substitutions.

The bills proposed by Republican leaders would have returned spending levels to those proposed by the governor but they never came close to being approved.

Passage of the three bills brought the Senate to the doorstep of meeting Wednesday's self-imposed deadline for approving all spending bills which originated in that chamber.

Sen. Jerome Hurt, D-Saginaw, chairman of the appropriations committee, estimated all pending Senate bills under consideration total some $130 million over Milliken's recommendations.

The House has not taken up any of its appropriations bills, and like the Senate, is not meeting next week after adjourning Wednesday.

One of the bills passed by the Senate and sent to the House appropriates $85.6 million in general fund money for the Department of Corrections. That compares to Milliken's recommendation of $82.5 million and is up from $82.8 million this year. The bill passed 20-11.

The soaring cost is the result of swelling inmate populations which are expected to reach 13,000 by the end of the near fiscal year, according to Sen. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee on corrections.

"This is one budget that must be paid one way or another — when a judge sentences somebody, you have to lock him up," Nelson said.

Another bill, passed 20-10, provides $49.2 million for the Department of Public Health. That compares to Milliken's recommendation of $44.8 million and $41.8 million during the current year.

MILEAGE SIGNS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Signs posted along highways that give the motorist the distance to a nearby town, says the National Automobile Club, actually measure miles from the sign to city hall.

The third bill, passed 20-11, would appropriate $306.7 million for the Department of Mental Health. That's up from Milliken's $279 million and this year's $273 million.

The bill which was not acted upon was a $1.48 billion measure to fund Michigan's public schools and it will lie unloosed until April 27, after the Easter recess. The bill is $80 million over Milliken's recommendations and up from $1.36 billion this year.

Mother Sterilized To Keep Job

TORONTO (AP) — A mother of four says she had herself sterilized to keep her job in the battery plant of General Motors of Canada Ltd. in nearby Oshawa.

The company fears lead-acid emissions in the plant could harm unborn children. Norma James, 34, of Whitby is one of six women told they must prove they cannot bear children or be transferred to another department.

Four of the other women have filed a complaint with the Ontario Human Rights Commission, charging the company's action is discriminatory.

A company spokesman said Tuesday it is company policy that no one capable of child-bearing work in the battery area because "it's in the best interests of the individual not to take a chance."

More Testimony Asked In VA Case

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The attorney for two nurses linked with an investigation into deaths at the Veterans Administration hospital wants testimony taken from a seriously ill witness the attorney believes could help his clients.

The attorney, Thomas O'Brien, said Wednesday the testimony of Richard Collins, 37, could be used to rebut the testimony of a prosecution witness.

O'Brien asked a federal judge Wednesday to allow Collins to testify today in an emergency session at the hospital. Collins checked in Wednesday complaining of chest pains and is to be flown to San Francisco Friday for heart surgery.

Doctors say there is a 15 to 20 per cent chance Collins might not survive the operation.

Collins said the proposed prosecution witness, Richard Neely of Osceola, Ind., told him he had seen "a man with a beard" in his room at the hospital.

Neely also has told the FBI he saw a nurse in his hospital room just after he believes he was given a paralyzing drug that stopped his breathing and nearly killed him.

O'Brien represents Leonard Perez and Filipina Narciso. Both worked last summer in the hospital's intensive care unit where mysterious breathing failures and deaths took place. Neither nurse has been charged in the case although the FBI has linked them closely to last summer's incidents.

O'Brien said Collins' statement about "a man with a beard" casts doubt on Neely's statements about the nurse.

The FBI has asked for permission to take official testimony from Neely, although O'Brien has opposed that move in federal court.

Antiwar Pair Withholding Taxes

By MARK LAGERKVIST
FREMONT, Mich. (AP) — Today is April 15 — the traditional deadline for paying federal income taxes — but for a Fremont veterinarian and his wife, it's again time to withhold part of their share.

For the fifth straight year, Paul and Addie Snyder are refusing to pay the portion of their taxes they feel is spent on national defense. The Snyders are pacifists who see war as "a violent way of solving problems."

One year ago, the Internal Revenue Service seized and sold the Snyder's property — their house, office and kennels valued at $80,000 — to collect $3,000 in delinquent taxes from 1971 to 1974.

But the Snyders retrieved their property when it was auctioned to a group of sympathetic friends for $8,460. The group, headed by Carol Bizzard of Holton, sold it back to the Snyders for the same price.

Although the IRS finally got the withheld taxes, the couple believes the protest was a success and plans to continue the action.

"You don't choose to do an act of conscience on the basis of whether it works — you choose it because it's right," said Mrs. Snyder.

"In the process, a lot of people are forced to think. Part of the purpose in civil disobedience is to stimulate others to think about the reasons."

"Most people are scared to death of what their employer would do," said Snyder. "I've been told by junior executives at Gerber (a major baby food company in the area), 'Hey, man, I really agree with you, but don't tell anybody I said it or I'll deny it.'"

The Snyders said they donate the withheld funds to local anti-poverty groups. Since the IRS has managed to collect delinquent taxes through extra measures, the protest has been costly. The Snyders estimate their action has cost the family $8,000 above normal taxes.

Although the Vietnam war which originally triggered their action is over, the family's adamant antiwar feelings are not.

"It was not just a protest against the Vietnam war. It was a decision that we made against this way of solving problems and we're not going to be a part of it," said Mrs. Snyder.

"But, on the other hand, we do not believe that any person's whim — on where they want their taxes spent — has the same validity. There is quite a difference between paying for killing and paying for something like welfare."

Old Campaign Financing Back

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Candidates for public office in Michigan will face few restrictions on raising campaign money this year following a ruling by the state attorney general.

Operating under a two-decade-old law, candidates will be able to utilize various campaign committees, raise undisclosed amounts of money at special events, and, later, accumulate hidden funds while in office to be used in the next campaign.

The reason for that is a ruling by state Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who said Wednesday that Michigan elections must operate under a 1954 election law because of a Supreme Court ruling that a 1975 political ethics law was unconstitutional.

Kelley said a 1974 law which also revised campaign financing, but never took the place of the law overturned by the high court, most political experts regard the old law as largely ineffective in limiting campaign donations or expenditures and requiring their disclosure by political candidates.

Among other things, the 1954 election law permits:

—The proliferation of candidate committees. That makes spending limits and reporting of income meaningless for any single committee.

—Money raised at "fund-raisers" to go unreported. Thus, candidates don't have to disclose money raised at cookouts and other money-raising events.

—The maintenance of off-year "slush funds." Candidates don't have to report money raised before they file to run for office, so money donated to officeholders in non-election years goes unreported.

Kelley's opinion was the result of confusion which reigned after the state Supreme Court last month struck down the state's new political ethics law. That law regulated campaign financing, provided for partial public funding of gubernatorial campaigns, required financial disclosure by public officials, regulated lobbyists and established a political ethics commission.

The high court ruled such diverse issues could not be contained in a single bill. It did not rule on the constitutionality of the separate issues.

Following the ruling, some observers said the 1974 law might be resurrected even though it was never in force.

That law regulated campaign financing only, but was significantly tougher than the 1954 act. It required the disclosure those who contributed to a candidate, the reporting of donated goods and services, and for the first time placed spending limits on campaigns.

The 1974 act never went into effect because the legislature said it would be replaced by the sweeping 1975 measure. But some experts felt the 1975 act was never legally in force.

NO-TAX TIME: Veterinarian Paul Snyder and his wife Addie, of Fremont, Mich., again plan to withhold part of their federal income taxes they feel is spent on national defense. (AP Wirephoto)

Antiwar Pair Withholding Taxes

By MARK LAGERKVIST
FREMONT, Mich. (AP) — Today is April 15 — the traditional deadline for paying federal income taxes — but for a Fremont veterinarian and his wife, it's again time to withhold part of their share.

For the fifth straight year, Paul and Addie Snyder are refusing to pay the portion of their taxes they feel is spent on national defense. The Snyders are pacifists who see war as "a violent way of solving problems."

One year ago, the Internal Revenue Service seized and sold the Snyder's property — their house, office and kennels valued at $80,000 — to collect $3,000 in delinquent taxes from 1971 to 1974.

But the Snyders retrieved their property when it was auctioned to a group of sympathetic friends for $8,460. The group, headed by Carol Blizzard of Holton, sold it back to the Snyders for the same price.

Although the IRS finally got the withheld taxes, the couple believes the protest was a success and plans to continue the action.

"You don't choose to do an act of conscience on the basis of whether it works — you choose it because it's right," said Mrs. Snyder.

"In the process, a lot of people are forced to think. Part of the purpose in civil disobedience is to stimulate others to think about the reasons."

"Most people are scared to death of what their employer would do," said Snyder. "I've been told by junior executives at Gerber (a major baby food company in the area), 'Hey, man, I really agree with you, but don't tell anybody I said it or I'll deny it.'"

The Snyders said they donate the withheld funds to local anti-poverty groups. Since the IRS has managed to collect delinquent taxes through extra measures, the protest has been costly. The Snyders estimate their action has cost the family $8,000 above normal taxes.

Although the Vietnam war which originally triggered their action is over, the family's adamant antiwar feelings are not.

"It was not just a protest against the Vietnam war. It was a decision that we made against this way of solving problems and we're not going to be a part of it," said Mrs. Snyder.

"But, on the other hand, we do not believe that any person's whim — on where they want their taxes spent — has the same validity. There is quite a difference between paying for killing and paying for something like welfare."

Old Campaign Financing Back

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Candidates for public office in Michigan will face few restrictions on raising campaign money this year following a ruling by the state attorney general.

Operating under a two-decade-old law, candidates will be able to utilize various campaign committees, raise undisclosed amounts of money at special events, and, later, accumulate hidden funds while in office to be used in the next campaign.

The reason for that is a ruling by state Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who said Wednesday that Michigan elections must operate under a 1954 election law because of a Supreme Court ruling that a 1975 political ethics law was unconstitutional.

Kelley said a 1974 law which also revised campaign financing, but never took the place of the law overturned by the high court, most political experts regard the old law as largely ineffective in limiting campaign donations or expenditures and requiring their disclosure by political candidates.

Among other things, the 1954 election law permits:

—The proliferation of candidate committees. That makes spending limits and reporting of income meaningless for any single committee.

—Money raised at "fund-raisers" to go unreported. Thus, candidates don't have to disclose money raised at cookouts and other money-raising events.

—The maintenance of off-year "slush funds." Candidates don't have to report money raised before they file to run for office, so money donated to officeholders in non-election years goes unreported.

Kelley's opinion was the result of confusion which reigned after the state Supreme Court last month struck down the state's new political ethics law. That law regulated campaign financing, provided for partial public funding of gubernatorial campaigns, required financial disclosure by public officials, regulated lobbyists and established a political ethics commission.

The high court ruled such diverse issues could not be contained in a single bill. It did not rule on the constitutionality of the separate issues.

Following the ruling, some observers said the 1974 law might be resurrected even though it was never in force.

That law regulated campaign financing only, but was significantly tougher than the 1954 act. It required the disclosure those who contributed to a candidate, the reporting of donated goods and services, and for the first time placed spending limits on campaigns.

The 1974 act never went into effect because the legislature said it would be replaced by the sweeping 1975 measure. But some experts felt the 1975 act was never legally in force.

Gas Utility Has New President

WILLIAM MATHESON
Gas company president

S. N. WELLBORN JR.
Executive vice president

MONROE — William L. Matheson, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Michigan Gas Utilities company, has assumed the office of president of the Monroe-based utility.

He replaces Donald E. Anderson, who resigned as president because of personal reasons.

At the same time, Matheson announced that S. N. Wellborn Jr., senior vice president for engineering and planning, was promoted to executive vice president of the company.

Matheson, who has been chairman of the board since April 13, 1959, is a graduate of the University of Virginia Law School and has been chief executive during a period that saw the company expand its number of customers fourfold to 90,000 in 11 southern and western Michigan counties.

Wellborn, another veteran executive, has been with the company 21 years and its vice president in operations since April, 1962. Under Matheson, Wellborn will be responsible for all phases of the company's operations.

Wellborn is a graduate of the University of Alabama with a bachelor's degree in commerce and business administration. He and his wife, Eleanor, have four children — Sidney III, 18; Rebecca, 17; Michael, 16; and Priscilla, 9. They live at 314 Cule road, Monroe.

Today In MICHIGAN

No Criminal Intent

CENTREVILLE, Mich. (AP) — A state Department of Labor audit has disclosed no criminal intent to defraud despite overpayments of nearly $60,000 under a federal program in St. Joseph County. But the auditors told county commissioners in a report Tuesday night that $15,000 in Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds still haven't been repaid. County officials said repayments are to come from agencies receiving the overpayments. Most of them probably will be handled through reductions in funds allocated those agencies, a spokesman added. State officials set an April 30 deadline for a full report on the county's program. The audit blamed lack of a formal accounting system for the overpayments, which were discovered last August.

School Tax Bill Ready

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — School districts that raise property taxes would not lose state money under legislation on its way to Gov. William Milliken. The House Wednesday gave final legislative approval 92-0 to the measure, sponsored by Rep. John Bennett, D-Detroit. The bill takes effect immediately after signing. The state school aid law says if a district raises its property taxes, state funding could be lowered by the same amount, leaving the district with no net gain. The bill will cost the state an estimated $2 million.

Good News, Anglers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Smelt, dippers, steelhead, salmon and brown trout will be in abundant supply over Easter weekend, the Automobile Club of Michigan reported Wednesday. The auto club said surveys show good fishing can be found in Lake Huron at Port Huron, the Whitney drain below Tawas City and at Alpena. Good catches in the tributaries leading to Lake Michigan can be found in the Black, Kalamazoo, Galien, St. Joseph, Big and Little Manistee, Platte, Boardman and Jordan rivers.

Bottle Ban Petition

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has launched a campaign to place legislation banning most throwaway beverage containers on the November ballot, but he apparently lacks the full support of some of his aides. In a ceremony in his office Wednesday, Milliken placed the first signature on a petition circulated by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) to place the issue on the ballot. The legislation would require a deposit on containers to encourage their re-use. Milliken says if the measure becomes law it will conserve energy, create jobs and help beautify the state. But two Milliken appointees said they are not convinced the legislation would not harm Michigan's economy.

Detroit Aid Plan Unveiled

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An eight-point plan to boost Detroit's revenues by $100 million next fiscal year was formally unveiled to the legislature Wednesday by Gov. William Milliken. Milliken emphasized the plan, negotiated last week with Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, "is not a 'bail-out Detroit' package. I believe this one-year package represents equity in the state's treatment of its largest city that is both deserved and desperately needed." Milliken said. The plan will cost the state $33.5 million, and needs the approval of the legislature. Along with budget cuts and layoffs that will save the city $46 million next fiscal year, the plan Milliken announced is designed to cut the city's expected $86 million deficit to less than $10 million.

Compare Crime Rate

ing law enforcement and police administration and this semester I have applied for graduation.

The Mayor in all his hindsight has forgotten to mention to the citizens that we have some very qualified, dedicated, and professional employees within the police department. Personally, I put more emphasis on the dedication of an individual and the quality of his work than on where the individual lives.

Neither the City Manager or the Mayor has mentioned our proofs of quality work. During the year of 1977 we have had an overall decrease in crime of 5.9%. The National average for PART I (serious) crimes shows an increase of 9% where we have shown only an increase of 1.2% in PART I crimes. PART II crimes (crimes minor in nature) show a decrease of 15.9% for the year 1977. It is unheard of for a city to punish its police department when the department is meeting the goals which the public has placed upon it, which is the protection of life and property. A cutback of one third of our department can certainly be construed as "negligent."

You as citizens of Benton Harbor pay the maximum in taxes allowed by state law. You deserve the maximum in police protection. Under the proposed lay-off of policemen by the present city administration you will be receiving "minimum protection."

The order to cut back personnel is strictly a management or administrative decision. If the city administration doesn't want the citizens of Benton Harbor to have the protection they need and deserve it is a decision for which the city administration, and not us, will have to be accountable for.

Charles Cannon, 21, 318 South Main, and Glenn Beeson, 23, route 3, Dannelhof road, told troopers they had been looking for a friend and followed a car they believed to be hers for a short while when the driver forced them over on CR-652.

Cannon and Beeson said the man pointed a rifle at them, demanded to know why they had been following him, and then drove away.

Troopers said they questioned a suspect and confiscated a Japanese-made rifle. The man was not arrested but the incident remains under investigation, police said.

Well In Gobles Must Get Okay

GOBLES — The Gobles city commission last night withheld its approval of a request of a private citizen who wants to drill a water well on his property in the city.

Commission members told Anthony Brott he will have to obtain first the approval of the Van Buren county health department before the city will consider the request.

Brott, who is connected to the city water system, said he wants to use the proposed well to water flowers and the lawn at his home on East Van Buren street.

The health department in some past cases has discouraged private wells within an area served by a municipal water system for fear that an illegal cross-connection would contaminate the municipal system.

In other action, the commission voted to seek bids for the painting, inside and out, of the city's water tower. It was last painted four years ago.

The commission also voted to seek state highway department permission to hang banners across M-40 in the city; one a Bicentennial banner and the other proclaiming Gobles as the home of Miss Kimberly Smith, the 1976 Miss Blossom.

The council also hired James Lant, a former Muskegon police officer, as a fulltime city police officer to replace Henry Van-Dyken who left on March 31. Lant's salary will be paid by CETA funds, as was Van-Dyken's.

With Lant, the city has two fulltime and two part-time police officers.

Mayor Timothy Peters and Commissioners Steve Kruger and Gilbert Gerke were authorized by the commission to decide whether the city should repair its present two-year-old ing law enforcement and police administration and this semester I have applied for graduation.

The Mayor in all his hindsight has forgotten to mention to the citizens that we have some very qualified, dedicated, and professional employees within the police department. Personally, I put more emphasis on the dedication of an individual and the quality of his work than on where the individual lives.

Neither the City Manager or the Mayor has mentioned our proofs of quality work. During the year of 1975 we have had an overall decrease in crime of 5.9%. The National average for PART I (serious) crimes shows an increase of 9% where we have shown only an increase of 1.2% in PART I crimes. PART II crimes (crimes minor in nature) show a decrease of 15.9% for the year 1975. It is unheard of for a city to punish its police department when the department is meeting the goals which the public has placed upon it, which is the protection of life and property. A cutback of one third of our department can certainly be construed as "negligent".

You as citizens of Benton Harbor pay the maximum in taxes allowed by state law. You deserve the maximum in police protection. Under the proposed lay-off of policemen by the present city administration you will be receiving "minimum protection".

The order to cut back personnel is strictly a management or administrative decision. If the city administration doesn't want the citizens of Benton Harbor to have the protection they need and deserve it is a decision for which the city administration, and not us, will have to be accountable for.

Well In Gobles Must Get Okay

GOBLES — The Gobles city commission last night withheld its approval of a request of a private citizen who wants to drill a water well on his property in the city.

Commission members told Anthony Brott he will have to obtain first the approval of the Van Buren county health department before the city will consider the request.

Brott, who is connected to the city water system, said he wants to use the proposed well to water flowers and the lawn at his home on East Van Buren street.

The health department in some past cases has discouraged private wells within an area served by a municipal water system for fear that an illegal cross-connection would contaminate the municipal system.

In other action, the commission voted to seek bids for the painting, inside and out, of the city's water tower. It was last painted four years ago.

The commission also voted to seek state highway department permission to hang banners across M-40 in the city; one a Bicentennial banner and the other proclaiming Gobles as the home of Miss Kimberly Smith, the 1976 Miss Blossomtime.

The council also hired James Lant, a former Muskegon police officer, as a fulltime city police officer to replace Henry Van-Dyken who left on March 31. Lant's salary will be paid by CETA funds, as was Van-Dyken's.

With Lant, the city has two fulltime and two part-time police officers.

Mayor Timothy Peters and Commissioners Steve Kruger and Gilbert Gerhke were authorized by the commission to decide whether the city should repair its present two-year-old police car, rent one or advertise for bids on a new one.

The commission announced that city cleanup week will be the week of April 26 and a street truck will be picking up trash placed at the curbs.

Paul Weston received permission to hold a public square dancing session at the tennis courts from 3 to 5 p.m., Saturday, May 22. The Bicentennial dance is being sponsored by the Gobles-based Tangle-Foot Square dance club.

Tax Deadline Has Million Scurrying

DETROIT (AP) — Don't feel alone as you scurry about to file your federal and state tax returns by the deadline of midnight tonight.

Nearly a million Michigan residents are in the same boat. The Internal Revenue Service said that as of last Friday, about 2.5 million tax returns had been filed, far short of the anticipated 3.4 million U.S. taxpayers who have to settle up with Uncle Sam.

The IRS said refund checks for Michigan are running at an all-time high, averaging $471.80 compared to $456.41 last year.

No Criminal Intent

CENTREVILLE, Mich. (AP) — A state Department of Labor audit has disclosed no criminal intent to defraud despite overpayments of nearly $60,000 under a federal program in St. Joseph County. But the auditors told county commissioners in a report Tuesday night that $15,000 in Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds still haven't been repaid. County officials said repayments are to come from agencies receiving the overpayments. Most of them probably will be handled through reductions in funds allocated those agencies, a spokesman added. State officials set an April 30 deadline for a full report on the county's program. The audit blamed lack of a formal accounting system for the overpayments, which were discovered last August.

School Tax Bill Ready

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — School districts that raise property taxes would not lose state money under legislation on its way to Gov. William Milliken. The House Wednesday gave final legislative approval 92-0 to the measure, sponsored by Rep. John Bennett, D-Detroit. The bill takes effect immediately after signing. The state school aid law says if a district raises its property taxes, state funding could be lowered by the same amount, leaving the district with no net gain. The bill will cost the state an estimated $2 million.

Good News, Anglers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Smelt dippers, steelhead, salmon and brown trout will be in abundant supply over Easter weekend, the Automobile Club of Michigan reported Wednesday. The auto club said surveys show good fishing can be found in Lake Huron at Port Huron, the Whitney drain below Tawas City and at Alpena. Good catches in the tributaries leading to Lake Michigan can be found in the Black, Kalamazoo, Galien, St. Joseph, Big and Little Manistee, Platte, Boardman and Jordan rivers.

Bottle Ban Petition

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has launched a campaign to place legislation banning most throwaway beverage containers on the November ballot, but he apparently lacks the full support of some of his aides. In a ceremony in his office Wednesday, Milliken placed the first signature on a petition circulated by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) to place the issue on the ballot. The legislation would require a deposit on containers to encourage their re-use. Milliken says if the measure becomes law it will conserve energy, create jobs and help beautify the state. But two Milliken appointees said they are not convinced the legislation would not harm Michigan's economy.

Detroit Aid Plan Unveiled

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An eight-point plan to boost Detroit's revenues by $40.9 million next fiscal year was formally unveiled to the legislature Wednesday by Gov. William Milliken. Milliken emphasized the plan, negotiated last week with Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, "is not a bail-out Detroit" package. "I believe this one-year package represents equity in the state's treatment of its largest city that is both deserved and desperately needed," Milliken said. The plan will cost the state $33.5 million, and needs the approval of the legislature. Along with budget cuts and layoffs that will save the city $46 million next fiscal year, the plan Milliken announced is intended to cut the city's expected $86 million deficit to less than $10 million.

Public Works Board Hears Rejected Bidder Protest

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of public works (BPW) Wednesday heard verbal protests from a contractor whose bid was rejected for construction of the Chikaming township sewage collection system and who claimed it would not be fair to re-bid the project.

The board did not respond to the protest but has scheduled a special meeting for sometime early next week to announce whether or not the project will be re-bid.

A written appeal of the rejected $9.7 million bid had previously been filed by the contractor, John P. Reilly & Co., Inc., and Sullivan Brothers Excavating, Inc., doing business as one firm and operating out of New Hudson, Mich.

Yesterday Reilly and his counsel, Atty. Michael Reilly (a brother) and St. Joseph Atty. Ronald Marchione verbally protested the bid rejection, claiming the Reilly bid was a responsive low bid that reflected the market.

The appeal centers around the BPW's rejection of all bids on the Chikaming project as being too high, since engineers' estimates were originally $8.1 million, although BPW Director Robert Barnes said the engineers' new estimate is about $9 million. The Chikaming system will be part of the Galien River sanitary district, a sewer system to serve Chikaming and New Buffalo townships and the City of New Buffalo.

After the written protest was filed, the board referred it to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, which is to provide a grant for the system, asking that it be dismissed for lack of basis for an appeal. The EPA kicked it back to the BPW, saying the protester had to be given an opportunity to air complaints verbally.

Barnes said the next step in the process is to resolve the issue, "and the options are to re-bid the project or not re-bid it." He said he could give no indication what the board's action would be. Barnes added that other bidders for the project would be given until Friday to submit their opinions to the BPW so the board can consider them in making the final decision.

The board had been scheduled to open new bids on the project on Tuesday but was unable to do so because of the protest, Barnes explained, and said the bids are in limbo until the issue is resolved. "It's our responsibility to determine the best price," he emphasized.

He noted, though, that the protest has not upset the timetable for the entire project, since the other projects are not contingent on completion of the Chikaming phase. He did note that Reilly could appeal the BPW's decision back to the EPA.

The hassle began after the apparent low bidder for the Chikaming project had bid on four phases of the entire sewer system as one lump project, but qualified the bid, saying the amount would hold only if the contractor, Woodruff & Sons, of Michigan City, was awarded all four.

Woodruff's bid was rejected because it was qualified, making the Reilly bid the next lowest, but the board rejected that and all others as being too high. The protest claims Reilly should be awarded the contract since it was a low bidder. However, the contracts and advertisements for bids include the phrase that the BPW "has the right to reject any and all bids."

Tax Man Leaving

Michael Callender, Berrien county's director of tax description, will leave Friday from the post he's held for nearly eight years to operate a grocery store.

Callender, 36, announced he has purchased Bill's Food Mart at the corner of Red Arrow highway and Lake Street in Bridgman and will give up his county post to run the store. The new name, appropriately, will be Mike's Market.

Callender would have been director of the department for eight years in June. Tax description prepares and prints

Two Galien Students Cleared Of Charges

Two students charged with tearing up the lawn of Galien high school in a car were freed yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court because a third student retracted an earlier statement implicating them, according to the prosecutor's office. Charges of malicious destruction to property valued over $100 were dismissed yesterday against William Roundy and Steve Day, both 17 and both of Buffalo road, Galien.

It had been alleged that the teenagers dared a juvenile to spin an auto around on the grounds, according to Asst. Prosecutor Quentin Fulcher.

The juvenile, apparently alone in the auto, first claimed he accepted the dare and caused some $1,000 damage to the lawn, Fulcher said.

Charges were dismissed because the juvenile, who has been petitioned into Juvenile court on the same charge, retracted his first story and said the teens weren't involved, Fulcher said.

Twin Cities municipal buildings will be closed either half a day or all day Friday in observance of Good Friday while banks, state and federal offices will remain open at regular hours. The Berrien county courthouse will also be open until noon. Trash pickups normally scheduled for Friday in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor will be made Monday. St. Joseph township will have regular trash pickup Friday and Benton township will pick up trash for half a day. Most savings and loans offices will also be open at regular hours. The Bridgman, Coloma and Buchanan branches of the LaSalle Federal savings and loan, however, will be closed during the afternoon. The Coloma and Bridgman branch offices will be closed from 12:30 to 3 p.m. and the Buchanan office will be closed from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Say Welfare Errors Down

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State officials claim cuts in Michigan's welfare error rate are saving $52 million a year, a significant improvement over the mistake-plagued system of a year ago. Mistakes still are being made and the blame is shared by welfare recipients and welfare workers alike, officials say. But the addition of about 750 Department of Social Services case workers in the past year helped cut the error cost from $87 million to $35 million, officials said. As the welfare system gets closer scrutiny, officials find welfare workers themselves contribute to mistakes, said Joseph LaTosa, Department of Social Services deputy director of field services. Leading causes for errors, he said, are failure to take action on information, policy misinterpretation, failure to verify information from recipients, failure to update department manuals, failure to properly organize cases and a "chaotic work environment."

Public Works Board Hears Rejected Bidder Protest

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of public works (BPW) Wednesday heard verbal protests from a contractor whose bid was rejected for construction of the Chikaming township sewage collection system and who claimed it would not be fair to re-bid the project.

The board did not respond to the protest but has scheduled a special meeting for sometime early next week to announce whether or not the project will be re-bid.

A written appeal of the rejected $9.7 million bid had previously been filed by the contractor, John P. Reilly & Co., Inc., and Sullivan Brothers Excavating, Inc., doing business as one firm and operating out of New Hudson, Mich.

Yesterday Reilly and his counsel, Atty. Michael Reilly (a brother) and St. Joseph Atty. Ronald Marchione verbally protested the bid rejection, claiming the Reilly bid was a responsive low bid that reflected the market.

The appeal centers around the BPW's rejection of all bids on the Chikaming project as being too high, since engineers' estimates were originally $8.1 million, although BPW Director Robert Barnes said the engineers' new estimate is about $9 million. The Chikaming system will be part of the Galien River Sanitary district, a sewer system to serve Chikaming and New Buffalo townships and the City of New Buffalo.

After the written protest was filed, the board referred it to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, which is to provide a grant for the system, asking that it be dismissed for lack of basis for an appeal. The EPA kicked it back to the BPW, saying the protester had to be given an opportunity to air complaints verbally.

Barnes said the next step in the process is to resolve the issue, "and the options are to re-bid the project or not re-bid it." He said he could give no indication what the board's action would be. Barnes added that other bidders for the project would be given until Friday to submit their opinions to the BPW so the board can consider them in making the final decision.

The board had been scheduled to open new bids on the project on Tuesday but was unable to do so because of the protest, Barnes explained, and said the bids are in limbo until the issue is resolved. "It's our responsibility to determine the best price," he emphasized.

He noted, though, that the protest has not upset the time-

The hassle began after the apparent low bidder for the Chikaming project had bid on

Woodruff's bid was rejected because it was qualified, making the Reilly bid the next

Tax Man Leaving

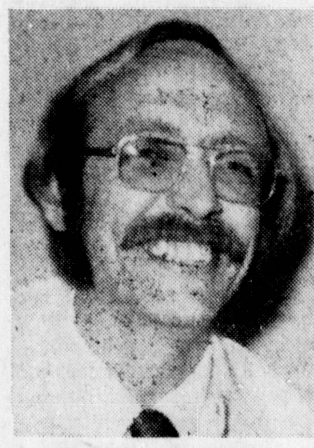

Michael Callender, Berrien county's director of tax description, will leave Friday from the post he's held for nearly eight years to operate a grocery store.

Callender, 36, announced he has purchased Bill's Food Mart at the corner of Red Arrow highway and Lake street in Bridgman and will give up his county post to run the store. The new name, appropriately, will be Mike's Market.

Callender would have been director of the department for eight years in June. Tax description prepares and prints the assessment rolls for the 39 taxing units in the county, and also makes new descriptions of properties when deeds or land contracts require the splitting of present property.

County Coordinator Roger Petrie said the board of commissioners' affairs committee hopes to select a replacement to the $13,900 per year post as soon as possible.

Two Galien Students Cleared Of Charges

Two students charged with tearing up the lawn of Galien high school in a car were freed yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court because a third student retracted an earlier statement implicating them, according to the prosecutor's office. Charges of malicious destruction to property valued over $100 were dismissed yesterday against William Roundy and Steve Day, both 17 and both of Buffalo road, Galien.

It had been alleged that the teenagers dared a juvenile to spin an auto around on the grounds, according to Asst. Prosecutor Quentin Fulcher.

The juvenile, apparently alone in the auto, first claimed he accepted the dare and caused some $1,000 damage to the lawn, Fulcher said.

Charges were dismissed because the juvenile, who has been petitioned into Juvenile court on the same charge, retracted his first story and said the teens weren't involved, Fulcher said.

Say Welfare Errors Down

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State officials claim cuts in Michigan's welfare error rate are saving $52 million a year, a significant improvement over the mistake-plagued system of a year ago. Mistakes still are being made and the blame is shared by welfare recipients and welfare workers alike, officials say. But the addition of about 750 Department of Social Services case workers in the past year helped cut the error cost from $87 million to $35 million, officials said. As the welfare system gets closer scrutiny, officials find welfare workers themselves contribute to mistakes, said Joseph LaRosa, Department of Social Services deputy director of field services. Leading causes for errors, he said, are failure to take action on information, policy misinterpretation, failure to verify information from recipients, failure to update department manuals, failure to properly organize cases and a "chaotic work environment."

HUD Gaining On Abandoned Homes Backlog, Hills Says

By CHARLES C. CAIN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Diminutive Carla Hills, secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), Wednesday faced some of her sharpest critics who asked why HUD has not done more to deal with nearly 10,000 abandoned properties in the Motor City.

The highest ranking woman member of President Ford's Administration conceded there still is a lot of work to be done, but insisted cooperation between federal, state and Detroit agencies would go a long way towards solving the problem.

"I want to do it now in a partnership with the city and state so there is no duplication of effort, no friction," she said.

However, she added, "I have nothing I can throw over Detroit which would solve all its housing problems."

The secretary noted that the HUD Detroit inventory has fallen by almost 3,000 in just more than a year and that sales are outstripping acquisitions by 200 per month.

"The proposition before us is how we must act to prevent a continuing cycle of wrongs," she said.

She defended the staff of her Detroit HUD office and said a string of 217 indictments, 17 of them involving HUD employees, was ancient history.

Secretary Hills, who took office in March, 1975, said she had "complete faith in the present staff of the Detroit HUD office but added, "We will be monitoring the office," to make certain standards are maintained.

She toured blighted and restored areas with Gov. William Milliken.

She conceded HUD "undoubtedly aggravated the problems" but declared its initial unsuccessful response was "mandated by Congress, prompted in turn by a well-meaning desire to answer urgent cries for help from cities and their governing bodies."

HUD, she said, was "anything but the agent in the headlines in the lives of Detroit 10 years ago" and was firmed to help stop the spread of ghettos.

Problems were intensified two years later, she said, when "Congress gave HUD a new set of directions... to the expansion of home ownership opportunities in those on the lowest rung of the income ladder."

HUD "may seem the evil culprit to some of its Detroit critics but it was a target of opportunists... as cynical operators in the private sector zeroed in to blick the poor, beat the government and line their pockets with the taxpayers' money."

She said defaults and foreclosures followed. "HUD wound up with more properties which it never wanted, unsound houses with serious internal ruptures, houses which the new owners could not afford to begin with and did not have the money to maintain in any event."

Broker Sought In 'Misidentification' Case

CHICAGO (AP) — A South Side funeral director has identified a missing Florida stockbroker Estel Blevins as the man who arranged cremation for a body misidentified as being Blevins, the Chicago Tribune said today.

The newspaper said it obtained a photograph of Blevins, 32, from sources in Clearwater, Fla., and reporters showed it in funeral director John McDonald late Wednesday.

"The Tribune quoted McDonald as saying "This is the guy. This is the man who came in, here all business and talked to me eyeball to eyeball for a total of a half hour. I remember his eyes."

McDonald reportedly said he was suspicious that the man who identified himself as William R. Hamilton of Jackson, Mich., paid for the cremation before the body was identified at the Cook County Morgue.

The corpse had been taken from the Chicago River March 25 and lay unclaimed in the morgue until the well-dressed "Hamilton" identified it as being Blevins, his brother-in-law, and claimed it.

The body already had been cremated when a routine fingerprint check by the FBI revealed that it was, in truth, the body of Joseph Tallarico, 55, a retired Navy diver from Chicago. Attorneys for Hamilton, an unemployed motorcycle mechanic, have denied that their client had anything to do with the misidentification.

Blevins last was seen when he left his home and office for a sudden vacation in Chicago on March 22.

Pointed investigators say Tallarico was killed by a fatal combination of alcohol and morphine. They said Wednesday they were seeking the missing Blevins for questioning on the death of Tallarico and possible insurance fraud.

Patty May Name Trio Of Bombers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With Patricia Hearst recuperating from a collapsed lung, new clues have emerged about her life as a fugitive and two of her underground escorts have been charged with kidnapping her.

Miss Hearst was reported "mildly improved" at Sequoia Hospital in nearby Redwood City on Wednesday, the day she had been scheduled to enter a plea on state charges in a joint Los Angeles court appearance with William and Emily Harris.

Miss Hearst, convicted last month of joining the Symbionese Liberation Army captors in the robbery of a San Francisco bank and facing 90 days of mental examination, was stricken in her jail cell Tuesday night.

DETAINED: Nobel Peace Prize winner Andrej Sakharov, and his wife Yelena, were detained in Siberian city of Omsk Wednesday for allegedly striking militia officers, the Soviet news agency Tass reported. The Sakharovs were released after giving a statement at a militia station, Tass said. (AP Wirephoto)

TAKES OATH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Banker Thomas S. Gates has received the rank of ambassador in his new role as the top American diplomat in Peking. President Ford also pledged to continue efforts for normalization of relations with China.

The Harris were charged Wednesday with kidnapping Miss Hearst from her Berkeley apartment on Feb. 4, 1974, beating her former fiancé and committing other violent crimes.

A district attorney in another San Francisco Bay area city said, meanwhile, that Miss Hearst had told FBI agents of witnessing a terrorist bombing.

The developments underscored earlier reports of the 22-year-old newspaper heiress' willingness to exchange information about revolutionary crimes for immunity from prosecution.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said Wednesday that Miss Hearst had told the FBI she was with a group that bombed two sheriff's patrol cars in San Rafael last Aug. 20 — less than a month before her arrest in San Francisco.

Bales said he learned Tuesday at a meeting of prosecutors involved in the Hearst case that she had offered to name three members of the bombing cadre if she were spared of charges against herself. Miss Hearst told investigators she was "present at the bombings but didn't actually throw the bombs," Bales said.

Two sheriff's cars were destroyed, but there were no injuries.

As Miss Hearst lay in a heavily guarded hospital room Wednesday, a Los Angeles judge postponed the pretrial hearing she had been scheduled to attend. Judge Mark Brandler also urged attorneys for Miss Hearst's codefendants — the Harris — to consider starting the trial without her.

Miss Hearst and the Harris face kidnapping and other state charges in connection with an alleged crime spree in Los Angeles a month after the April 15, 1974, San Francisco bank robbery for which Miss Hearst was convicted last month.

The heiress' attorneys have sought to separate her Los Angeles trial from that of the Harris, whom she denounced and identified during her trial as part of the terrorist SLA band that kidnapped her.

The Harris' lawyers have opposed such a move. As for the Berkeley charges, they said the radical couple would plead innocent.

Patty May Name Trio Of Bombers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With Patricia Hearst recuperating from a collapsed lung, new clues have emerged about her life as a fugitive and two of her underground escorts have been charged with kidnaping her.

Miss Hearst was reported "mildly improved" at Sequoia Hospital in nearby Redwood City on Wednesday, the day she had been scheduled to enter a plea on state charges in a joint Los Angeles court appearance with William and Emily Harris.

Miss Hearst, convicted last month of joining her Symphonies Liberation Army captors in the robbery of a San Francisco bank and facing 90 days of mental examination, was stricken in her jail cell Tuesday night.

DETAINED: Nobel Peace Prize winner Andrei Sakharov, and his wife Yelena, were detained in Siberian city of Omsk Wednesday for allegedly striking militia officers, the Soviet news agency Tass reported. The Sakharovs were released after giving a statement at a militia station, Tass said. (AP Wirephoto)

TAKES OATH WASHINGTON (AP) — Banker Thomas S. Gates has received the rank of ambassador in his new role as the top American diplomat in Peking. President Ford also pledged to continue efforts for normalization of relations with China.

The Harrises were charged Wednesday with kidnaping Miss Hearst from her Berkeley apartment on Feb. 4, 1974, beating her former fiancé and committing other violent crimes.

A district attorney in another San Francisco Bay area city said, meanwhile, that Miss Hearst had told FBI agents of witnessing a terrorist bombing.

The developments underscored earlier reports of the 22-year-old newspaper heiress' willingness to exchange information about revolutionary crimes for immunity from prosecution.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said Wednesday that Miss Hearst had told the FBI she was with a group that bombed two sheriff's patrol cars in San Rafael last Aug. 20 — less than a month before her arrest in San Francisco.

Bales said he learned Tuesday at a meeting of prosecutors involved in the Hearst case that she had offered to name three members of the bombing cadre if she were spared of charges against herself. Miss Hearst told investigators she was "present at the bombings but didn't actually throw the bombs," Bales said.

Two sheriff's cars were destroyed, but there were no injuries.

As Miss Hearst lay in a heavily guarded hospital room Wednesday, a Los Angeles judge postponed the pretrial hearing she had been scheduled to attend. Judge Mark Brandler also urged attorneys for Miss Hearst's codefendants — the Harrises — to consider starting the trial without her.

Miss Hearst and the Harrises face kidnaping and other state charges in connection with an alleged crime spree in Los Angeles a month after the April 15, 1974, San Francisco bank robbery for which Miss Hearst was convicted last month.

The heiress' attorneys have sought to separate her Los Angeles trial from that of the Harrises, whom she denounced and identified during her trial as part of the terrorist SLA band that kidnaped her.

The Harrises' lawyers have opposed such a move. As for the Berkeley charges, they said the radical couple would plead innocent.

U-M Prof Outlines Findings In Low Student Scores

By WARREN E. LEARY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The continuing decline in percentile test scores can be blamed more on family size and the spacing of children than on television or permissiveness, a psychologist says.

Dr. Robert B. Zajonc, psychology professor at the University of Michigan, said Wednesday there was no evidence supporting the assertions of some educators that score declines were caused by television, too much freedom, or more poor and minority group students taking the tests.

Instead, changing family size, intervals between the births of children, and the absence of a parent and other factors correlate "remarkably well" with a steady decline in test scores over the last 12 years, Zajonc said in an interview.

Average scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), a major precollege examination given high school seniors, dropped from 490 in 1963 to 459 in 1975.

Using data from SAT, the U.S. census and other demographic studies, Zajonc concluded that individual intelligence levels generally declined with increased family size, and that children born early in a family did better on intelligence tests than later children when the intervals between births was relatively short.

The study also found that long intervals between births enhance intellectual growth — particularly for the first children — but that in only child was intellectually handicapped like the last child born in a family.

Children in smaller families gain by learning from and teaching one another, the study continued, and the absence of a parent also is associated with lower intellectual performance.

"Temporal changes in family patterns such as birthrates, average order of births, intervals between children, and family size are reflected in temporal changes in aggregate measures of intellectual performance," the study concluded.

Children born between 1947 and 1962 — those responsible for declining SAT scores in the last 12 years and anticipated declines in the near future — generally tend to be in family configurations that are less conducive to good intellectual performance, Zajonc said.

While only 25 per cent of all children took SATs, the testing group is from a population that generally come from larger, more closely-spaced families, and fewer in proportion are first borns.

"While it is difficult to determine how big a factor family configuration plays in the drop in test scores, we estimate that 30 to 50 per cent of the drop can be attributed to it," Zajonc said.

Zajonc, in a paper published in the April 16 issue of the journal Science, said the downward trend should continue until about 1990. At that time, the computer model projects that scores will begin to increase again as children from better configured families are tested.

Children born since 1963 have been shown in some elementary school tests to be improving on the results of their predecessors, the study said. Smaller family size and other factors enhancing intellectual performance are more prevalent for this group, Zajonc said.

As these children reach SAT age, scores gradually will begin to improve, he said.

On March 26, 1776, a New York printer complained to the Committee of Safety that local merchants had harassed him for printing a reply to Thomas Paine's "Common Sense". He was accused of disloyalty to the patriotic cause and all of his leaflets were destroyed. The World Almanac reports.

Campaign Finances Wither

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the presidential candidates, cut off from federal matching funds for nearly a month, are in various stages of financial desperation and some of them are just plain broke.

The flow of federal matching funds, which had pumped some $12 million into the various campaigns since the first of the year, ended abruptly on March 22, when the Federal Election Commission lost its power to "pay out taxpayers' money because of a Supreme Court ruling.

It was up to Congress to meet Supreme Court objections to the makeup of the FEC and put the commission back in business. But the bill to do that is just now being put in final form, and it faces a possible veto by one of the candidates — President Ford.

Ford's campaign is one of the few that remains financially healthy, despite the lack of federal matching funds, and in fact is reporting figures that show it is the most solvent campaign.

In the latest report on campaign funds, Ford's election committee told the FEC last week it has a cash balance of $777,232 on hand.

On the Democratic side, only former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter and Sen. Henry M. Jackson have reported to the FEC that they are financially sound.

The financial situation faced by Alabama Gov. George Wallace is somewhat fuzzy. Wallace has been known to have been cutting back, closing headquarters and dismissing paid campaign workers, but his aides maintain his campaign is solvent.

MINNESOTA

Joe Rolette Folk Hero To Rival Paul Bunyan, Hubert Humphrey

By PAT SARGENT

AUSTIN, Minn. (NEA) — Ask Minnesotans about the state's most colorful personality and most will offer a quick answer such as the former vice president, Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Insist on someone from the past and they're likely to name Paul Bunyan, that lovable old opening of the legislature.

Joe appreciated the city life and by today's standards, would be classified as a swinger. It's a known fact that whenever they heard a ruckus in the streets, residents remarked, "It's got to be a big fire or else Joe Rolette is in town."

He never failed to locate the best tailor to fit him for new suit fectly. As he started to speak, the tired senators heard only the sound of the gavel and the president's declaration, "council adjourned!"

St. Paul had saved its status as the capital and Joe was the hero. Things were different back in those times. No senate committee called on him to answer a lot of questions. No one — citizens or congressmen — demanded an investigation. No radical group threatened him.

But it was the end of his influence in Minnesota politics. In 1888, Minnesota became a state and Joe's community of Pembina was outside the new boundary lines.

Many people forgot Joe Rolette, but not the Minnesota Historical Society in whose building hangs a life-size portrait of the man with the inscription: "Joe Rolette who saved the capital St. Paul by running away with the bill to remove it to St. Peter in 1857."

Here's Number 23

mythical-giant who stomped around Minnesota leaving 10,000 lakes in his footsteps.

However, a well-informed Minnesotan might name Joe Rolette. Most people never heard of Joe Rolette, but no matter — he was a colorful character. Active too — and influential in Minnesota's history.

Joe liked politics and politics must have liked him, for Joe was elected to several terms in the territorial legislature, beginning in 1852. Joe always wanted people to know he was around. He was boisterous and a bit of a show-off and enjoyed his nickname "Jolly Joe."

Leaving his home and fur trading business in the huge far northern county of Pembina, which he represented, Joe would make the trip by dog sled, the sound of bells announcing his journey all the way to St. Paul. His arrival became one of the events to mark the

and the cost never bothered Joe since he always had the bill sent to Henry Rice, the territory's delegate in Washington. Rice never objected since he was well aware of Joe's control over Pembina votes.

After four terms in the House of Representatives, in 1857 Rolette became a territorial senator and saved the City of St. Paul as the capital of Minnesota.

A group of politicians introduced a bill to move the capital to St. Peter, a smaller city in the southern part of the territory. St. Paul residents were shaken — St. Paul had been the capital since Minnesota was organized in 1849. And they expected it to remain so, although the question of a permanent site should come before the voters as ordered by the constitution.

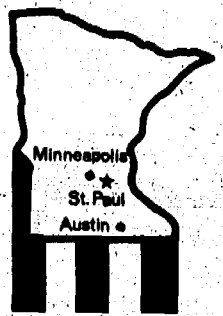

The vote was eight to seven to move the capital. Word got out that the move was backed by the St. Peter Land Co. and that Gov. Willis Gorman held a large interest in the firm. Rumors also insisted the company had given deeds to valuable property in St. Peter, to several legislators. The attorney-general's opinion that the legislature could not move the capital without a vote by the people didn't impress anyone and the House of Representatives followed the council's action.

Joe sided with the St. Paul folks, voting against the move, but it became obvious more drastic action was necessary if he was to become a hero. Since he was chairman of the committee on enrolled bills, it was Joe's responsibility to have the bill put into form for the signatures of the presidents of the house, council and the governor. Well, once Joe had the original bill and the enrolled copy in his hands, he left the capital. He was absent for roll call the next day. Quickly, an opponent of the bill offered a motion for "a call of the council" which stopped all proceedings until the missing member was located and had taken his seat.

That proved to be a difficult task. Joe had dropped out of sight. Some people insisted he had been kidnapped. Others heard he'd gone home to Pembina. No one knew for sure — or so his friends insisted.

So for 123 hours, the council could not adjourn. The council's sergeant-at-arms never found the senator although it became known later, he was among friends who visited Rolette nightly for dinner and drinks in a room at the St. Paul hotel.

Finally, more than a week later, on the day the session would expire, Joe strode into the room, his arrival timed per-

MINNESOTA

Joe Rolette Folk Hero To Rival Paul Bunyan, Hubert Humphrey

By PAT SARGENT
AUSTIN, Minn. (NEA) — Ask Minnesotans about the state's most colorful personality and most will offer a quick answer such as the former vice president, Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Insist on someone from the past and they're likely to name Paul Bunyan, that lovable old opening of the legislature. Joe appreciated the city life and by today's standards, would be classified as a swinger. It's a known fact that whenever they heard a ruckus in the streets, residents remarked, "It's got to be a big fire or else Joe Rolette is in town."

He never failed to locate the best tailor to fit him for new suit fectly. As he started to speak, the tired senators heard only the sound of the gavel and the president's declaration, "council adjourned!"

St. Paul had saved its status as the capital and Joe was the hero. Things were different back in those times. No senate committee called on him to answer a lot of questions. No one — citizens or congressmen — demanded an investigation. No radical group threatened him.

But it was the end of his influence in Minnesota politics. In 1858, Minnesota became a state and Joe's community of Pembina was outside the new boundary lines.

Many people forgot Joe Rolette, but not the Minnesota Historical Society in whose building hangs a life-size portrait of the man with the inscription: "Joe Rolette who saved the capital St. Paul by running away with the bill to remove it to St. Peter in 1857."

Here's Number 23

Here's the 23rd in a series of stories on some of the colorful history, facts and people of each of America's 50 states. Today's author is on the staff of the Austin (Minn.) Daily Herald.

mythical-giant who stomped around Minnesota leaving 10,000 lakes in his footsteps.

However, a well-informed Minnesotan might name Joe Rolette. Most people never heard of Joe Rolette, but no matter — he was a colorful character. Active too — and influential in Minnesota's history.

Joe liked politics and politics must have liked him, for Joe was elected to several terms in the territorial legislature, beginning in 1852. Joe always wanted people to know he was around. He was boisterous and a bit of a show-off and enjoyed his nickname "Jolly Joe."

Leaving his home and fur trading business in the huge far northern county of Pembina, which he represented, Joe would make the trip by dog sled, the sound of bells announcing his journey all the way to St. Paul. His arrival became one of the events to mark the

and the cost never bothered Joe since he always had the bill sent to Henry Rice, the territory's delegate in Washington. Rice never objected since he was well aware of Joe's control over Pembina votes.

After four terms in the House of Representatives, in 1857 Rolette became a territorial senator and saved the City of St. Paul as the capital of Minnesota.

A group of politicians introduced a bill to move the capital to St. Peter, a smaller city in the southern part of the territory. St. Paul residents were shaken — St. Paul had been the capital since Minnesota was organized in 1849. And they expected it to remain so, although the question of a permanent site should come before the voters as ordered by the constitution.

The vote was eight to seven to move the capital. Word got out that the move was backed by the St. Peter Land Co. and that Gov. Willis Gorman held a large interest in the firm. Rumors also insisted the company had given deeds to valuable property in St. Peter, to several legislators. The attorney-general's opinion that the legislature could not move the capital without a vote by the people didn't impress anyone and the House of Representatives followed the council's action.

Joe sided with the St. Paul folks, voting against the move, but it became obvious more drastic action was necessary if he was to become a hero. Since he was chairman of the committee on enrolled bills, it was Joe's responsibility to have the bill put into form for the signatures of the presidents of the house, council and the governor.

Well, once Joe had the original bill and the enrolled copy in his hands, he left the capital. He was absent for roll call the next day. Quickly, an opponent of the bill offered a motion for "a call of the council" which stopped all proceedings until the missing member was located and had taken his seat.

That proved to be a difficult task. Joe had dropped out of sight. Some people insisted he had been kidnapped. Others heard he'd gone home to Pembina. No one knew for sure — or so his friends insisted.

So for 123 hours, the council could not adjourn. The council's sergeant-at-arms never found the senator although it became known later, he was among friends who visited Rolette nightly for dinner and drinks in a room at the St. Paul hotel.

Finally, more than a week later, on the day the session would expire, Joe strode into the room, his arrival timed per-

Environmentalists Kill Giant Utah Power Plant

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Environmentalists rejoiced over the shelving of plans for the country's largest coal-fired electricity plant in the scenic Kaiparowits Plateau in southern Utah. But some supporters of the project reacted bitterly, saying the nation's bid for energy self-sufficiency was seriously hurt by the move.

Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, said Wednesday after the announcement that "radical environmentalists have won their victory."

Set aside — though maybe not permanently — was a $2.5-billion project to build the plant and operate four coal mines on Kaiparowits Plateau, near Lake

Powell and the Glen Canyon National Recreation Area. The plant would have generated 3 million kilowatts — enough for a city of 3 million — with most of the power going to Southern California and Arizona.

Two of the participating utilities, Southern California Edison Co. and San Diego Gas and Electric Co., said they took the Kaiparowits project off the drawing boards because of rising costs, anticipated regulatory objections, lawsuits and legislative opposition.

The third sponsor, Arizona Public Service Co., said it was disappointed with the development and could not handle the project alone.

In Los Angeles, Southern California Edison's executive vice president, William R. Gould, said his utility will have to look for sources of energy elsewhere. "At the present time, that would appear to be oil," he said.

Richard Mandlin, chairman of the California Energy Commission, said the panel probably will speed up hearings on future out-of-state energy projects.

"If you look at one supply scenario, California will be highly dependent on out-of-state sources and therefore highly reliant upon out-of-state regulatory bodies," he said.

The companies said the project might be reinstated, and Arizona Public Service said it was studying the feasibility of continuing with other participants.

In Washington, however, Interior Secretary Thomas Kleppe said his department had put the issue on a back burner. Earlier, he had said he would decide by the end of April whether to approve construction.

The controversy had been intensifying in recent weeks.

Parts of five national parks, three national monuments, as well as the Glen Canyon recreation area, are within 90 miles of the proposed plant site.

"We're very pleased," John McComb of the Sierra Club said in Tucson, Ariz.

He took issue with claims of victory for environmentalists themselves, saying, "Simply the Kaiparowits site was the worst to put a power plant and that was reflected in the controversy."

Utah Gov. Calvin Rampton, a vigorous supporter of Kaiparowits, said the decision struck a serious blow at the attempt of the United States to secure energy independence. He said Kaiparowits would have relieved the need for 50 million barrels of oil a year.

He said escalating costs and the delays led to the decision, and the sponsors "just don't want to cope with the abuse and other things they've been subjected to in the last two months."

The sponsors had sought government approval of the project for more than a decade and said $23 million had been spent on engineering, surveys and promotion.

Residents of the sparsely populated area, who had seen economic benefits in the project, also were dejected.

Most experts agree that an offer is not irrevocable. It can be withdrawn any time before it is accepted. If you arrange to have a preliminary offer for a purchase contract, one of its good points is that it usually provides that the seller is to have a certain period of time within which to accept the offer — three, five, seven, or ten days. The prospective buyer is not bound to keep his offer open for the designed period of time. He can withdraw the offer any time, if the seller does not accept.

PEOPLE ESCAPE, TWO PUPPIES KILLED: Eleven people, including seven young children, escaped unharmed Wednesday when fire swept through this two-apartment house at 329 Washington street, Benton Harbor firemen said. Renters of apartments were identified as Wendy Norman and Veronica Ellison. Firemen said blaze, reported shortly before 10 a.m., apparently started in clothing in basement. Cause of fire remains under investigation, firemen said. Two puppies of Norman children died of smoke inhalation in fire. In another fire late Wednesday, a vacant house was burned out at 528 North Winans street. A home and two garages adjacent to the house were damaged by heat and flames in 11:06 p.m. blaze. Owner of home was unknown and cause of fire is under investigation, firefighters reported. (Staff photo)

Kazoo Man Bound Over At Paw Paw

PAW PAW — Larry L. Kaderstorf, 34, Kalamazoo, was bound over to Van Buren circuit court yesterday following Seventh district court preliminary examination on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

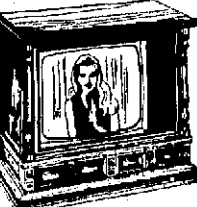

The charge grew out of a complaint by Tony Murawski, Gobles, that he was struck with a beer glass at a tavern on Feb. 13, 1975.

In another case, Artie Joe Roy, 31, 8443 Theima, Paw Paw, was placed on presentence investigation after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of attempting to resist arrest.

Roy had originally been charged with resisting arrest by Hartford police March 22 after they tried to take him into custody following a scuffle outside the Southern Inn.

Rights Ceremony Crowd Is Thin

By SHELLY COHEN
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — They sat in their academic robes — Rosa Parks, the black woman who 21 years ago refused to move to the back of the bus, and Linda Brown Smith, whose father did not want her to go to the segregated schools of Topeka, Kan., 22 years ago.

They were honored by Boston University, alma mater of the late Rev. Martin Luther King on the eighth anniversary of his assassination.

But in this city torn by strife over school integration, fewer than 50 people came to pay tribute Wednesday to 15 heroes and heroines of the civil rights movement.

Eight years ago, thousands of students, black and white, brought together by the shock of the King assassination, attended memorial services at the university. But on this warm spring day few drifted into the building, except on their way to class. Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of the Atlanta Board of Education, told the youthful audience that "integration will come completely rooted out only when racism is completely rooted out. And human nature being what it is, it will not be in my time, and not in the time of any of you living now."

But, he added, "We cannot quit. This is what America is all about."

During an afternoon session on busing and its alternatives, George H. Esser, executive director of the biracial Southern Regional Council, said northern cities cannot approach the subject of school integration "without a package that includes busing."

He said he brought Boston a message from the South, adding, "The evidence is that the South, however, reluctantly, has accepted the national mandate (to integrate) ... and that its achievements are encouraging."

Victor Solomon of the Congress of Racial Equality and a former New York city teacher, urged civil rights activists to stop pushing for integration and to "be more flexible" in working to end segregation.

"It's wrong for us to keep chasing after white folks no matter how far they run," Solomon said.

"Integration has failed miserably and in many instances has resulted in resegregation," he said.

The award to Miss Parks was for her refusal in 1955 to give up her seat on a city bus in Montgomery, Ala., to a white passenger.

Mrs. Smith received on behalf of her father, the late Rev. Oliver Brown, a posthumous citation. The Rev. Mr. Brown was plaintiff in the landmark civil rights suit of "Brown v. The Topeka Board of Education." In that case, the Supreme Court ruled that "separate educational facilities are inherently unequal" and said that the separate-but-equal doctrine had "no place" in public education.

'Battle Of The Sexes' Rages Briefly In House Wednesday

By MARY STEVENSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The battle of the sexes raged briefly in the House Chambers Wednesday as legislators debated a bill that scraps existing civil rights, employment, and housing laws.

Those laws would be replaced with a new Civil Rights Act that codifies the old laws.

The bill basically prohibits discrimination on the basis of religion, race, national origin, color, age, sex, or marital status.

It contains sections allowing private schools for either boys or girls, and private schools on the basis of religion to remain in operation without violating the bill.

Under the bill, an employer can apply for an exemption from the bill's provisions on grounds that religion, national origin, age, height, weight or sex is a genuine occupational qualification.

Some legislators had misgivings about the bill.

"If I prefer a charming young lady to dress up my front office, this bill says I can't advertise for that charming young lady," Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, claimed.

But Rep. Ruth McNamee, R-Birmingham, replied that he could. "If you feel a female receptionist can do a better job and can present convincing arguments."

Rep. James Smith, R-Grand Blanc, said, "There's some jobs women can't do and some jobs men can't do. We're carrying some of this to ridiculous extremes."

Rep. Joyce Symons, D-Allen Park, claimed the bill endorses homosexuality because it says real estate brokers cannot discriminate against a person on the basis of marital status.

The House refused to move the bill, sponsored by Rep. Daisy Elliott, D-Detroit, into position for a final vote. Debate will continue after the House returns April 26 from spring recess.

Rights Ceremony Crowd Is Thin

By SHELLY COHEN
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — They sat in their academic robes — Rosa Parks, the black woman who 21 years ago refused to move to the back of the bus, and Linda Brown Smith, whose father did not want her to go to the segregated schools of Topeka, Kan., 22 years ago.

They were honored by Boston University, alma mater of the late Rev. Martin Luther King on the eighth anniversary of his assassination.

But in this city torn by strife over school integration, fewer than 50 people came to pay tribute Wednesday to 15 heroes and heroines of the civil rights movement.

Eight years ago, thousands of students, black and white, brought together by the shock of the King assassination, attended memorial services at the university. But on this warm spring day few drifted into the building, except on their way to class. Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of the Atlanta Board of Education, told the youthful audience that "integration will come completely rooted out only when racism is completely rooted out. And human nature being what it is, it will not be in my time, and not in the time of any of you living now."

But, he added, "We cannot quit. This is what America is all about."

During an afternoon session on busing and its alternatives, George H. Esser, executive director of the biracial Southern Regional Council, said northern cities cannot approach the subject of school integration "without a package that includes busing."

He said he brought Boston a message from the South, adding, "The evidence is that the South, however reluctantly, has accepted the national mandate (to integrate) ... and that its achievements are encouraging."

Victor Solomon of the Congress of Racial Equality and a former New York city teacher, urged civil rights activists to stop pushing for integration and to "be more flexible" in working to end segregation.

"It's wrong for us to keep chasing after white folks no matter how far they run," Solomon said.

"Integration has failed miserably and in many instances has resulted in resegregation," he said.

The award to Miss Parks was for her refusal in 1955 to give up her seat on a city bus in Montgomery, Ala., to a white passenger.

Mrs. Smith received on behalf of her father, the late Rev. Oliver Brown, a posthumous citation. The Rev. Mr. Brown was plaintiff in the landmark civil rights suit of "Brown v. The Topeka Board of Education." In that case, the Supreme Court ruled that "separate educational facilities are inherently unequal" and said that the separate-but-equal doctrine had "no place" in public education.

'Battle Of The Sexes' Rages Briefly In House Wednesday

By MARY STEVNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The battle of the sexes raged briefly in the House Chambers Wednesday as legislators debated a bill that scraps existing civil rights, employment, and housing laws.

Those laws would be replaced with a new Civil Rights Act that codifies the old laws.

The bill basically prohibits discrimination on the basis of religion, race, national origin, color, age, sex, or marital status.

It contains sections allowing private schools for either boys or girls, and private schools on the basis of religion to remain in operation without violating the bill.

Under the bill, an employer

can apply for an exemption from the bill's provisions on grounds that religion, national origin, age, height, weight or sex is a genuine occupational qualification.

Some legislators had misgivings about the bill.

"If I prefer a charming young lady to dress up my front office, this bill says I can't advertise for that charming young lady," Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, claimed.

But Rep. Ruth McNamee, R-Birmingham, replied that he could, "If you feel a female receptionist can do a better job and can present convincing arguments."

Rep. James Smith, R-Grand Blanc, said, "There's some jobs women can't do and some jobs men can't do. We're carrying some of this to ridiculous extremes."

Rep. Joyce Symons, D-Allen Park, claimed the bill endorses homosexuality because it says real estate brokers cannot discriminate against a person on the basis of marital status.

The House refused to move the bill, sponsored by Rep. Daisy Elliott, D-Detroit, into position for a final vote. Debate will continue after the House returns April 26 from spring recess.

ENGLISH IN RUSSIA: Teacher Tatyana Blyumental corrects pupil's recitation at Primary School No. 17 for the English Language in southeastern Moscow. It's one of 74 specialized institutions in the Soviet capital that take in only the brightest pupils and saturate them with English. (AP Wirephoto)

Soviet Prodigies Learning English

By THOMAS KENT
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — "Eleven years old and very timid, the Russian boy faced the class and spoke in halting English."

"Our country washes..." he began.

"The country can't wash anything," barked the teacher. "Passive Voice! Use it!"

"Our country is washed," the boy quickly corrected himself, "by 13 seas and three oceans."

"Our country is the largest country in the world."

There were only 13 children in the classroom that day at Primary School No. 17 for the English Language in a wartime brick building in southeastern Moscow.

One by one, boys in dark school uniforms and girls wearing the red scarves of the Young Pioneer Communist Youth Organization came to the blackboard to write new words or give recitations.

Like their teacher, they all had pronounced accents and their wording sounded formal and bookish. But most of them, although only 11 or 12, already spoke easily and with practical no grammatical faults.

Primary School No. 17 is no ordinary Soviet school. It is one of 74 specialized institutions in Moscow that take in only the brightest pupils and then saturate them with English from age 7 to 19.

There are similar schools in every important Soviet city. While Soviet ideology holds that Russian will eventually become a leading world language, the Soviet Union is thoroughly preparing a corps of young specialists in English, plus others in German, French and Spanish.

"All our pupils will use English in some way in their later lives," the school's deputy director, Irina Boronikova, said after the lesson. "This school is just 10 years old but already we have a few of our former pupils starting work in the diplomatic corps."

Because of the careers they can lead to, the schools are highly competitive. Parents bring their children there for additional where they must demonstrate ability to read and write Russian well and pass physical, psychological and creativity tests.

Those accepted enter a largely English atmosphere for the rest of their primary school days, with English lessons every day and English-language signs and displays everywhere.

The school, such as all those in the Soviet Union, charges no tuition. The best graduates often go on to the prestigious Moscow Institute of Foreign Languages, while others, working from foreign technical articles, get jobs at engineering schools, and still others get employment as tourist guides or work in institutions serving foreigners.

A picture display at the school on American cities said Chicago is an "arena of class battles," citing factory worker insurrections there in the last century.

"About once a month we invite delegations of visiting Americans or Englishmen to the school so the children can practice," the principal said.

Virtually every pupil is a member of the Young Communist League by the time he is graduated, Principal Vedyokina Meltshevskaia said. Political lecturers, who visit the school regularly, stress developments in England and the United States.

"We also exchange letters with classes at schools in the United States and Britain," she said. Contact with the West, however, is limited. The school's main current affairs reading matter is the Moscow News, an English-language weekly published by the Soviets and often written in the formal English of official Soviet translators.

All 15 English teachers at Primary School No. 17 are Soviet citizens, but some of them have studied abroad. Like many Soviet teachers of English, they prefer British usage. Use of the American spelling "honor" instead of the British "honour" is regarded as a mistake.

The schools seem to have spared no effort on facilities or staff. Although current reading material from the West is limited, pupils have the works of Mark Twain, Jack London and a series of other American and English writers to study. There is an electronic language laboratory and class sizes are small.

School 17 has 750 pupils with 15 English-language teachers. Other subjects, such as mathematics and history, are studied in Russian.

The only complaint of teachers seemed to be that the children do not speak English among themselves, although they are able to speak enough to cover most situations.

"Now and then, I try to force them into it, but it doesn't help," said Deputy Director Blyumental as shouting children swirled around her on a staircase at the start of lunch break.

"Among themselves, they're all Russian."

WELLES: Daughter Beatrice has plans.

Who's Doing Her Bit For Libbers? Mr. Truman's Daughter, Margaret!

Q: Does Orson Welles have a daughter who is an actress? - D.B., Boca Raton, Fla.

A: Daughter Beatrice, 20, has tried just about everything else but acting. So far she has had brief flings as a model, journalist and housewife. Her latest career plan is to become an oceanographer and she has signed up for a tough four-year correspondence course from Oxford university in England. Can you swim, Bea?

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Who is the latest well-known woman to do her bit for the liberation movement? None other than Margaret Truman, daughter of the late president, who is writing a book called "Women of Courage" about 12 American heroines. According to the author, the book, which will be published in November, demonstrates that women can be every bit the equal of men when it comes to displaying selfless bravery.

Q: Is there talk of reviving the old "Batman" TV series? - D.L., Omaha, Nebr.

A: The lasting power of the "Batman" reruns has again sparked speculation that the comedy series might be revived. But neither Adam West nor Burt Ward, who played the Batman and Robin parts in the original, is much interested. West is still trying to make it in movies and Ward, who hasn't acted since the series quit, sees no reason for optimism. "I still make a little money appearing before kids in the old costume," says Ward, "but who is going to believe me at 30 as an acrobatic teenager?"

Q: What are the reasons for all those rumors about a rift between Ali MacGraw and Steve McQueen? - H.G., Ogden, Utah.

A: Ali is reportedly getting more and more restless as Steve becomes more and more reclusive. Only recently at an American Ballet theatre performance in Los Angeles Steve stalked out at intermission leaving Ali stranded with Natalie and Bob Wagner. The next day he barely made it out to the airport to board the flight Ali was on just moments before takeoff. Although there are difficulties, friends agree that McQueen would do anything not to lose Ali.

Q: Won't his appearance in the porno flick "Inserts" hurt Richard Dreyfuss' movie career? - C.P., Augusta, Ga.

A: Dreyfuss, who got a great start with "American Graffiti" and "Jaws," admits that he has been careless with the financial aspects of his career and is now planning to launch a science fiction project with "Jaws" director Steven Spielberg that he hopes will be his "big buck" production. He may need the money to keep up with his main hobby, which seems to be girls.

doing on Broadway think of him and Liz and all the goings on? - E.O., East Orange, N.J.

A: All the actors in "Equus" are extremely fond of Richard. Not because he's one of the boys (he isn't), but because he's such a fine actor and so professional. The cast did not take to Liz when she was hanging around before the break. Some thought she was jealous of all the attention Burton was getting. In any event, she was very disruptive backstage and the cast was glad to see her leave for California.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, April 15, the 106th day of 1976. There are 260 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1865, President Abraham Lincoln died in a Washington boarding house across the street from Ford's Theater, where he had been shot the night before by John Wilkes Booth.

On this date: In 1638, English settlers arrived in what is now New Haven, Conn.

In 1850, San Francisco was incorporated as a city.

In 1861, President Abraham Lincoln called out militia to suppress the Southern Confederacy.

In 1945, President Franklin Roosevelt was buried at the family home in Hyde Park, N.Y.

In 1959, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived in Washington to begin a goodwill tour of the U.S.

In 1970, mobs in Amman, Jordan, burned the U.S. Cultural Center and attacked the U.S. Embassy.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson endorsed a proposed summit meeting of Western Hemisphere leaders to speed the work of the Alliance for Progress economic program.

Five years ago: The government of Ceylon ousted North Korean diplomats on the grounds they were assisting rebels on the Indian Ocean island.

One year ago: Fighting was raging around the Cambodia capital, Phnom Penh, and refugees were jamming the main road to the city.

Today's birthday: The former president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, A. Philip Randolph, is 87.

Thought for today: You can always spot a well-informed man — his views are the same as yours — Actress Ilka Chase, born 1905.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Benjamin Franklin was in Saratoga, N.Y., as part of a three-man Continental Congress delegation making an arduous trip to Canada to check on the American invasion. Franklin wrote to a friend that he was so fatigued by the journey that he thought it might prove to be too much at his age. He was 70 and lived 14 more years.

BATMAN & ROBIN: They don't see a revival.

Hundley Sparks Cubs Past Mets

Chicago Happy He's Back

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Randy Hundley returned to the Chicago Cubs lineup Wednesday...and it was none too soon for the National League club.

Hundley doubled in the seventh inning to trigger a three-run rally that gave the Cubs their fourth straight victory, a 5-3 decision over the New York Mets at Wrigley Field.

A late replacement behind the plate, Hundley doubled and scored on a single by Jose Cardenal, scored the tying run on Bill Madlock's triple, and Jerry Morales singled past a drawn-in infield to produce the winning run.

The crowd of 9,307 made Hundley feel welcome with several standing ovations throughout the game. "That tore me up," he said.

The catcher was picked up by the Cubs Tuesday after being released by San Diego.

John Milner had staked the Mets and Tom Seaver to an early three-run lead when he singled home two runs in the first and drove in another with a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Rick Monday hit a two-run homer off Seaver in the bottom of the fifth and the Cubs picked up another run in the sixth on singles by Madlock and Morales and a pinch sacrifice fly by Champ Sommers.

Dave Kingman hammered a two-run homer for the Mets in the top of the sixth after Wayne Garrett singled for his first hit of the season. Seaver left the game in the bottom of the sixth with a pulled calf muscle and was not the pitcher of record.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros beat the San Francisco Giants 5-3, the Philadelphia Phillies pounded the Montreal Expos 6-2 and the San Diego Padres trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1.

Larry Dierker lasted six innings for the Astros, which is six more than his last outing when he was shelled by the Reds and left the game without retiring a batter.

He was backed by Roger Metzger's run-scoring double and Enos Cabell's RBI triple, key hits in the Astros' four-run second inning. He also had the support of two effective relief pitchers, Larry Hardy and Jose Sosa.

Philadelphia's Jim Lonborg scattered six hits, struck out four and walked three to pick up his first victory since July 23, 1975.

"For me, it's the beginning of a new career," said Lonborg, Cy Young Award winner in 1967 with the Boston Red Sox, who suffered from shoulder problems last season.

The Cubs won their fourth straight game, which was marked by catcher Randy Hundley's return to the club. The Chicago crowd of 9,307 made Hundley feel welcome with several standing ovations and he showed his appreciation with a double that triggered a three-run seventh inning.

"That tore me up," said Hundley, who was picked up by the Cubs Tuesday after being released by San Diego.

Jose Cardenal's single, Bill Madlock's triple and Jerry Morales' single were the run-producing hits in the decisive seventh.

AL Mulling Plans For Washington

CHICAGO (AP) — American League planning officials met in closed session with Major League Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to discuss a proposal to schedule as many as 40 games in Washington next season.

Results of Wednesday's hushhush meeting with AL members of the Major League Planning Committee were not announced.

But implications apparently involve the AL's expansion plans for Toronto and Kuhn's desire to bring baseball back to the nation's capital.

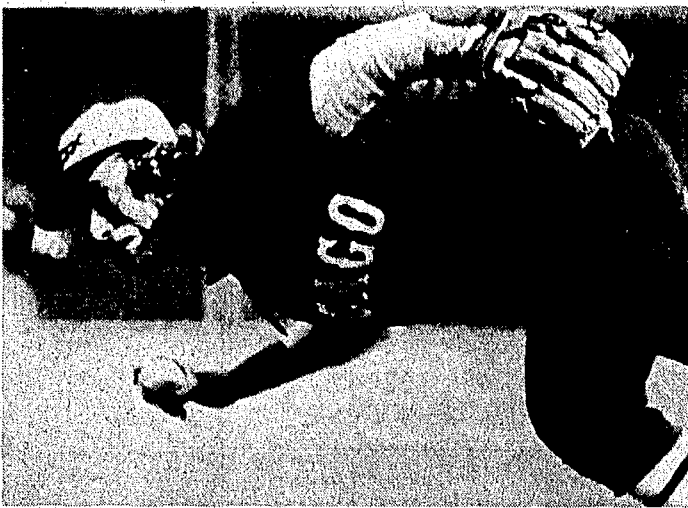

The Toronto Globe and Mail reported Tuesday that the AL was ready to schedule 40 games in Washington's Kennedy Stadium — 14 hosted by the Baltimore Orioles with the remaining 13 AL teams taking two apiece — in return for approval of its three-week-old Toronto expansion franchise.

Last Saturday, AL president Lee MacPhail, who also was at the meeting, turned down a request by Kuhn to delay expansion into the Canadian city.

Meanwhile, Kuhn said earlier this month that unless the AL formulated a plan to provide Washington with baseball, it would lose the city to the National League.

The NL asked the baseball commissioner to step in after the Philadelphia Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds blocked proposed expansion of their league. The NL requires unanimous vote on any expansion.

With Kuhn and MacPhail at Wednesday's meeting were John Fetzer, owner of the Detroit Tigers; Ewing Kauffman, president of the Kansas City Royals; Bud Selig, president of the Milwaukee Brewers; and Harry Dalton, executive vice president of the California Angels.

DESPERATION EFFORT: Chicago White Sox second baseman Jack Brohammer grimaces as he starts throw to first base in game Wednesday afternoon in Bloomington, Minn. Brohammer made the attempt while falling after bobbling a grounder by Twins' Larry Hise. Brohammer was charged with two errors in the inning, and the Sox went on to lose 6-2. (AP Wirephoto)

Twins Trip Sloppy Sox

Five Infield Errors Cause 6-2 Loss

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

When you only win a game every April or so and you've suffered through the kind of 12 months Joe Decker has, it's tough to feel sorry for your opposing pitcher just because his infield commits five errors and costs him the ballgame.

"It didn't bother me. It's just nice to get a win," Decker said Wednesday after hurling 7-1-3 impressive innings — two runs, five hits, three walks, four strikeouts — in the Minnesota

Twins' 6-2 victory over Wilbur Wood and the Chicago White Sox.

Wood yielded eight hits but all the Minnesota runs were unearned. Second baseman Jack Brohammer and shortstop Bucky Dent committed two errors apiece while third baseman Jorge Orta had one.

Meanwhile, Decker blanked the Sox until the eighth when he needed relief help from Bill Campbell. "It was the 28-year-old right-hander's first triumph since April 9, 1975. Two weeks later he was hit by a virus that virtually wiped out his season."

Three White Sox errors in the second inning helped the Twins score their first run without a hit. Rod Carew, who got the first hit off Wood in the fourth inning on a double off the centerfield fence, came around to score Minnesota's second run on an error by Orta.

The Twins scored four times on an error by Orta.

Rogers Starts Staff Overhaul Underwood Staying At MSU

EAST LANSING — Dan Underwood, a former Dowagiac high school sports standout, has been retained as a Michigan State assistant coach by new head football mentor Darryl Rogers.

The decision to keep Underwood came Wednesday as Rogers starting overhauling the school's scandal-racked coaching staff.

Retained with Underwood was another defensive specialist, Sherm Lewis. Underwood and Lewis are both former Spartan players.

In other action less than a week after Rogers took over the school's gridiron helm from ousted head coach Denny Stolz, defensive coordinator Ed Youngs was fired and replaced with Bob Padillo, a veteran of seven years as Rogers' assistant at San Jose State and Fresno State.

Another MSU addition is Mary Braden, who recently joined the San Jose State staff after coaching stints at Southern Methodist and Iowa State. Braden will replace former offensive coordinator Andy MacDonald, who joined the Seattle professional football club.

A third new coach hired Wednesday is Leon Burnett, also of Rogers' San Jose State staff and before that a coach at Washington State, Wyoming, Colorado State and Montana State.

Burnett will replace Underwood as the linebackers coach. Underwood will now handle defensive ends. Lewis will remain as the defensive backfield coach.

Rogers' moves are expected to win MSU Board of Trustees approval Friday. Alterations are also expected by week's end on the remainder of the MSU staff.

Rogers said he regretted firing Youngs, who was not named in the recruiting scandal. "It's a matter of my wanting as defensive coordinator a man who has been with me for seven years and shares the same defensive philosophy I have," said Rogers.

Underwood, who is starting his fourth year as a Spartan coach, was a defensive end in his MSU playing days, earning all-Big Ten honors in 1963, his senior year. He also served as a team co-captain that year with Lewis.

Underwood, who turned 34 Monday, returned to his alma mater after two years as an assistant at Central Michigan and four years as head coach at New Brunswick in Canada, where he was named Canadian College Coach of the Year after an unbeaten season in 1970.

Hundley Sparks Cubs Past Mets Chicago Happy He's Back

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Randy Hundley returned to the Chicago Cubs lineup Wednesday...and it was none too soon for the National League club.

Hundley doubled in the seventh inning to trigger a three-run rally that gave the Cubs their fourth straight victory, a 6-5 decision over the New York Mets at Wrigley Field.

A late replacement behind the plate, Hundley doubled and scored on a single by Jose Cardenal. Cardenal scored the tying run on Bill Madlock's triple, and Jerry Morales singled past a drawn-in infield to produce the winning run.

The crowd of 9,307 made Hundley feel welcome with several standing ovations throughout the game. "That tore me up," he said.

The catcher was picked up by the Cubs Tuesday after being released by San Diego.

John Milner had staked the Mets and Tom Seaver to an early three-run lead when he singled home two runs in the first and drove in another with a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Rick Monday hit a two-run homer off Seaver in the bottom of the fifth and the Cubs picked up another run in the sixth on singles by Madlock and Morales and a pinch sacrifice fly by Champ Sommers.

Dave Kingman hammered a two-run homer for the Mets in the top of the sixth after Wayne Garrett singled for his first hit of the season. Seaver left the game in the bottom of the sixth with a pulled calf muscle and was not the pitcher of record.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros beat the San Francisco Giants 5-3, the Philadelphia Phillies pounded the Montreal Expos 8-2 and the San Diego Padres trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1.

Larry Dierker lasted six innings for the Astros, which is six more than his last outing when he was shelled by the Reds and left the game without retiring a batter.

He was backed by Roger Metzger's run-scoring double and Enos Cabell's RBI triple, key hits in the Astros' four-run second inning. He also had the support of two effective relief pitchers, Larry Hardy and Jose Sosa.

Philadelphia's Jim Lonborg scattered six hits, struck out four and walked three to pick up his first victory since July 23, 1975.

"For me, it's the beginning of a new career," said Lonborg, Cy Young Award winner in 1967 with the Boston Red Sox, who suffered from shoulder problems last season.

The Cubs won their fourth straight game, which was marked by catcher Randy Hundley's return to the club. The Chicago crowd of 9,307 made Hundley feel welcome with several standing ovations and he showed his appreciation with a double that triggered a three-run seventh inning.

"That tore me up," said Hundley, who was picked up by the Cubs Tuesday after being released by San Diego.

Jose Cardenal's single, Bill Madlock's triple and Jerry Morales' single were the run-producing hits in the decisive seventh.

Mets ace Tom Seaver reinjured his calf and was forced to leave the game in the sixth with New York leading 5-2.

Dave Winfield and Hector Torres slammed consecutive home runs in the second inning and left-hander Randy Jones scattered seven hits to send the winless Dodgers to their fourth straight defeat.

Jones, who became the only 20-game winner in Padres history last season, struck out five enroute to his second straight complete game victory.

Twins Trip Sloppy Sox Five Infield Errors Cause 6-2 Loss

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

When you only win a game every April or so and you've suffered through the kind of 12 months Joe Decker has, it's tough to feel sorry for your opposing pitcher just because his infield commits five errors and costs him the ballgame.

"It didn't bother me. It's just nice to get a win," Decker said Wednesday after hurling 7 1-3 impressive innings — two runs, five hits, three walks, four strikeouts — in the Minnesota

Twins' 6-2 victory over Wilbur Wood and the Chicago White Sox.

Wood yielded eight hits but all the Minnesota runs were unearned. Second baseman Jack Brohammer and shortstop Bucky Dent committed two errors apiece while third baseman Jorge Orta had one.

Meanwhile, Decker blanked the Sox until the eighth when he needed relief help from Bill Campbell. It was the 28-year-old right-hander's first triumph since April 9, 1975. Two weeks later he was felled by a virus that virtually wiped out his season.

Three White Sox errors in the second inning helped the Twins score their first run without a hit. Rod Carew, who got the first hit off Wood in the fourth inning on a double off the center-field fence, came around to score Minnesota's second run on an error by Orta.

AL Mulling Plans For Washington

CHICAGO (AP) — American League planning officials met in closed session with Major League Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to discuss a proposal to schedule as many as 40 games in Washington next season.

Results of Wednesday's hushhush meeting with AL members of the Major League Planning Committee were not announced.

But implications apparently involve the AL's expansion plans for Toronto and Kuhn's desire to bring baseball back to the nation's capital.

The Toronto Globe and Mail reported Tuesday that the AL was ready to schedule 40 games in Washington's Kennedy Stadium — 14 hosted by the Baltimore Orioles with the remaining 13 AL teams taking two apiece — in return for approval of its three-week-old Toronto expansion franchise.

Last Saturday, AL president Lee MacPhail, who also was at the meeting, turned down a request by Kuhn to delay expansion into the Canadian city.

Meanwhile, Kuhn said earlier this month that unless the AL formulated a plan to provide Washington with baseball, it would lose the city to the National League.

The NL asked the baseball commissioner to step in after the Philadelphia Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds blocked proposed expansion of their league. The NL requires unanimous vote on any expansion.

With Kuhn and MacPhail at Wednesday's meeting were John Fetzer, owner of the Detroit Tigers; Ewing Kauffman, president of the Kansas City Royals; Bud Selig, president of the Milwaukee Brewers; and Harry Dalton, executive vice president of the California Angels.

Rogers Starts Staff Overhaul

Underwood Staying At MSU

EAST LANSING — Dan Underwood, a former Dowagiac high school sports standout, has been retained as a Michigan State assistant coach by new head football mentor Darryl Rogers.

The decision to keep Underwood came Wednesday as Rogers starting overhauling the school's scandal-racked coaching staff.

Retained with Underwood was another defensive specialist Sherm Lewis. Underwood and

Lewis are both former Spartan players.

In other action less than a week after Rogers took over the school's gridiron helm from ousted head coach Denny Stolz, defensive coordinator Ed Youngs was fired and replaced by Bob Padillo, a veteran of seven years as Rogers' assistant at San Jose State and Fresno State.

Another MSU addition is Marv Braden, who recently joined the San Jose State staff after coaching stints at Southern Methodist and Iowa State. Braden will replace former offensive coordinator Andy MacDonald, who joined the Seattle professional football club.

A third new coach hired Wednesday is Leon Burnett, also of Rogers' San Jose State staff and before that a coach at Washington State, Wyoming, Colorado State and Montana State.

Burnett will replace Underwood as the linebackers coach. Underwood will now handle defensive ends. Lewis will remain as the defensive backfield coach.

Rogers' moves are expected to win MSU Board of Trustees approval Friday. Alterations are also expected by week's end on the remainder of the MSU staff.

Rogers said he regretted firing Youngs, who was not named in the recruiting scandal. "It's a matter of my wanting as defensive coordinator a man who has been with me for seven years and shares the same defensive philosophy I have," said Rogers.

Underwood, who is starting his fourth year as a Spartan coach, was a defensive end in his MSU playing days, earning all-Big Ten honors in 1963, his senior year. He also served as a team co-captain that year with Lewis.

Underwood, who turned 34 Monday, returned to his alma mater after two years as an assistant at Central Michigan and four years as head coach at New Brunswick in Canada, where he was named Canadian College Coach of the Year after an unbeaten season in 1970.

'Big Macs' Matched Tonight

Pistons Need Win To Stay Alive In Playoffs

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Philadelphia fans can't help but be relishing tonight's playoff matchup of the National Basketball Association's two "Big Macs" — Bob McAdoo of the Buffalo Braves and George McGinnis of the hometown 76ers.

McAdoo, the Braves' agile center, became only the fourth player in league history to win the scoring title at least three consecutive years, finishing the season with a 31.1 average per game. He also was seventh in rebounding and sixth in blocked shots.

McGinnis, the 76ers' powerful forward, wound up his first NBA season — following a standout career in the American Basketball Association — as the league's sixth best scorer (23.0), sixth leading rebounder and second in steals.

The Buffalo-Philadelphia game, the first in their best-of-five qualifying series, is one of four NBA playoff contests scheduled tonight. In the other qualifying series, the Milwaukee Bucks, with a 1-0 lead, meet the Pistons at Detroit.

In best-of-seven quarter-final series, the Washington Bullets, with a 1-0 edge, entertain the Cleveland Cavaliers, and the Seattle SuperSonics, also with a 1-0 advantage, are at home against the Phoenix Suns.

Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue has made no secret of his strategy against Buffalo. He has indicated he virtually is willing to concede McAdoo his average number of points, explaining: "What we have to do is hold down the rest of the Braves."

The 76ers' tactics worked well enough during the regular season for them to beat the Braves in four of seven games, enabling them to gain the home court advantage in the playoffs.

Both teams have explosive offenses and porous defenses. Buffalo was the second highest scoring team during the season with a 107.3 average and Philadelphia was fourth at 106.5. Defensively, Philadelphia finished 14th in the league, allowing 106.3 points per game, and Buffalo was 19th at 106.4.

Milwaukee, beset by rumors revolving around the uncertain status of Coach Larry Costello and General Manager Wayne Embury, nevertheless overcame Detroit 110-107 in their opening game, mainly on the play of guard Gary Brokaw. Filling in for injured Jim Price, Brokaw, who had averaged only 8.3 points during the regular season, broke loose for a career-high 36 points and added five assists, three rebounds, one steal and a blocked shot.

Washington, which nullified Cleveland's home court advantage by winning its series opener 100-85 against the Cavaliers at the Coliseum in Richfield Township, Ohio, has not become overconfident.

"They may have had the jitters because this was their first time in the playoffs," said center Wes Unseld of the playoff-hardened Bullets. "But they will be tougher from here on in."

Seattle will be riding a 17-game home court winning streak and the hot shooting of "sixth man" Fred Brown against Phoenix. Brown scored 34 points in the opener, prompting Phoenix Coach John MacLeod to understate: "We'll just have to do a better job on him."

Bruins Don't Scare Kings

Black Hawks Hosting Montreal Tonight

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Kings, no longer mesmerized by the Boston Bruins, now are looking to come up with some more magical mystery power in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs.

The Kings, the only team to gain a victory on foreign ice in the first two games of each of the league's four quarter-final series, return home tonight with renewed confidence.

"Until we beat them, we were in awe of the Bruins," said the Kings' Bob Berry. "The key thing is that we broke the psychological barrier."

Surprisingly carrying the magical wand for the Kings is goalie Gary Edwards, who suddenly has replaced Rogation Vachon, normally Los Angeles' No. 1 netminder.

Edwards played Tuesday night when the Kings outlasted the Bruins 3-2 in overtime at Boston. It was the first home loss for the Bruins since Dec. 23 when Edwards and the Kings also spelled defeat for them.

And it is expected to be Edwards in goal again tonight when the underdog Kings face the Bruins at Los Angeles in Game Three of their series, tied 1-1.

The three other series also resume tonight, with Toronto at Philadelphia, Buffalo at the New York Islanders and Montreal at Chicago. Philadelphia,

Buffalo and Montreal all lead 2-0.

Los Angeles Coach Bob Pulford usually goes with a winning goalie and therefore figures to use Edwards ahead of Vachon tonight.

"We'll have to see what happens, but right now I'm very pleased," said the cautious Edwards, who stopped 30 Boston shots in the Kings' victory.

While Vachon has lost — at least temporarily — his starting job, Philadelphia's Bernie Parent has regained his.

Parent, limited to only 11 regular-season games because of a spinal operation, has led the defending Stanley Cup champions to 4-1 and 3-1 victories over Toronto.

"For the first time since I came back I'm happy with myself," Parent said after Game Two in which he made 32 saves, some of them spectacular.

Adding to Toronto's woes is the fact the Maple Leafs haven't beaten Philadelphia since 1973.

The Islanders are at a similar disadvantage against Buffalo. They haven't beaten the Sabres at Uniondale, N.Y., in four seasons. The Sabres have another interesting streak going. They have won their last six overtime games, including a 3-2 decision over the Islanders Tuesday night.

Nevertheless, Islanders Coach Al Arbour isn't dismayed. "We'll bounce back," he said.

Quebec, Calgary Handed Stiff Penalties By WHA

WINNIPEG (AP) — The World Hockey Association, with an injured superstar out for the season and one of its players facing criminal charges, has come down hard on its Quebec and Calgary teams in an attempt to end violence on the ice.

On Wednesday, the league slapped $25,000 fines against the Calgary Cowboys and Quebec Nordiques for failure to control their personnel in a bench-clearing brawl last Sunday night at Quebec City during the second game of the Canadian Division semifinal.

Chief executive officer Ben Hatskin also announced player fines and a string of suspensions that included both coaches.

The axe fell harder on the Cowboys, whose coach, Joe Guzy, was barred for the rest of the Quebec-Calgary series and indefinitely thereafter subject to reinstatement by the league's Board of Governors.

Quebec Coach Jean-Guy Gendron was suspended for the third game of the series Wednesday night in Calgary, won by the Cowboys 3-2. Calgary now leads 3-0 in the best-of-seven quarter-final series. Winnipeg also gained a 3-0 advantage over Edmonton in their quarter-final series, edging the Oilers 3-2 on Bobby Hull's goal midway through the third period.

The decision was announced after more than six hours of meetings here in the aftermath of Sunday night's free-for-all which left Quebec scoring ace Marc Tardif out of action with a concussion for the rest of the season.

Rick Jodzio of Calgary, charged with causing bodily injury with intent to maim in connection with Tardif's injury, was suspended indefinitely and at least until the end of the current WHA season.

But Poile tendered his resignation as WHA vice-president in charge of hockey operations, subject to acceptance by the Board of Governors.

There was no indication when ultimate rulings might be made in the cases of Jodzio and Poile.

The stiff sanctions were the price demanded by the Nordiques for continuing the playoff series.

After the rulings were unnounced, Quebec team President John Dacros said he was "very happy" and took his players to Winnipeg International Airport for a flight to Calgary.

Hatskin said the fines were sufficient to deter violence in the WHA playoffs.

"God help anyone who gets in a brawl from here on in," he said.

Other action announced by Hatskin included a suspension against Calgary's Danny Lawson for Wednesday night's game and the barring of Quebec's Gordon Gallant for the balance of the Calgary-Quebec series.

Jodzio, Gallant and Lawson were fined an additional $200 on top of the automatic fines they received in the bench-clearing fracas.

Fines of $200 were assessed against Calgary's Warren Miller, Peter Driscoll and Pat Westrum, and Quebec's Pierre Roy, Curt Brackelbury and Steve Sutherland.

Jodzio and Gallant each drew match penalties in the brawl, while the others were assessed game misconducts.

Washington, which nullified Cleveland's home court advantage by winning its series opener 100-95 against the Cavaliers at the Coliseum in Richfield Township, Ohio, has not become overconfident.

"They may have had the jitters because this was their first time in the playoffs," said center Wes Unseld of the playoff-hardened Bullets. "But they will be tougher from here on in."

Seattle will be riding a 17-game home court winning streak and the hot shooting of "sixth man" Fred Brown against Phoenix. Brown scored 34 points in the Sonics' 102-99 victory in the opener, prompting Phoenix Coach John MacLeod to understate: "We'll just have to do a better job on him."

Quebec, Calgary Handed

Stiff Penalties By WHA

WINNIPEG (AP) — The World Hockey Association, with an injured superstar out for the season and one of its players facing criminal charges, has come down hard on its Quebec and Calgary teams in an attempt to end violence on the ice.

On Wednesday, the league slapped $25,000 fines against the Calgary Cowboys and Quebec Nordiques for failure to control their personnel in a bench-clearing brawl last Sunday night at Quebec City during the second game of the Canadian Division semifinal.

Chief executive officer Ben Hatskin also announced player fines and a string of suspensions that included both coaches.

The axe fell harder on the Cowboys, whose coach, Joe Crozier, was barred for the rest of the Quebec-Calgary series and indefinitely thereafter subject to reinstatement by the league's Board of Governors.

Quebec Coach Jean-Guy Gendron was suspended for the third game of the series Wednesday night in Calgary, won by the Cowboys 3-2. Calgary now leads 3-0 in the best-of-seven quarter-final series. Winnipeg also gained a 3-0 advantage over Edmonton in their quarter-final series, edging the Oilers 3-2 on Bobby Hull's goal midway through the third period.

The decision was announced after more than six hours of meetings here in the aftermath of Sunday night's free-for-all which left Quebec scoring ace Marc Tardif out of action with a concussion for the rest of the season.

Rick Jodzio of Calgary, charged with causing bodily injury with intent to maim in connection with Tardif's injury, was suspended indefinitely and at least until the end of the current WHA season.

Bud Poile tendered his resignation as WHA vice-president in charge of hockey operations, subject to acceptance by the Board of Governors.

There was no indication when ultimate rulings might be made in the cases of Jodzio and Poile. The stiff sanctions were the price demanded by the Nordiques for continuing the playoff series.

After the rulings were announced, Quebec team President John Dacres said he was "very happy" and took his players to Winnipeg International Airport for a flight to Calgary.

Hatskin said the fines were sufficient to deter violence in the WHA playoffs.

"God help anyone who gets in a brawl from here on in," he said.

Other action announced by Hatskin included a suspension against Calgary's Danny Lawson for Wednesday night's game and the barring of Quebec's Gordon Gallant for the balance of the Calgary-Quebec series.

Jodzio, Gallant and Lawson were fined an additional $200 on top of the automatic fines they received in the bench-clearing fracas.

Fines of $200 were assessed against Calgary's Warren Miller, Peter Driscoll and Pat Westrum, and Quebec's Pierre Roy, Curt Brackenbury and Steve Sutherland.

Jodzio and Gallant each drew match penalties in the brawl, while the others were assessed game misconducts.

Bruins Don't

Scare Kings

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Kings, no longer mesmerized by the Boston Bruins, now are hoping to come up with some more magical mystery power in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs.

The Kings, the only team to gain a victory on foreign ice in the first two games of each of the league's four quarter-final series, return home tonight with renewed confidence.

"Until we beat them, we were in awe of the Bruins," said the Kings' Bob Berry. "The key thing is that we broke the psychological barrier."

Surprisingly carrying the magical wand for the Kings is goalie Gary Edwards, who suddenly has replaced Rogation Vachon, normally Los Angeles' No. 1 netminder.

Edwards played Tuesday night when the Kings outlasted the Bruins 3-2 in overtime at Boston. It was the first home loss for the Bruins since Dec. 23 when Edwards and the Kings also spelled defeat for them.

And it is expected to be Edwards in goal again tonight when the underdog Kings face the Bruins at Los Angeles in Game Three of their series, tied 1-1.

The three other series also resume tonight, with Toronto at Philadelphia, Buffalo at the New York Islanders and Montreal at Chicago. Philadelphia,

Buffalo and Montreal all lead 2-0.

Los Angeles Coach Bob Pulford usually goes with a winning goalie and therefore figures to use Edwards ahead of Vachon tonight.

"We'll have to see what happens, but right now I'm very pleased," said the cautious Edwards, who stopped 30 Boston shots in the Kings' victory.

While Vachon has lost — at least temporarily — his starting job, Philadelphia's Bernie Parent has regained his.

Parent, limited to only 11 regular-season games because of a spinal operation, has led the defending Stanley Cup champions to 4-1 and 3-1 victories over Toronto. "For the first time since I came back I'm happy with myself," Parent said after Game Two in which he made 32 saves, some of them spectacular.

Adding to Toronto's woes is the fact the Maple Leafs haven't beaten Philadelphia since 1973.

The Islanders are at a similar disadvantage against Buffalo. They haven't beaten the Sabres at Uniondale, N.Y., in four seasons. The Sabres have another interesting streak going. They have won their last six overtime games, including a 3-2 decision over the Islanders Tuesday night.

Nevertheless, Islanders Coach Al Arbour isn't dismayed. "We'll bounce back," he said.

Pitching-Strong Lakers Humble Harbor

By JACK WALKDEN

Staff Sports Writer

Oh, what a difference good pitching makes.

Just ask Lake Michigan Catholic coach Al Nixon or his Benton Harbor counterpart, Paul Withite.

Harbor 14-2 at John C. Sams Memorial Park.

Richard Maxwell went the distance for the Lakers, allowing just two hits. Maxwell's own wildness ruined his shutout bid. He wild pitched two runs across the plate in the fifth inning.

"Last year Maxwell relied on his fastball, but this year he's become a much smarter pitcher," Nixon said. "He has good control and can hit the corners with his curveball. He's more of a pitcher than a thrower."

The pitching performance was the second straight strong effort for the Lakers, now 2-0. But Nixon's young staff will be tested this weekend as LMC hosts Bridgman Friday and then travels Saturday to Coloma for a doubleheader.

"Our pitching depth has not been tested yet," Nixon said. "We've only gone with our two returning starters. This weekend we'll have to test the rest of the staff, none of whom has any varsity experience."

While Nixon has already found two dependable starters, Withite is still searching for someone to go with Rick Haney, who hurled the only Tiger victory in four games.

"We have to find some pitching," Withite said. "We don't even know if we can play defense or not, yet. We've looked at a lot of guys and still haven't found anyone to go with Haney."

"We have got to have three pitchers who will give us five or six good innings. Otherwise, we're going to be in for a long season."

The Tiger pitching was found wanting again Wednesday. Four Benton Harbor hurlers combined for 14 walks, a hit batsmen and eight wild pitches in the rout. Willie Fryer, the starter, lasted less than two innings and took the loss.

Mickey Ashbrook led the Laker hitting attack, collecting two singles and scoring three runs. Gary Bartalone added a triple, scored three runs and drove in three others.

Larry Bell and Mike Schultz had the two Tiger hits, both singles.

Rams Coast To Victory

RICHLAND — South Haven scored eight runs in the first three innings and coasted to an easy 9-4 win over Wolverine conference foe Gull Lake here Wednesday.

Jody Haumersen picked up the victory for South Haven in relief of starter Frank Winter. Haumersen came on to pitch in the third inning.

Dave Braschler slammed three singles and Dave Decker a pair for the Rams, now 3-1. Ken Cullum belted a two-run homer and Winter a two-run double for the winners.

South Haven tallied twice in each of the first two innings and then broke the game open with a four-run third.

Bear Girls Rip Holland

Sheryl Hemingway drove in four runs with a triple and a single Wednesday as St. Joseph's girls softball team topped Holland 13-5.

Kate Barz drove in three runs for the Bears, now 1-1 on the year.

Terryrie Collis went the distance on the mound for St. Joe and picked up the victory.

Grounds Sparks Bobcat Triumph

NILES — Pat Grounds slapped a two-run sixth-inning single here Wednesday to give Brandywine its fifth straight baseball victory, a 3-2 decision over Sturgis.

The Bobcats, now 6-1 overall, had trailed 2-1 entering the sixth frame before singles by Keith Brooks, Tim Rzepka and Todd Birczak had loaded the bases. Grounds then followed with his decisive base hit.

Mike Bailey hurled a three-hitter in picking up his first win of the young season. Bailey struck out six and walked five. Sturgis reliever Steve Topper took the loss.

Powers, who hails from Elkhart, Ind., averaged 23.2 points per game last season while hitting 33 per cent of his field goal attempts. He hit a deadly .55.7 per cent of his free throws.

Powers, a sophomore and the first Roadrunner to gain All-American basketball recognition, has received a full scholarship to attend DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind., in the upcoming school year.

The Raiders began their season with a bang Wednesday, blasting Lawton 15-0 in a game shortened to five innings by the 10-run rule.

Decatur tallied eight times in the second inning and added six more runs in the third to put the game away.

Jim Overley was the Raider standout not only on the mound but also at the plate. Overley gave up just one hit in picking up the victory. He fanned eight and walked five. At the plate, Overley belted a home run and a double, good for three runs batted in.

Kurt Wiese and Al McAdams each also plated three runs, while Terry Penning added a double and two singles and Mike High slammed a double and a single.

John Lepley, the first of three Lawton pitchers, took the loss.

Decatur tallied eight times in the second inning and added six more runs in the third to put the game away.

Jim Overley was the Raider standout not only on the mound but also at the plate. Overley gave up just one hit in picking up the victory. He fanned eight and walked five. At the plate, Overley belted a home run and a double, good for three runs batted in.

Kurt Wiese and Al McAdams each also plated three runs, while Terry Penning added a double and two singles and Mike High slammed a double and a single.

John Lepley, the first of three Lawton pitchers, took the loss.

Ali Exhibitions In Doubt Reports Conflicting Over St. Louis Date

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Tickets are on sale for three Muhammad Ali boxing exhibitions on Friday night in St. Louis despite doubt they will be held.

A Fort Lauderdale, Fla., promoter, Robert D. Blake, said Wednesday that Ali had agreed through his attorney to box three rounds each against three opponents Friday night at Kiel Auditorium.

But in Chicago, the office of Ali's adviser, Herbert Muhammad, told The Associated Press the heavyweight champion will not be in St. Louis "as far as we know."

"We're a little baffled because of all the calls we've had. As of now, he's not supposed to be there. And unless something drastic happens, I wouldn't expect him to be there as scheduled."

Blake, unfazed by the comments, said the agreement he had with attorney Charles Lomax in Chicago and insisted Herbert

Muhammad's people "should have referred you to him."

"I was very pleased at how the ticket sales were going today," Blake added. "All will be in here (tonight) to see for himself how it's going."

Efforts to reach Lomax were unsuccessful, but the granting of a license to Blake to stage the three bouts was confirmed by the Missouri Office of Athletics in Jefferson City.

Blake said that under the agreement for the exhibitions, Ali is to receive at least $75,000 to face former World Boxing Association heavyweight champ Jimmy Ellis, Robby Bobick of St. Paul, Minn., and Gary Sullins of St. Louis.

Ali is currently in training at his Berrien Springs farm for his April 30 title defense against third-ranked heavyweight Jimmy Young at Landover, Md.

House Going To Washington State

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Denby's Stuart House has become one of Michigan's first high school basketball stars in sign a national letter of intent, making his decision to play with Washington State.

Today is the first day high school basketball players can sign letters of intent and House wasted no time in giving his signature to Washington State Coach George Raveling.

"We've been following Stuart's career for quite a while," said Raveling. "He grew up playing in the same playground in St. Louis as our captain, Ricky Brown. We've already got two kids from this area and we're going to sign John Preston from Waterford Township Thursday evening."

Kenny Jones, from Detroit Northwestern, and Greg Johnson, from Saginaw, already play for Washington State.

The 6-foot-11 House averaged 31 points a game for Denby with a career high of 48 points against Detroit Pershing.

"I think some of the reasons he chose our school are: I'm black. He won't have to play center. And he liked the spirit of our student body. Our students got 5,000 signatures on a petition urging Stuart to come to Washington State and that impressed him," Raveling said.

Raveling said he already had one of the best centers in the Pac-8 and would probably use House as a forward.

Charles House, Stuart's

father, said his son was impressed with Raveling. "He (Stuart) wanted to play in the Pac-8 and he wanted to play for a black coach. The coach said that Stuart would be an instant starter."

Raveling, who has been coaching college basketball for 14 years, says House is the best he's seen coming out of high school.

"I've recruited about nine kids who are currently playing pro basketball, including Howard Porter, Chris Ford, Tim McMillen and Len Elmore, and House is better than any of them at this stage," he said.

Gary Danielson Among Lions' Free Agents

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Former Purdue quarterback Gary Danielson, who was a Michigan All-Stater while at Dearborn Divine Child High School, heads a list of 12 free agents signed to National Football League contracts by the Detroit Lions.

The Lions announced the signings Wednesday.

Also among the 12 is Ed Marshall, who starred as a wide receiver with Memphis of the World Football League last season.

Les Claves, a defensive back from Kansas State who was drafted in the 16th round by Detroit last year, is also among the free agents. So is wide receiver Mike Jackson of Central State of Ohio, who was in the Lions camp last year.

Quarterback Tom Piantanelli of West Chester State, drafted in 1973 by Baltimore and who was with Washington, was also signed.

Two kickers are on the list: Benny Ricardo of San Diego State and Brian Masella of Penn State. Ricardo was with San Diego and also in the NFL last year. Masella was in Pittsburgh's camp.

Others signed were: defensive backs Glenn Lott, Reggie Piersun and Sonny Hicks; guard James Wilson and wide receiver Archie Gray.

Lott was Buffalo's second round draft choice last year. Wilson was Miami's ninth round pick. Gray was the No. 10 choice of Denver. And Hicks played with the NFL last year after a 1973 trial with Los Angeles.

Detroit took 19 college players in the recent draft, with six choices in the first three rounds.

Dayton, Saginaw Win

From Associated Press
Dayton moved a game closer to winning its International Hockey League semifinal playoff series Wednesday, while Port Huron lost a chance to take a 3-0 lead in its Turner Cup series.

Dayton defeated Fort Wayne 5-2, to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series. Saginaw slipped by Port Huron in overtime, 4-3, to cut the Flags series' margin to 2-1.

Steve Self scored two goals for Dayton, while Joel Patterson, Brian Kinsella and Paul Nicholson added solo scores.

John Shortland and Jeff Abbot scored the Komets' goals. Dayton stayed in front all the way, leading 2-1 at the end of the first period and 4-1 at the end of the second.

Center Wayne Zuk fired in a goal at 2:29 of the sudden death overtime period to give Saginaw its first series' victory.

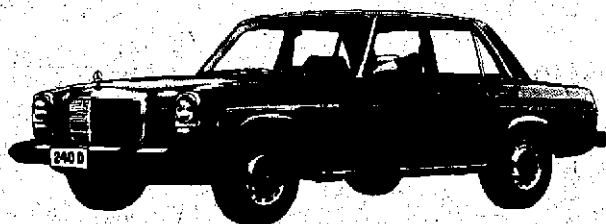

Saginaw took the lead in the first period on a goal by Dave Weston. But Port Huron tied it up with a goal by the league's Most Valuable Player, Len Fontaine. Goals by Bill Watt and Terry McDonald put the Flags ahead 3-1.

Jim McMahon scored for Saginaw and Weston tied it up in the third period with his second goal of the game.

Port Wayne travels to Dayton on Friday and Port Huron hosts Saginaw Saturday as the playoff series continue.

Olympic Games Will Start In July

Montreal Winning Battle Against Time

By KAROL STONGER
AP Sports Writer

"The most important thing in the Olympic Games is not to win but to take part, just as the most important thing in life is not the triumph but the struggle."

These words, spoken some 80 years ago by Baron Pierre de Coubertin, founder of the modern Olympics, could well have been meant for Montreal and Mayor Jean Drapeau.

Drapeau and the Quebec capital lost their struggle for perfection. They were plagued by strikes, political scandal, inflation and inclement weather. But they have all but won their battle against time to stage the XXI Olympics.

The Games will go on. Some 11,000 athletes will compete for 450 gold medals.

Competitors from 132 nations will jam into the two, new pyramid-shaped Olympic Village buildings. But already the projections are for over-crowding. Additional toilets are being installed.

Of the 21 Olympic sports, facilities for all but two are finished. Some are new, others, such as the Forum and Maurice Richard Arena, already existed and needed only minor modifications. But all of the accomplishments have been overshadowed by one major faux pas: Olympic Park.

Olympic Park is the site of the white futuristic stadium where Queen Elizabeth II of Canada's mother country is expected to open the Games on July 17. It is the site of the closing ceremonies on Aug. 1. It is the site of one of the most important Olympic sports: track and field.

It is far from finished.

The cranes that rise from the stadium floor and the holes where concrete sections still are to be placed are sad reminders of the elaborate plans of Drapeau and French architect Roger Taillibert which had to be scrapped for the sake of efficiency.

The 72,000 seats will be in place on opening day. The artificial track is being laid. But the envisioned sweeping white spire will not be the landmark of the Games. The revolutionary retractable roof will not be in place. Athletes will have to use makeshift dressing rooms, and the press rooms for some 6,500 international journalists were moved three miles distant.

But the Games will go on. The athletes will compete.

The adjacent swimming pool is being tiled after passing the stringent test to hold water. The diving pool and practice pool are virtually complete. The velodrome, also part of Olympic Park, is finished. From above it looks like a kite. From within like so many tipped canoes.

Some 100,000 visitors a day will bunk in accommodations ranging from first-class hotels to youth hostels. They will pump some $2.2 billion into the Canadian economy, buying tickets, Olympic souvenirs, food, lodging.

Businesses will benefit, but the government will suffer. What Drapeau once saw as an Olympics that would pay for itself has become a $1 billion nightmare, with a projected deficit of $900 million.

Athletes will benefit, but Mayor Drapeau will suffer. While competitors polish their medals, Drapeau will be reeling from the effects of tarnished credibility. And his dream of a Stadium as a work of art will be turned into what he hoped it would not: "A beautiful statue of bronze...with feet of wood."

But the Games will go on. The athletes will compete.

Second Teamers

Defenceman Ron Wilson and winger Mike Wanechuk of the Kalamazoo Wings have been named to the International Hockey League All-Star second team. They were picked by IHL players.

Smelt Violators Face Crackdown By State

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State and local law enforcement agencies are set to crack down on violations in the smelt run areas along Lake Huron and Saginaw Bay this year.

Police will concentrate on trespass, littering and parking violations by fishermen, especially in Arenac and Isabella counties, according to the Michigan State Police.

The State Police announced this week that past complaints from property owners and public officials prompted the crackdown, and officials urged fishermen across the state to observe such laws.

Involved in the tighter enforcement are the State Police, Department of Natural Resources, and county, township and municipal officers in places experiencing trouble at smelt fishing time before.

Among the actions expected to be taken are increased foot and car patrols in fishing areas, supervisions of access points to minimize trespass, problems, regulation of parking and more trash barrels to cut down on littering.

Last year some 15,000-20,000 smelt fishermen visited spots in Arenac County in late April and early May, the State Police said. Property owners complained of illegal parking, trespassing, littering, destruction of property and thefts of wood.

Hare Scramble At Marcellus

MARCELLUS — The Marcellus Jaycees' third annual Hare Scramble Motorcycle Race will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, April 25, at Big Fish Lake, located four miles northwest of here. Registration will be from 8:30 a.m. until noon.

Anne Headed To Olympics

LONDON (AP) — It looks like the Olympics at last for horse-loving Princess Anne, the girl every Briton would like to see win a gold medal at Montreal. The British selectors have put her on a list of five probabilities, from which a team of four riders will eventually be chosen for the three-day event in Montreal next July.

The Princess does not have to ride in any more major events to clinch a place. All she needs to do is to show that her horse Goodwill is fit before the British team leaves for Canada July 11. Queen Elizabeth's daughter, now 25, has said her life's ambition is to ride in the Olympics and do well. After she married Capt. Mark Phillips in 1973 she said that winning an Olympic medal was more important even than having children.

Anne has had a run of bad luck since she won the European three-day event title on Doublet in 1971. That made her the first member of the British Royal Family to win a major international sports event.

The Princess and Doublet were favored to win a medal at the Munich Olympics in 1972. But just as the selectors were about to choose the British team, Doublet went lame. It was later destroyed.

Anne went to Munich, but only as a spectator. She watched Phillips ride on the British team that won the gold medal in the three-day event. They were engaged the next year.

The Princess found a new horse, Goodwill, and hoped to repeat her success in the EUROPEAN CHAMPIONSHIPS AT Kiev in 1973. But she took a tumble at one of the fearsome fences and broke a collarbone.

Last year she competed for top honors with Lucinda Prior-Palmer, a young English girl who suddenly hit the top on a horse called Be Fair.

Miss Prior-Palmer, 22, won the European three-day event title on Be Fair and Princess Anne was runner-up on Goodwill. The two girls rode and jumped so well that everyone knew they would be on the British team for the Olympics.

Phillips is named among the probabilities with two alternative horses — Favour and Persian Holiday.

Richard Meade, winner of three Olympic gold medals and an old friend and adviser of the Princess, is listed with his horse Jacob Jones. Hugh Thomas, a 28-year-old real estate man, and his mount, Playmar, complete the squad.

VERDICT UPHOLD: The Iowa Supreme Court Wednesday upheld the award of $750,000 to former University of Iowa basketball player James Speed, who became blind in 1970 after university doctors removed two teeth and treated him for a sinus infection. (AP Wirephoto)

Spurs Cut Down Nets

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "The pressure is still on us," said Coach Bob Bass, despite a 111-103 triumph which earned his San Antonio Spurs a 2-1 edge over the New York Nets in their American Basketball Association semifinal playoffs.

"We have to win the next game at home on Sunday," Bass said after Larry Kenon poured in 28 points to pace the Spurs in Wednesday night's third game of the best-of-seven series. "If we can win at home we don't have to win any more games at New York."

The Denver Nuggets, who won the regular season championship, take on the Kentucky Colonels in Denver tonight in the first game of their best-of-seven semifinal series.

The Colonels won their opening round best-of-three playoffs with a 2-1 series victory over the Indiana Pacers.

San Antonio overcame a 53-48 halftime deficit as Kenon managed 24 of his points in the second half, while teammate Mike Gale hit a career high of 22. The Spurs ran off the first six points after intermission and outscored the Nets 63-56 in the second half.

New York Coach Kevin Loughery said, "The key to the game was the beginning of the third quarter, when it took us six shots to get a basket. That let San Antonio come back on us."

Despite Kenon's hot hand, the top scorer was Julius Erving with 31 points for the Nets. Brian Taylor contributed 20 for the New Yorkers.

Kenon grabbed 16 rebounds and Billy Paulitz 14 as the Spurs controlled the boards by a 37-45 margin.

The Princess does not have to ride in any more major events to clinch a place. All she needs to do is to show that her horse Goodwill is fit before the British team leaves for Canada July 11, Queen Elizabeth's daughter.

now 25, has said her life's ambition is to ride in the Olympics and do well. After she married Capt. Mark Phillips in 1973 she said that winning an Olympic medal was more important even than having children.

Anne has had a run of bad luck since she won the European three-day event title on Doublet in 1971. That made her the first member of the British Royal Family to win a major international sports event.

The Princess and Doublet were favored to win a medal at the Munich Olympics in 1972. But just as the selectors were about to choose the British team, Doublet went lame. It was later destroyed.

Anne went to Munich, but only as a spectator. She watched Phillips ride on the British team that won the gold medal in the three-day event. They were engaged the next year.

The Princess found a new horse, Goodwill, and hoped to repeat her success in the EUROPEAN CHAMPIONSHIPS AT Kiev in 1973. But she took a tumble at one of the fearsome fences and broke a collarbone.

Last year she competed for top honors with Lucinda Prior-Palmer, a young English girl who suddenly hit the top on a horse called Be Fair.

Miss Prior-Palmer, 22, won the European three-day event title on Be Fair and Princess Anne was runner-up on Goodwill. The two girls rode and jumped so well that everyone knew they would be on the British team for the Olympics.

Phillips is named among the probables with two alternative horses — Favour and Persian Holiday.

Richard Meade, winner of three Olympic gold medals and an old friend and adviser of the Princess, is listed with his horse Jacob Jones. Hugh Thomas, a 28-year-old real estate man, and his mount, Playamar, complete the squad.

Spurs Cut Down Nets

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "The pressure is still on us," said Coach Bob Bass, despite a 111-103 triumph which earned his San Antonio Spurs a 2-1 edge over the New York Nets in their American Basketball Association semifinal playoffs.

"We have to win the next game at home on Sunday," Bass said after Larry Kenon poured in 28 points to pace the Spurs in Wednesday night's third game of the best-of-seven series. "If we can win at home we don't have to win any more games at New York."

The Denver Nuggets, who won the regular season championship, take on the Kentucky Colonels in Denver tonight in the first game of their best-of-seven semifinal series.

The Colonels won their opening round best-of-three playoffs with a 2-1 series victory over the Indiana Pacers.

San Antonio overcame a 53-48 halftime deficit as Kenon managed 24 of his points in the second half, while teammate Mike Gale hit a career high of 22. The Spurs ran off the first six points after intermission and outscored the Nets 63-50 in the second half.

New York Coach Kevin Loughery said, "The key to the game was the beginning of the third quarter, when it took us six shots to get a basket. That let San Antonio come back on us."

Despite Kenon's hot hand, the top scorer was Julius Erving with 31 points for the Nets. Brian Taylor contributed 20 for the New Yorkers.

Kenon grabbed 16 rebounds and Billy Paultz 14 as the Spurs controlled the boards by a 57-45 margin.

Wood went the distance for the second time this season and now has pitched 17 innings without giving up an earned run.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Texas Rangers completed a three-game sweep of the Oakland A's 4-2, the Cleveland Indians came from four runs behind to edge the Boston Red Sox 5-5 and the California Angels posted their first 1976 triumph by shading the Kansas City Royals 7-6. Gaylord Perry pitched Texas to its third straight triumph over the A's with a six-hitter, outdueling Vida Blue. By winning, the Rangers moved into first place in the AL West with a 5-1 record, 1½ games ahead of the White Sox and two in front of the perennial champion A's.

Texas took a 2-1 lead in the fifth inning. Roy Howell, singled, was sacrificed to second and scored when Jim Fregosi's hot grounder took a bad hop and caromed off third baseman Sal Bando's arm for a double. Toby Harrah's single sent Fregosi home. In the seventh, Lenny Randle walked, moved to second on a sacrifice, took third on a grounder and scored on a wild pitch.

Rick Manning doubled to trigger a six-run sixth inning against Ferguson-Jenkins that erased a 4-0 Boston lead as the Red Sox pounded Jim Bibby. Manning scored on Duane Kuiper's single and one out later a walk and Boog Powell's single made it 4-2.

Rico Carty doubled a run home and, after an intentional walk, Jenkins balked the tying run across. Alan Ashby then delivered a two-run single. Ed Herrmann homered twice and drove in four runs to lead the Angels to their first 1976 victory. With Kansas City leading 3-3 in the eighth inning, Dave Collins and Bruce Bochte walked and a single by Bill Melton brought Collins home. Then Herrmann unloaded his second home run of the night, a shot over the right field fence off reliever Marty Pattin.

Cruz, Barr Leading 1976 Rookie Class

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

In the first week of the major league baseball season, the best reports on the 1976 rookie class belong to third baseman Hector Cruz of the St. Louis Cardinals and pitcher Steve Barr of the Texas Rangers.

The Cardinals were so convinced that Cruz could make the jump to the majors that they swapped Ken Reitz to San Francisco over the winter, opening up third base for the 23-year-old infielder who was the American Association's Player of the Year in 1975.

So far, the gamble has paid off. In his first four games, Cruz is batting .333 on five hits in his first 15 at bats including a double and a homer. He has driven in five runs and scored two.

Barr was another gamble, coming to the Rangers in the controversial trade that sent Ferguson-Jenkins to Boston. But the curve-balling left-hander made an impressive Texas debut, limiting Oakland to four hits in his first start and beating the A's 3-1.

Cruz is a converted outfielder who is still learning the ropes at third base. But the Cardinals are willing to live with an occasional fielding adventure in order to keep his bat in the lineup.

Cruz, whose brother, Jose, plays the outfield for Houston, brought formidable credentials with him to the Cardinals. He batted .306 in 1975 with 29 home runs and 116 runs batted in at

Two other highly-touted infielders haven't gotten off quite as quickly as Cruz at the plate.

New York Yankee second baseman Willie Randolph snapped an 0-for-8 start Tuesday night with his first major league home run. It came against Baltimore ace Jim Palmer. Randolph, who carried a can't-miss tag after batting .339 at Charleston last year, later added a single. Those hits boosted his average to .182, not outstanding but a lot better than the .000 he had been carrying round. He also stole his first base of the season.

Randolph also has given the Yankees airtight defense at second base, something the team has been lacking for many years. He also is the first rookie in the seven-year history of fan voting to be listed on the All Star ballot.

Jerry Royster came to Atlanta as one of the most highly-touted rookies in baseball after batting .333 to lead the Pacific Coast League last year. Acquired in the Jim Wynn-Dusty Baker trade, Royster was installed at third base but has no hits so far. He carried an 0-for-14 horse collar through the Braves' first four games.

Two other rookies have moved into regular jobs. Chet Lemon is playing center field for the Chicago White Sox and batting .200 on 2-for-10 and Butch Wynegar has been handling Minnesota's catching and batting .231 on 3-for-12.

Comedies Gaining On Other TV Fare

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you like to laugh but are getting bugged with all the cop shows on television, the program lineups of all three networks for next fall may make you believe there is faint hope after all.

Compared to the start of last season, when 22½ situation comedies and 20 cop or private eye shows were offered, next season will serve up 26 sitcoms and only 16 crime-fighters.

CBS will account for most of the half-hour comedies. It has 14 in its lineup, two more than last September. NBC is holding out at four sitcoms, while ABC has raised its ante to eight, up by two.

For die-hard cop and gunshow fans, CBS will return with six crime-fighting shows, the same number it had last season. But NBC and ABC, which each had seven crime shows last season, will start the next with only five each.

Where to find the sitcoms? Well, CBS is offering four on Saturday nights, four on Monday, two on Tuesdays and four on Wednesdays.

At ABC, you'll find a pair of half-hour chucklers in Saturdays, four on Tuesdays and two more on Thursdays.

As some fans no doubt recall, many critics last fall grouched that the new "family hour" now tuned-down a lot of the potential spice and sophistication of comedies aired during "family viewing" time.

Indeed, just four of CBS' 12 situation comedies — "Mary Tyler Moore," "Bob Newhart," "Maude" and "All in the Family" — aired after the family viewing period at night ended.

The remaining eight shows, along with NBC's four sitcoms and ABC's six, all had to try for their laughs in the heavily sanitized, "family hour" in the opening weeks of the 1975-76 seasons.

But next season may prove a bit more heartening for viewers who prefer comedy that is a bit more adult and frank than is allowed under the networks' "family viewing" rules of order.

Eight of CBS' situation comedies — including the four we've already cited — will air after the "family hour" ends, as will two sitcoms each on NBC and ABC when the 1976-77 season begins.

This hasn't been a very good season for shows. By my tally, the three networks since last September have dropped a total of 42 weekly series, some old, most new or mid-season replacements.

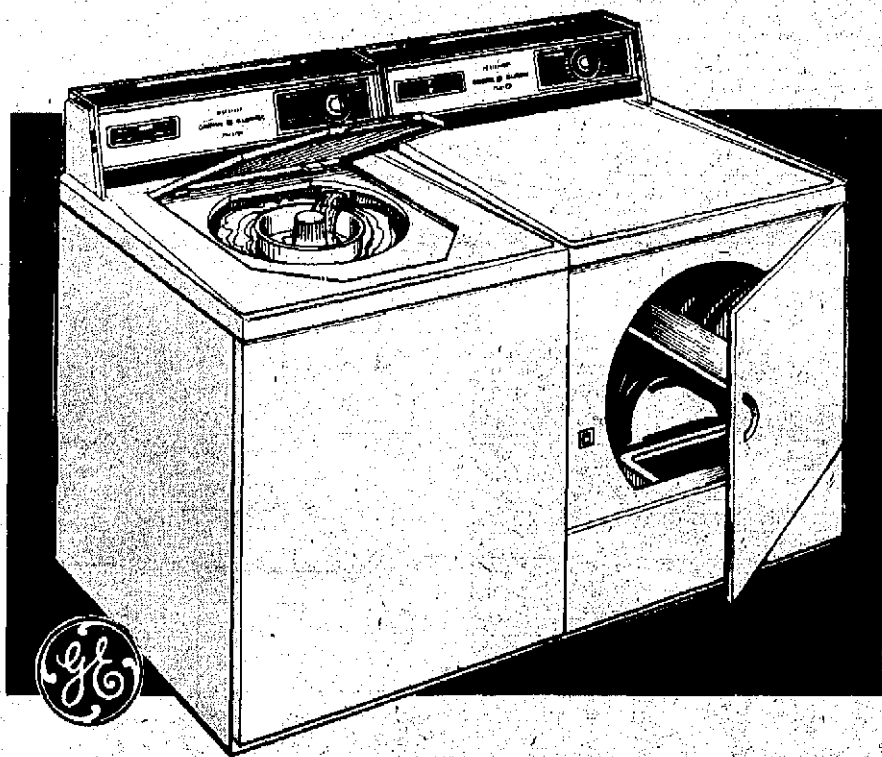

The biggest show-dropper, as might be expected, was NBC. Still agonizing over its worst season in the ratings in recent years, it has axed a total of 17 weekly shows, followed by ABC with 15 and CBS with 11.

CBS will start its new season in late September with six shows, while NBC and ABC each will check in with nine new entries. And we'll check in with discussions of them in coming editions.

Comedies Gaining On Other TV Fare

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you like to laugh but are getting bugged with all the cop shows on television, the program lineups of all three networks for next fall may make you believe there is faint hope after all.

Compared to the start of last season, when 22 situation comedies and 20 cop or private eye shows were offered, next season will serve up 26 sitcoms and only 16 crime-fighters.

CBS will account for most of the half-hour comedies. It has 14 in its lineup, two more than last September. NBC is holding pat at four sitcoms, while ABC has raised its ante to eight, up by two.

For die-hard cop and gunshow fans, CBS will return with six crime-fighting shows, the same number it had last season. But NBC and ABC, which each had seven crime shows last season, will start the next with only five each.

Where to find the sitcoms? Well, CBS is offering four on Saturday nights, four on Monday, two on Tuesdays and four on Wednesdays.

At ABC, you'll find a pair of half-hour chucklers on Saturdays, four on Tuesdays and two more on Thursdays.

NBC's four situation comedies will appear at the rate of two each on Thursdays and Fridays.

As some fans no doubt recall, many critics last fall grouched that the new "family hour" monos toned down a lot of the potential spice and sophistication of comedies aired during "family viewing" time.

Indeed, just four of CBS' 12 situation comedies — "Mary Tyler Moore," "Bob Newhart," "Maude" and "All in the Family" — aired after the family viewing period at night ended.

The remaining eight shows, along with NBC's four sitcoms and ABC's six, all had to try for their laughs in the heavily sanitized, "family hour" in the opening weeks of the 1975-76 seasons.

But next season may prove a bit more heartening for viewers who prefer comedy that is a bit more adult and frank than is allowed under the networks' "family viewing" rules of order.

Eight of CBS' situation comedies — including the four we've already cited — will air after the "family hour" ends, as will two sitcoms each on NBC and ABC when the 1976-77 season begins.

This hasn't been a very good season for shows. By my tally, the three networks since last September have dropped a total of 42 weekly series, some old, most new or mid-season replacements.

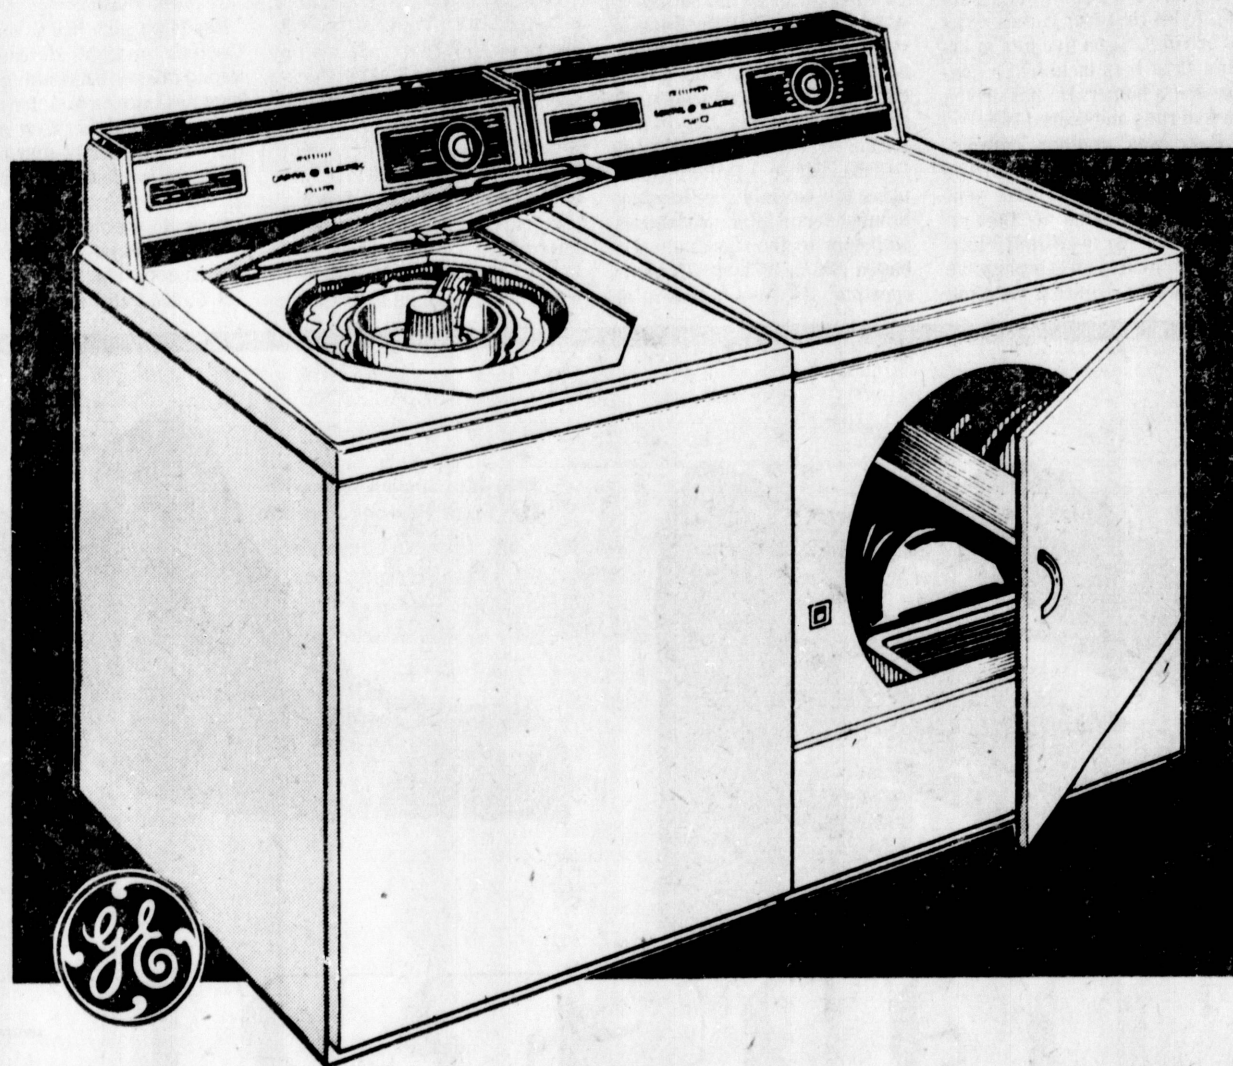

The biggest show-dropper, as might be expected, was NBC. Still agonizing over its worst season in the ratings in recent years, it has axed a total of 17 weekly shows, followed by ABC with 15 and CBS with 10.

CBS will start its new season in late September with six shows, while NBC and ABC each will check in with nine new entries. And we'll check in with discussions of them in coming editions.

Hartford Area Says 'No' To Sewage Plan

TOWNSHIP'S OFFICIAL STAND AWAITED

HARTFORD — Hartford township participation in a proposed $5,634,000 sewage treatment plan was blocked here last night.

Township residents opposing the participation turned the tide against the plan during a public hearing. An estimated 220 people attended.

Township Supervisor Donald Drake said the opposition was "loud and clear" and that as far as he was concerned the township board would follow the people's recommendation.

"We represent you people," Drake told the gathering. "And it's our intention to do what the majority of you want us to do."

Petitions signed by 213 people opposing participation were filed during the session as were comments from opposition members.

"I've only heard of four people in favor of the project," Drake commented.

The petitions asked the township board to cease all negotiations, consideration and further planning in relation to authorizing the financing or continuation of the sewer project. They were filed by Roger Duncombe, Route 1, box 15B, Hartford.

The plan cover a collection and treatment system for the township as well as Hartford city and part of Bangor township.

Following the meeting, Drake said this was the second hearing regarding the sewer project and that a majority of the people attending the first session on March 29 also strongly opposed the project. About 130 people attended the first session.

Drake said unless a special board meeting is held earlier to decide on the issue officially, a decision would be made on the township's role in the project at the board's regular May 12 meeting. Drake added the board would still attend an environmental public hearing slated for 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 20, at the Lawrence high school auditorium.

Drake indicated no official decision could be made before that hearing next week.

During the hearing, the proposed sewer project was outlined by Thomas Deneau, an engineer with Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, including a report on the financial costs and obligations of the sewer system.

Over 25 residents posed questions to Deneau and Jack Welc, of the state Department of Natural Resources and Jim Brunel of the Van Buren county health department, covering a wide range of topics on the sewer project.

One of the first objectors to voice his disapproval over the proposed project was Cecil Wright, of CR-372, who said he'd like to see the entire project postponed for 18 to 24 months.

"It appears to be a lot of railroading going on. We're having this thing pushed hard, and we can't get all the answers we want, or are delayed in getting them," said Wright.

the way it's being pushed."

Wright was referring to the high priority given the project in receiving up to $4,156,000 in grants to help pay for the overall costs of the project.

Welc, responding to a question asked about the township being forced to build the sewer project by the state, even if they refused the grant — said "Hartford township would not be forced to build the project, unless they were cited for water contamination problems, and none exist in the township." The township is not under any order to build a sewer system, he added.

Brunel said the official position of the department is neither for or against the project, but only to present the information.

It's up to residents and the township board to make the final decision.

Under the plans outlined, federal and state grants would pay for approximately 80 per cent of the total cost of the project, with Hartford township's share of the ungranted balance amounting to $871,000.

Lawrence Names Top Graduates

LAWRENCE — Eva Fernandez has been named valedictorian and Matthew Mills has been named salutatorian of the 1976 Lawrence high school graduating class, the school has announced.

Miss Fernandez, whose grade point average was 3.88, is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Fernandez, of 52nd street, Lawrence, and Dr. Cesar Fernandez of Chicago.

A member of the National Honor society, Miss Fernandez plans to attend Kalamazoo Community college next fall. She is president of the senior high band and was student director for the senior class play and band folies this year.

Mills earned a grade point average of 3.65 and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Mills, route 2, Lawrence.

Mills played four years on the varsity football, basketball and baseball teams and was on the varsity track team one year.

He was president of both his junior and senior classes, served on the student council, and is a member of the National Honor society. He plans to attend Michigan State university to study agricultural engineering.

Eleven other students finished with top ten grade point averages, according to the school. Those students were Bradley Shaw, Marilyn Beridon, Gina Konkle, Mary Munday, Debbie Reits, Marjorie Heuser, Sandy Dillenbeck, Sandy Boitnott, Anna Hawkinson, Dale Zoodsma and Mark Mills.

EMU Honors Area Students

YPSILANTI — Eight students from southwestern Michigan attending Eastern Michigan university were recognized for academic achievement at EMU's 28th honors convocation April 7.

Honored were Geoffrey Isaac, Benton Harbor; Kent Hayslip, Cassopolis; Janet Arent, Coloma; David Allen, Edwardsburg; and Paul Brohan, Thomas Capes, Donna Tinberg, and Thomas Winter, all of St. Joseph.

Dowagiac Vandalism Mounting

DOWAGIAC — The director of Dowagiac's parks and recreation department said nearly $2,000 in vandalism has occurred in five city parks during late March and early April.

Gary Carlie, in a report to city manager Henry Graper expressed disappointment and frustration over the rash of vandalism.

Graper said he will ask the city council to authorize a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons responsible for the damage. In addition to the park damage, two Bicentennial flags and poles outside city hall were recently broken off and left in a nearby alley. The flags were stolen, however, Graper said.

Carlie said it is frustrating to develop a parks and recreation system when it's necessary to constantly repair and replace fixtures.

Carlie listed the damage as follows: At Lions park in the city's south central area, tree damage totaling $390 and pavilion wall and roof damage of $500.

At the Lions lot, shrubs and a merry-go-round, $50 worth of damage.

At Jaycees park on the city's northeast side, tree damage of $200 and $100 damage to a fenced gate.

At the Jaycees junior lot, $30 damage to the merry-go-round.

State Approves Annexation Of Enclave To South Haven City

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — The state boundary commission yesterday unanimously approved a petition from the city of South Haven to annex a 30-acre parcel of land in South Haven township to the city.

The 4 to 0 vote came during an adjudicative hearing at the commission's Lansing offices. A public hearing had been held in South Haven last November.

The city had petitioned for annexation on the grounds that the land is totally surrounded by the city and that the city is already providing many of its services to the residents by virtue of its location.

The land is bounded by Monroe boulevard to the west, Aylworth avenue to the north, the city's industrial park to the east and Lovejoy street to the south. The property contains several homes with approximately 22 residents and some light industrial businesses, but most of the land is undeveloped.

Favoring the annexation were permanent boundary commission members D. R. Callahan, chairman, Irving Rozlan and Al Vander Laan and one of two Van Buren county representatives, George Falkner of Hartford.

The second Van Buren representative, Abe Warshawsky of South Haven, was absent, but indicated to the commission that he favored annexation.

The commission commended the city for "stepping up to its responsibilities" by including the property in its long-range master plan, noting that South Haven township does not have a zoning ordinance.

The commission also noted that the city's master plan indicates that "the city doesn't intend to run rough-shod over residents by drastically changing current land use through zoning."

The annexation attempt had been opposed by the residents as well as the South Haven township board.

Supervisor James Schmake said last night that the township board would not make an official statement until receiving writing notification of the action.

That notification is expected to take 30 days. Then the township will have 60 days to decide if it wishes to challenge the decision through either the Ingham or Van Buren county circuit courts.

The boundary commission rejected a proposal from the township board that the area to be annexed be enlarged to include nearly lakefront property including the Evergreen Bluff subdivision. Township officials admitted that their proposal was intended to force a referendum vote since the enlarged area would include more than 100 people.

The state's annexation law does not provide for a vote of the people when the area in question contains fewer than 100 people.

The commission rejected the proposal on the grounds the enlarged area extended into the township in a way that represents spot annexation.

"Our main objection to this annexation attempt has been that the people have been denied their right to be involved in the decision through an election," said Schmake. "We as a township board would not stand in the way of anyone's desire to join the city, but that hasn't been the case."

The decision evens up the city's attempt to annex property from South Haven township. In 1972 a petition to annex property now housing the Briar Hills apartment complex on 6th avenue was denied by the state.

SCHOOL VOTE DUE IN JUNE

Berrien Springs Wants 6.2 Mills

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs school board last night approved placing a property tax millage request on the June 14 ballot and named a new middle school principal.

Supt. Jon Schuster said the board will place a 6.2 mills property tax request for operating purposes on the ballot. Of the one-package 6.2 mills request, 3.2 mills is renewal of millage that expired with the last tax collection and three mills are additional. The millage is being asked for a two-year period.

Robert Fein, 28, currently assistant high school principal, was appointed new middle school principal. He will replace

Roy Rembach, who resigned last month for personal reasons, effective July 1. Fein, a native of Niles, has been assistant high school principal at Berrien Springs for four years. His salary as middle school principal will be $18,500 annually. Schuster said. He currently is making $15,500 a year.

Schuster termed the millage request, which was unanimously accepted by the board, as "absolutely essential if we are to continue our present level of programs in light of losses of state aid that we've experienced this year and factors of inflation."

Schuster said it is the first request for additional millage for operating costs the board has sought since 1969. He said two years ago the board sought three additional operating mills, but at the same time took three mills off the debt retirement for a net effect of no millage increase.

The proposal will be worded, according to Schuster, to read "up to 6.2 mills" so if conditions of state aid change for the better "...we could levy less than that amount," Schuster said.

Each mill will raise about $47,000 based on 1975 taxable property value.

He said the Berrien Springs school district has already lost some $53,000 in state aid this year, and it appears it may lose another $50,000 before the school year is over.

The school district currently levies 22.776 mills for school operations, including 8.376 levies by the county and 14.4 mills extra voted. If the millage issued is approved, the total operating millage would be 25.776 mills. The district also levies 4.37 mills for debt retirement, which will remain the same, Schuster said. Also the seats of two-school board members are up for election June 14. They are Peter Rudell, board president, and William Boyd, trustee. Both are four year seats. Nominating petitions are available from Schuster's office and must be filed by 4 p.m. May 17.

Hartford Area Says 'No' To Sewage Plan

HARTFORD — Hartford township participation in a proposed $5,634,000 sewage treatment plan was blocked here last night.

Township residents opposing the participation turned the tide against the plan during a public hearing. An estimated 220 people attended.

Township Supervisor Donald Drake said the opposition was "loud and clear" and that as far as he was concerned the township board would follow the people's recommendation.

"We represent you people," Drake told the gathering. "And it's our intention to do what the majority of you want us to do."

Petitions signed by 213 people opposing participation were filed during the session as were comments from opposition members.

"I've only heard of four people in favor of the project," Drake commented.

The petitions asked the township board to cease all negotiations, consideration and further planning in relation to authorizing the financing or continuation of the sewer project. They were filed by Roger Duncombe, Route 1, box 15B, Hartford.

The plan cover a collection and treatment system for the township as well as Hartford city and part of Bangor township.

Following the meeting, Drake said this was the second hearing regarding the sewer project and that a majority of the people attending the first session on March 29 also strongly opposed the project. About 130 people attended the first session.

Drake said unless a special board meeting is held earlier to decide on the issue officially, a decision would be made on the township's role in the project at the board's regular May 12 meeting. Drake added the board would still attend an environmental public hearing slated for 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 20, at the Lawrence high school auditorium.

Drake indicated no official decision could be made before that hearing.

During the hearing, the proposed sewer project was outlined by Thomas Deneau, an engineer with Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, including a report on the financial costs and obligations of the sewer system as they relate to the governmental units involved.

Over 25 residents posed questions to Deneau and Jack Welc, of the state Department of Natural Resources and Jim Brunet of the Van Buren county health department, covering a wide range of topics on the sewer project.

One of the first objectors to voice his disapproval over the proposed project was Cecil Wright, of CR-372, who said he'd like to see the entire project postponed for 18 to 24 months.

"It appears to be a lot of railroading going on. We're having this thing pushed hard, and we can't get all the answers we want," said Wright.

He continued, "I'm not against the sewer idea, but only the way it's being pushed."

Wright was referring to the high priority given the project in receiving up to $4,156,000 in grants to help pay for the overall costs of the project.

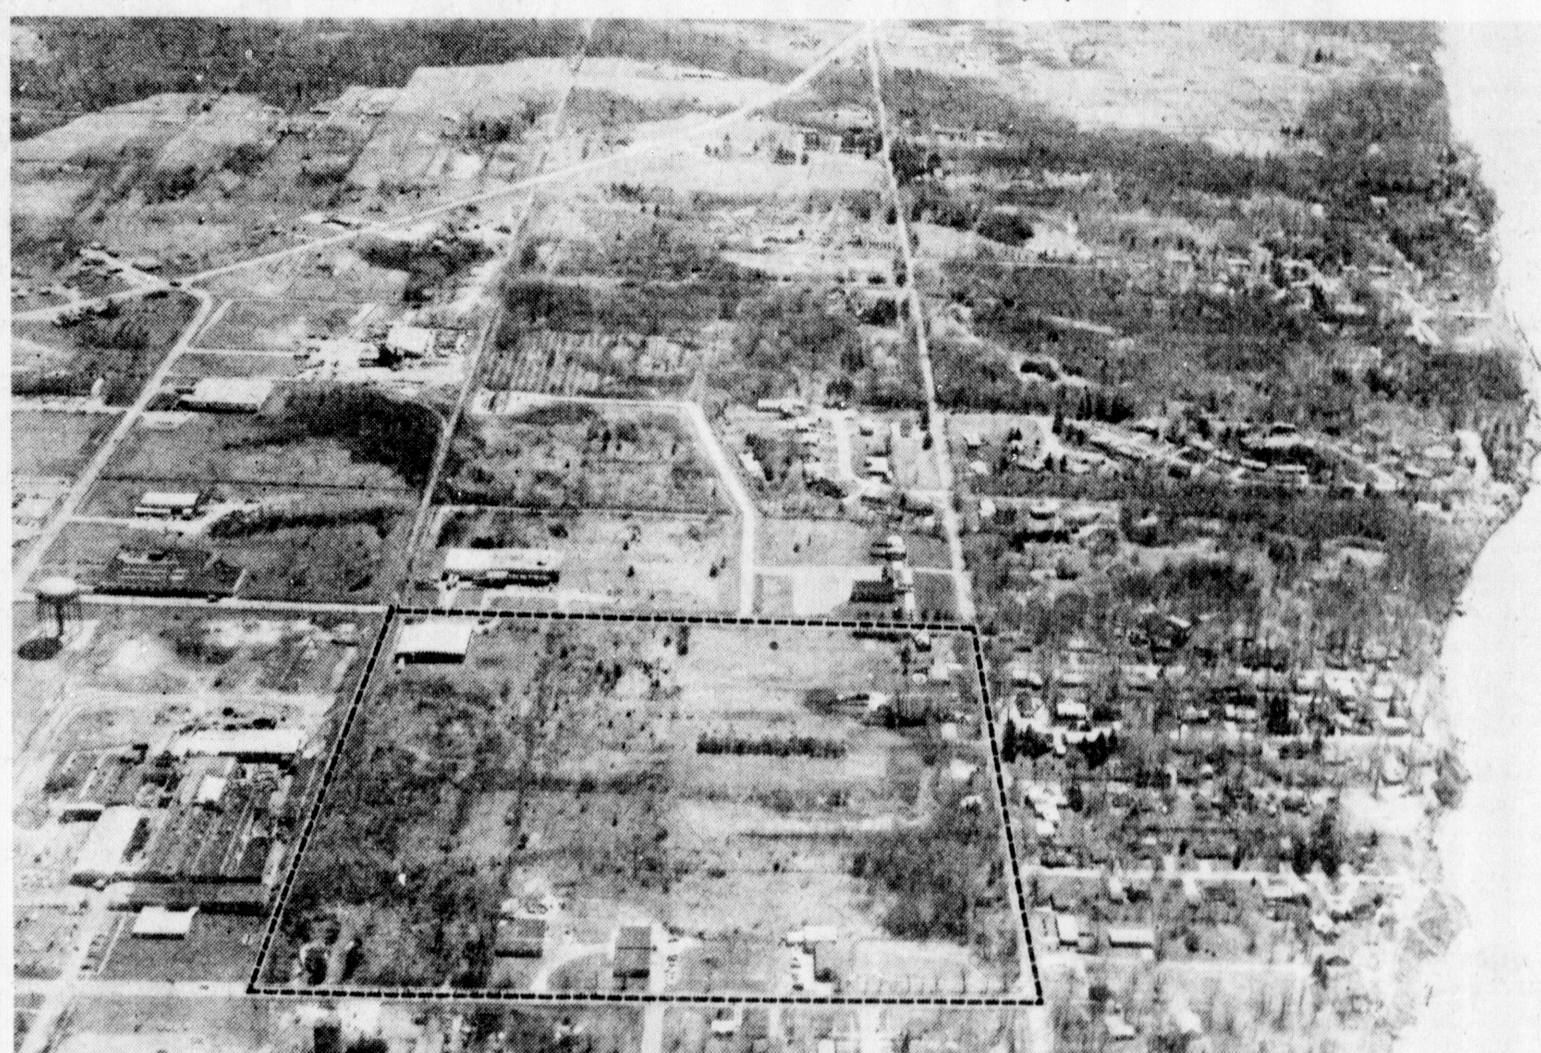

Welc, responding to a question asked about the township being forced to build the sewer project by the state, even if they refused the grant — said "Hartford township would not be forced to build the project, unless they were cited for water contamination problems, and none exist in the township." The township is not under any order to build a sewer system, he added.

Brunet said the official position of the department is neither for or against the project, but only to present the information.

It's up to residents and the township board to make the final decision.

Under the plans outlined, federal and state grants would pay for approximately 80 per cent of the total cost of the project, with Hartford township's share of the ungranted balance amounting to $871,000.

Dowagiac
Vandalism Mounting

DOWAGIAC — The director of Dowagiac's parks and recreation department said nearly $2,000 in vandalism has occurred in five city parks during late March and early April.

Gary Carlile, in a report to city manager Henry Graper expressed disappointment and frustration over the rash of vandalism.

Graper said he will ask the city council to authorize a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons responsible for the damage. In addition to the park damage, two Bicentennial flags and poles outside city hall were recently broken off and left in a nearby alley. The flags were stolen, however, Graper said.

Carlile said it is frustrating to develop a parks and recreation system when it's necessary to constantly repair and replace fixtures.

Carlile listed the damage as follows: At Lions park in the city's south central area, tree damage totaling $360 and pavilion wall and roof damage of $500.

At the Lions tot lot, shrubs and a merry-go-round, $50 worth of damage.

At Jaycees park on the city's northeast side, tree damage of $200 and $100 damage to a fenced area.

At the Jaycees junior lot, $30 damage to the merry-go-round.

Bread Color Means Little

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP) — The color of bread and its list of ingredients are not indications of whether it's nutritious, the Consumers Union says. The Consumers Union, which publishes its findings in the monthly Consumer reports magazine, said in a statement that test results of 33 brands of bread found no correlation between the ingredients in the breads and the way they performed nutritionally. The magazine said fortifying or enriching breads doesn't necessarily make them superior, nor does any particular brand name identify a bread as consistently superior.

Car Sales Slip

DETROIT (AP) — The pace of domestic new car sales in early April fell from March's robust levels but still showed a 33 per cent increase over the first 10 days of April 1975. The nation's four automakers Wednesday reported total sales of 216,701 cars for the latest period, up from 163,190 a year ago. Industry analysts said sales weakened during early April because of dealer contests which closed at the end of March.

STRIKE HOPE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There was new hope today for a break in deadlocked talks between the city and striking municipal employees as both sides met with a federal mediator. Mayor George Moscone said Wednesday night that the Board of Supervisors and labor leaders had talked separately with chief federal mediator James Searce to lay ground rules for mediated bargaining.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Declines Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined again today amid some disappointment over the downturn in prices on Wednesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off almost a point in the early going. Losers took a 3-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market had staged a technical rally on Tuesday, with the Dow climbing nearly 13 points. But the advance quickly ran out of momentum in Wednesday's activity.

Brokers said investors took that showing as evidence that the market lacked the energy to break out of the narrow range in which it has fluctuated for the past several weeks.

Wall Streeters were looking for a quiet session today with the start of Passover and the Good Friday-Easter holiday weekend just ahead. The markets will be closed Friday.

Today's early prices included Xerox, unchanged at 51 1/2; Litton Industries, down 1/4 at 14 1/2; Korr-McGee, up 1 at 69; and Deere & Co., down 1/4 at 60 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 8.61 to 974.65.

Declines outpaced advances by about a 5-3 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index lost .38 to 53.35.

Big Board volume came to 18.44 million shares. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index edged up .03 to 101.83.

NY TIMES SPEAKER

'Unions Are Not Killing The Country'

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

"Unions are not killing the country," A.H. Raskin, a member of the editorial board of the New York Times, told 220 members and guests of the Economic Club of Southwestern Michigan last night at the Ramada Inn south of Benton Harbor.

But the veteran labor writer for the Times said, "Industry has a special responsibility to insure that the labor movement becomes more constructive and socially responsible, rather than more cynical and more predatory."

Raskin explained his basic belief in the labor movement: "Well aware as I am of how much damage unions can do and do to our economy, I recognize them as a bulwark of the free enterprise system, totally dedicated to its preservation and committed to its values."

Then he added: "If unions are guilty of excesses in their pursuit of these values as they often are—perhaps a good deal of the blame rests on the bad examples set by many who are shining lights in the business community."

Raskin continued: "Unlike the labor movement of all the great industrial countries of Europe, every one of which is under the socialist or Communist control, the American unions reject Marxism as any kind of answer to America's problems. 'Unions need capitalism like a fish needs water,' was the way David Dubinsky, a one-time socialist, used to put it when he was president of the International Ladies Garment workers union."

The situation in the Teamster negotiations, Raskin said, "was that union President Frank Fitzsimmons had other problems. Fitzsimmons, he said, was under attack for being too buddy-buddy with the industry, spending too much time flying from golf course to golf course, his executive jet, and hanky panky in the huge central States pension fund."

Raskin said Fitzsimmons needed a quick settlement with a big increase to brag about before the upcoming Teamsters convention where he would have been under heavier attack.

If President Ford had invoked the Taft-Hartley act providing for an 80-day cooling off period, Fitzsimmons would have gone before the Teamsters' convention without a contract.

Fitzsimmons is just about the only president of a major union that Ford has any hope of having on his side in November, Raskin said.

Raskin explained the administration "decided to take Fitzsimmons off the spot by passing up a swift move for an injunction" under the Taft-Hartley act.

The Teamsters exhibited their strike muscle, some auto companies started slowing down and then the truck operators yelled "uncle."

The Teamster package including 30 per cent pay increases will be paid for by the public, Raskin said.

Contracts covering 5 million workers come up for renewal this year and as a result of the pace setting by the Teamsters there is a high threshold of expectation for every other union.

Bendix Has Big Quarter

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Bendix Corp. had record-breaking second quarter and first half figures for the opening months of its fiscal year, the firm said Wednesday.

Chairman W. Michael Blumenthal said the report reflected the firm's "unbroken record of progress before, during and since the recent recession."

Second quarter revenues were $762 million, up 21 per cent over the $628 million figure a year ago. Income was up 41 per cent to $26.5 million, or $1.20 a share, compared with $18.8 million or 86 cents a share a year ago, the manufacturer said.

Midyear revenues were $1.45 billion, 16 per cent above last year's comparable figure of $1.25 billion. Net income of $49.8 million or $2.26 a share was 38 per cent ahead of the comparable 1975 figures of $36 million or $1.65 a share.

Blumenthal said the firm's worldwide automotive operations were up substantially "due largely to the strong pace of new car production in the 1976 model year and improvements in our car and truck aftermarket."

Bendix, a diversified firm, has operations in automotive, aerospace-electronics, building materials and industrial-energy areas.

$72 MILLION PROFIT

Chrysler Makes Dramatic Comeback

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp., snapping an 18-month string of heavy losses, reported strong net earnings of $72 million for the first quarter of 1976. Financial analysts called it one of the most dramatic turnarounds in American business.

Chrysler, which accumulated record losses of $312 million in 1974 and 1975, said Wednesday its profits were the second highest ever for a January-April period.

The nation's third largest auto maker earned a first-quarter record $90 million in 1973.

During the first three months of 1976, Chrysler's U.S. car sales were up 34 per cent from the year before.

The firm's latest quarterly earnings, equal to $1.20 per share, were inflated by an extraordinary addition of $15 million due to a tax credit applied against prior losses.

Even so, analysts said they were impressed that Chrysler was able to stage a sharp earnings comeback after losing money for six consecutive periods dating back to the third quarter of 1974.

General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. release their earnings results later this month.

Chrysler, the hardest-hit victim of the auto industry's two-year recession, had a net loss of $94 million, or $1.58 per share, in the first quarter of 1975. It was the steepest loss for a single period in company history.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Declines Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined again today amid some disappointment over the downturn in prices on Wednesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off almost a point in the early going. Losers took a 3-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market had staged a technical rally on Tuesday, with the Dow climbing nearly 13 points. But the advance quickly ran out of momentum in Wednesday's activity.

Brokers said investors took that showing as evidence that the market lacked the energy to break out of the narrow range in which it has fluctuated for the past several weeks.

Wall Streeters were looking for a quiet session today with the start of Passover and the Good Friday-Easter holiday weekend just ahead. The markets will be closed Friday.

Today's early prices included Xerox, unchanged at 51 3/4; Litton Industries, down 1/4 at 14 3/4; Kerr-McGee, up 1 at 69; and Deere & Co., down 1/4 at 60 3/4.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 9.61 to 974.65.

Declines outpaced advances by about a 5-3 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index lost .38 to 33.35.

Big Board volume came to 18.44 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index edged up .03 to 101.63.

that Ford has any hope of having on his side in November, Raskin said.

Raskin explained the administration "decided to take Fitzsimmons off the spot by passing up a swift move for an injunction" under the Taft-Hartley act.

The Teamsters exhibited their strike muscle, some auto companies started slowing down and then the truck operators yelled "uncle."

The Teamster package including 30 per cent pay increases will be paid for by the public, Raskin said.

Contracts covering 5 million workers come up for renewal this year and as a result of the pace setting by the Teamsters there is a high threshold of expectation for every other union.

Bendix Has Big Quarter

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Bendix Corp. had record-breaking second quarter and first half figures for the opening months of its fiscal year, the firm said Wednesday.

Chairman W. Michael Blumenthal said the report reflected the firm's "unbroken record of progress before, during and since the recent recession."

Second quarter revenues were $762 million, up 21 per cent over the $628 million figure a year ago. Income was up 41 per cent to $26.5 million, or $1.20 a share, compared with $18.8 million or 86 cents a share a year ago, the manufacturer said.

Midyear revenues were $1.45 billion, 16 per cent above last year's comparable figure of $1.25 billion. Net income of $49.8 million or $2.26 a share was 38 per cent ahead of the comparable 1975 figures of $36 million or $1.65 a share.

Blumenthal said the firm's worldwide automotive operations were up substantially "due largely to the strong pace of new car production in the 1976 model year and improvements in our car and truck aftermarket."

Bendix, a diversified firm, has operations in automotive, aerospace-electronics, building materials and industrial-energy areas.

$72 MILLION PROFIT

Chrysler Makes Dramatic Comeback

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp., snapping an 18-month string of heavy losses, reported strong net earnings of $72 million for the first quarter of 1976. Financial analysts called it one of the most dramatic turnarounds in American business.

Chrysler, which accumulated record losses of $312 million in 1974 and 1975, said Wednesday its profits were the second highest ever for a January-April period.

The nation's third largest auto maker earned a first-quarter record $90 million in 1973.

During the first three months of 1976, Chrysler's U.S. car sales were up 34 per cent from the year before.

The firm's latest quarterly earnings, equal to $1.20 per share, were inflated by an extraordinary addition of $15 million due to a tax credit applied against prior losses.

Even so, analysts said they were impressed that Chrysler was able to stage a sharp earnings comeback after losing money for six consecutive periods dating back to the third quarter of 1974.

General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. release their earnings results later this month.

Chrysler, the hardest-hit victim of the auto industry's two-year recession, had a net loss of $94 million, or $1.38 per share, in the first quarter of 1975. It was the steepest loss for a single period in company history.

Quartet Heading For Trial Court

A Benton Harbor man was bound over to Circuit court yesterday on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and carrying a concealed weapon, both involving a sawed-off shotgun. Proceeding to Circuit court following a preliminary hearing in Berrien Fifth District court was Calvin Anderson, 46, of 110½ Sixth street.

Migrant Center Cut Confirmed

State Reps. Harry Gast and Ray Mittan Wednesday confirmed an announcement made three weeks ago by State Sen. Charles Zollar that a proposal to build a migrant service center in southwestern Michigan has been dropped.

The representatives said they had been informed by Gerald H. Miller, of the Michigan Department of Management and Budget, that the center was ineligible for federal funding and the state won't seek alternate funding "because of concerns expressed by citizens and local units of government."

Area legislators, farm organizations, Berrien and Van Buren boards of commissioners, and the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission were among opponents.

Quinlan Case Draws Comment

is allowed to start? Going to the Bible, one of the Ten Commandments clearly states, "Thou shalt not kill." In my book this also means the New Jersey Supreme Court, as well as anyone else.

Exodus 22:7, "Keep thee far from false matter: And the innocent and righteous say those not: For I will not justify the wicked." How can we expect the government to do the best for us when they break God's laws: God has established human governments to keep evil under control and encourage good. The only problem is the governments even oppose God.

Once we allow these people to end a human life you will see it again and again.

Many times doctors and some very highly-thought-of physicians have said "there's no hope for so-and-so," and yet, so-and-so recovered and it was called a miracle.

It is very plain to see that our so-called human race is not very human after all.

Now, how about the thought that it could be one of us in Karen Quinlan's situation? It isn't very funny when I think about it and I wouldn't want the court to say whether or not I can go on living.

Are the days of Hitler coming back, where the government will start killing us off because we are sick or disabled? Sometimes I wonder, and the thought makes me sick.

I definitely urge anyone concerned to speak up before this innocent woman is slaughtered by the people of the United States, for if we allow this to happen we are just as guilty as the New Jersey Supreme Court.

Anyone who cares should appeal to President Ford, the Supreme Court and whoever else would do some good before it's too late.

PISTOL POINTED Parked Trucker Faces Gun Count

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

An Illinois truck driver was arrested by state police of the Benton Harbor post late Wednesday after he allegedly pointed a pistol at a trooper. Troopers were searching a rest area on I-94 between Benton Harbor and Coloma after receiving a tip that two women were soliciting for prostitution at the rest area, the post reported.

Trooper Gregory Fouty said he was shining his flashlight into a truck cab about 11:30 p.m. when a man in the bunk of the cab pointed what appeared to be a pistol at him. Confiscated from the truck was a .38 caliber revolver, Fouty reported.

The man arrested was not connected with the reported soliciting, the post said. Fouty reported he was looking inside trucks believing the women may have hidden inside. No women were located, he said.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and carrying a concealed weapon was Ralph Gandy, 52, Justice, Ill.

Berrien sheriff's officers arrested a Lincoln Park, Mich., man Wednesday on charges of driving under the influence of liquor and carrying a concealed weapon.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Johnnie L. Brown, 42. Officers said his car was stopped about 6 p.m. on I-94 near the Pipestone road interchange. Confiscated was a .357 magnum revolver.

A second young man was arrested Wednesday by Benton Harbor police on a charge of unlawfully driving away an auto in connection with the alleged theft of a car owned by Joseph Mammima, 188 Windsor road, Fairplain, Monday.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Frank Gene Henry, 17, of 686 East Vineyard street, Benton Harbor. Gary Flakes, 18, of 325 East Empire avenue, Benton Harbor, demanded examination during his arraignment in Berrien Fifth District court Tuesday on a charge of unauthorized use of an auto in connection with the same incident. He was jailed in lieu of $3,500 bond.

A surveyor's level and tripod, valued at $600, and $3 or $4 in cash were reported stolen Wednesday from a Pearson Construction company storage shed at Benton Harbor high school, city police said.

Also reported stolen to city police Wednesday were two citizens' band radios from parked cars.

Robert Bearden, 587 Plummer court, Benton Harbor, said his $129 unit was taken from his car in a lot at the corner of Territorial road and Second street. Gwen Gelesko, 900 Wolcott avenue, St. Joseph, told police her $109 CB was taken while her car was in a lot in the 600 block of West Main street.

A theft reported Wednesday to Benton township police involved a tape player, two speakers and between six and eight recorded tapes, all valued at about $100. Ed James, 603 West Fourth street, Buchanan, told police the items were taken from his car parked in a lot in the 1600 block of M-139.

Fire Rips One House, Chars 2nd

Fire destroyed a vacant house and wind-spread flames damaged an occupied home next door Wednesday afternoon, Sodus township firemen reported.

Owner of the vacant home on Parkway, just off Pipestone road, was unidentified. Occupant of the other home was identified as Rev. Milton Davis, 2366 Parkway.

Firemen said cause of the original blaze was undetermined and is under investigation. A small storage shed behind Rev. Davis' home was also in the fire. Fire units from Benton and St. Joseph townships assisted in fighting the blazes, Sodus firemen said.

EXTRA-VALUE FEATURES...PRICE...FUEL ECONOMY...NEW OPTIONS...THEY MAKE COMET AN EVEN STRONGER COMPETITOR IN THE COMPACT MARKET

Comet's solid reputation as an extra-value leader reflects buyer interest in a car with high product content, reliability and overall economy of operation.

New standard equipment levels, new options and significant fuel economy gains give Comet even greater extra-value sales appeal in 1976.

The 6-Cylinder 200 CID Comet engine tops Dart and Ventura in 1976 EPA Mileage estimates.

COMET... A WELL-EQUIPPED LITTLE CAT.

Comet's long list of standard features is one good reason prospects choose the dependable little cat. In addition, 1976 Comet has added these extra-value features as standard equipment.

Manual front disc brakes, previously an extra-cost option, are now standard.

Weldun Tool Adding Three To Sales, Engineering Staff

BRIDGMAN — The Weldun Tool and Engineering corporation here has announced the addition of three men to the firm's sales and engineering staff. James Albright of Benton Harbor and John Gilman of Sawyer have joined the firm as project engineers and Edward Manuszak of St. Joseph has assumed duties as a sales engineer, according to John Kozel, vice president and director of sales.

As project engineers, Gilman and Albright will be responsible for planning and quoting work to be designed and built by Weldun. Kozel said. Weldun is a manufacturer of specially designed machines and test stands for a variety of applications.

Gilman comes to Weldun following eight years as a supervisor of engineering technicians at the Bondt corporation in St. Joseph. He and his wife, Shirley, have two children. Albright has served in engineering capacities with Auto Specialties in St. Joseph, with General Motors in Warren and most recently with Modern Plastics corporation in Benton Harbor. He and his wife, Gloria, have two children.

Manuszak, who spent seven years with the Cox Instrument division of the Lynch corporation as an industrial project manager, will be responsible for customer contracts and followups on orders at Weldun. He and his wife, Judith, have three children.

White's Reverse Bias Claim Rejected By Appeals Court

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal appeals court has upheld the dismissal by a Louisiana school board of a white high school football coach so he could be replaced by a black coach.

The board said it had to act as it did or risk contempt of court charges under a court-ordered school desegregation plan.

The case centers on Billy Joe Adeux of Shreveport, La., appointed head football coach at Southwood High School on March 20, 1974, by the Caddo Parish School Board. The board rescinded the appointment 12 days later, on April 1.

An attorney for Adeux said Wednesday he will seek Supreme Court review of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals' rejection of Adeux's claim of reverse racial discrimination.

In its decision Tuesday, the appeals court affirmed the ruling of U.S. District Court Judge Nauman S. Scott of Alexandria, La.

"It is clear that Adeux, a white, was denied and removed from his job as head coach at Southwood solely so that a black could be appointed in his place," said attorney Robert G. Pugh. "This is a classic example of racial discrimination."

Racial discrimination is unconstitutional in any form, Pugh said.

John R. Pleasant, a lawyer for the board, said the panel was working under a 1973 court order to establish a 50-50 white-black faculty ratio within three years. Therefore, he said, two head coach vacancies among the 10 high schools had to be filled with blacks and appointing Adeux violated the court order.

Scott had ruled on Nov. 18, 1974, that "absolutely no discrimination was involved" and granted the school board a summary judgment.

"It is clear and unequivocal that, had the board done otherwise, it would have subjected itself to penalties for contempt of court," Scott said.

Body Chemical Corrects Cancer

By RICHARD SALTUS
Associated Press Writer
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A chemical with the power to change cancer cells back to normal cells has been extracted from human urine and may explain why some cases of cancer cure themselves, a Baylor University researcher says.

If the naturally occurring substance can be made artificially, Dr. S.R. Burzynski said Wednesday, it could be valuable in cancer therapy because it does not seem to affect normal cells.

But the work is in its early stages and has not even been tested in animals, he said.

The abnormal, out-of-control growth of cancer cells is believed to be the result of an "error" in their genetic mechanism that controls development.

The substance, which Burzynski calls antineoplastin, apparently detects cells that are getting out of line and feeds them new information that returns them to normal. The substance is so named because it works against neoplasms, or abnormal growths.

The study carried out by Burzynski and associates at Baylor, the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute and New York Medical College was reported to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Burzynski said he studied 180 cases in which cancer disappeared for no apparent reason. This happens only in about one in 80,000 cases, he said, "or about four patients in the United States each year."

Ethics Review Asked

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Ethics Commission should review allegations that Public Service Commissioner William Ralls asked a utility executive to lobby against a committee proposal, the head of a special House committee said. Ralls denies the charge.

Rep. Howard Wolpe, D-Kalamazoo, said his committee asked Alpena Power Co. President Stephen H. Fletcher to answer questions about the allegations. "We will not let this matter drop," Wolpe said, adding that it will ultimately have to come before the ethics board.

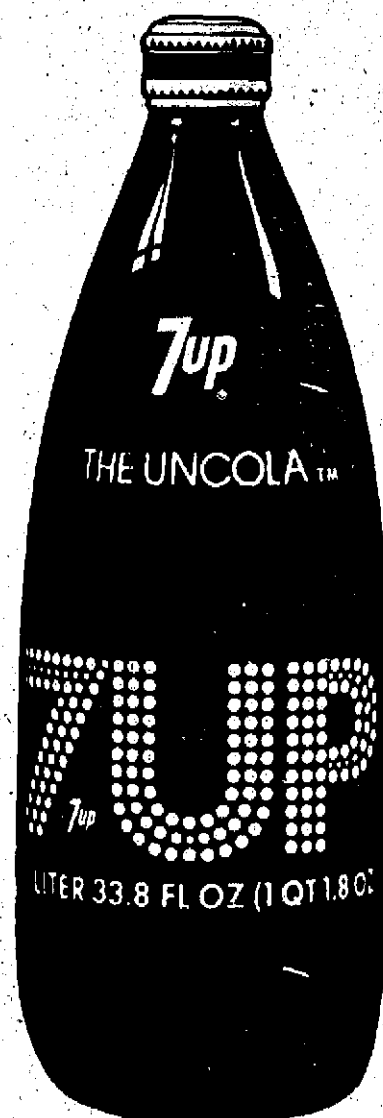

"I WANT TO GO ON SOME OF THE RIDES. HOW MUCH LONGER IS YOUR UNCLE GOING TO STAY IN THAT PLACE?"

Weldun Tool Adding Three To Sales, Engineering Staff

BRIDGMAN — The Weldun Tool and Engineering corporation here has announced the addition of three men to the firm's sales and engineering staff. James Albright of Benton Harbor and John Gilman of Sawyer have joined the firm as project engineers and Edward Manuszak of St. Joseph has assumed duties as a sales engineer, according to John Koziel, vice president and director of sales.

As project engineers, Gilman and Albright will be responsible for planning and quoting work to be designed and built by Weldun. Koziel said. Weldun is a manufacturer of specially designed machines and test stands for a variety of applications.

Gilman comes to Weldun following eight years as a supervisor of engineering technicians at the Bendix corporation in St. Joseph. He and his wife, Shirley, have two children. Albright has served in engineering capacities with Auto Specialties in St. Joseph, with General Motors in Warren and most recently with Modern Plastics corporation in Benton Harbor. He and his wife, Gloria, have two children.

Manuszak, who spent seven years with the Cox Instrument division of the Lynch corporation as an industrial project manager, will be responsible for customer contracts and followups on orders at Weldun. He and his wife, Judith, have three children.

White's Reverse Bias Claim Rejected By Appeals Court

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal appeals court has upheld the dismissal by a Louisiana school board of a white high school football coach so he could be replaced by a black coach.

The board said it had to act as it did or risk contempt of court charges under a court-ordered school desegregation plan.

The case centers on Billy Joe Adcox of Shreveport, La., appointed head football coach at Southwood High School on March 20, 1974, by the Caddo Parish School Board. The board rescinded the appointment 12 days later, on April 1.

An attorney for Adcox said Wednesday he will seek Supreme Court review of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals' rejection of Adcox's claim of reverse racial discrimination.

In its decision Tuesday, the appeals court affirmed the ruling of U.S. District Court Judge Nauman S. Scott of Alexandria, La.

"It is clear that Adcox, a white, was demoted and removed from his job as head coach at Southwood solely so that a black could be appointed in his place," said attorney Robert G. Pugh. "This is a classic example of racial discrimination."

Racial discrimination is unconstitutional in any form, Pugh said.

John R. Pleasant, a lawyer for the board, said the the panel was working under a 1973 court order to establish a 50-50 white-black faculty ratio within three years. Therefore, he said, two head coach vacancies among the 10 high schools had to be filled with blacks and appointing Adcox violated the court order.

Scott had ruled on Nov. 18, 1974, that "absolutely no discrimination was involved" and granted the school board a summary judgment.

"It is clear and unequivocal that, had the board done otherwise, it would have subjected itself to penalties for contempt of court," Scott said.

Body Chemical Corrects Cancer

By RICHARD SALTUS
Associated Press Writer

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A chemical with the power to change cancer cells back to normal cells has been extracted from human urine and may explain why some cases of cancer cure themselves, a Baylor University researcher says.

If the naturally occurring substance can be made artificially, Dr. S.R. Burzynski said Wednesday, it could be valuable in cancer therapy because it does not seem to affect normal cells.

But the work is in its early stages and has not even been tested in animals, he said.

The abnormal, out-of-control growth of cancer cells is believed to be the result of an "error" in their genetic mechanism that controls development.

The substance which Burzynski calls antineoplaston apparently detects cells that are getting out of line and feeds them new information that returns them to normal. The substance is so named because it works against neoplasms, or abnormal growths.

The study carried out by Burzynski and associates at Baylor, the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute and New York

Medical College was reported to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Burzynski said he studied 180 cases in which cancer disappeared for no apparent reason. This happens only in about one in 80,000 cases, he said, "or about four patients in the United States each year."

Ethics Review Asked

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Ethics Commission should review allegations that Public Service Commissioner William Ralls asked a utility executive to lobby against a committee proposal, the head of a special House committee said. Ralls denies the charge. Rep. Howard Wolpe, D-Kalamazoo, said his committee asked Alpena Power Co. President Stephen H. Fletcher to answer questions about the allegations. "We will not let this matter drop," Wolpe said, adding that it will ultimately have to come before the ethics board.
